Cheap at a Billion, Anger Flouts Death, Really Big Figures, Italy Knows.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LARGE TYPE tells you the new tariff will cost the United States one billion dollars a year. It will, probably. And undoubtedly that tariff contains many jobs, deals and mistakes.

BUT IF the tariff enables only five million American workmen to earn one dollar a day more than they would have earned without the tariff, that would pay the billion with a bonus fifty per cent, to say nothing added profit that would encourage business men to build industry and national prosperity.

ANY OF our emotions, according to Francis Bacon, make indifferent to death, anger others.

Fu Week, 62, and Eng 61, Chinese and cousins, with heavy meat cleavers. When the police arrived both had fractured skulls and gashes on heads and bodies, yet the police were compelled to separate them by force. One will die surely, the other probably, and it was all about a blanket.

IF BIG figures fascinate you, read about an extraordinary bridge game, thoroughly authenticated, in which the man of Glastonbury, England, held a hand which partner had 13 cards, of the same suit.

The man with 13 spades made a big slam.

Mathematicians say the chances against such an occurrence are two thousand, two hundred and thirty-five million to one.

The British trillion, is a million multiplied by a million multiplied by a million.

With us it is only a million multiplied by a thousand multiplied by a thousand.

THE NAVAL conference delegates are safe at home. Submarines were not outlawed although there was pleasant talk about "humanizing" them.

Italy will build 22 more submarines, and three more powerful cruisers with no humanizing talk.

Mussolini appreciates the beauty of peace talk and also appreciates the importance of national safety.

Twenty-two submarines will create more respect for Italy than twenty million speeches on international peace could create.

JACK BARSTOW establishes a record in air gliding, remaining up more than 15 hours in a plane with no engine. The record isn't official, but the Germans will start in to beat it. Their record is 14 hours and 45 minutes.

Meanwhile, Maj. T. C. Macauley, of San Diego, sends news that Barstow will immediately try for a longer record.

NEWS FROM INDIA reminds the British of Bacon's warning that nations with great possessions far away, are always in danger.

Gandhi's second son of Gandhi is imprisoned "rigorously" for one year.

M. K. GANDHI saved the lives of four goats and three hens about to have their throats cut in sacrifices to one of many Hindu goddesses. She persuaded her husband's followers that it is not necessary to shed the blood of hens or goats to drive out the hated British. At the critical moment a "professional witch" said the goddess had told her that she did not want any more sacrifices.

WALL STREET felt better yesterday, some prices up, some bears "hurrying to cover."

Nevertheless, the wise will not gamble. Some prices will go down and some bears will "come out of cover" and make foolish lambs wish they had kept their money.

Invest, buy to keep securities that are sound, bringing in a good return and that you can pay for. But don't gamble.

CONGRESSMAN WAINWRIGHT, of Rye, N. Y., earnest "dry," will not run again.

Anti-drys boast that he "declines to run because he couldn't be elected, although he has been in Congress for eight years.

Politicians think they see in this proof that the wet-dry situation has changed politically.

A LADY of the East, wife of a very prosperous owner of inherited money, has bought property in Nevada, convenient to Reno.

Her lawyer declines to discuss for Mr Cyrus H. K. Curtis' paper a report that the lady is to have the New York town house and an allowance of $1,000,000 a year.

That allowance would establish a new record, many men in the United States could afford it, and some unfortunately, would spend it.

QUIET REIGNS UNDER GUNS IN PRISON

'Hard Boiled' Leaders Herded Into Open-Air Stockade; Wrecked Cells Repaired

By AL GOUGH.
Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., May 1.—Peace, with the calm of a Sunday school, had descended this May Day upon the Ohio State Penitentiary. Strict discipline prevailed under the mailed fist of 1,000 military.

Two ragged pieces of cloth, flapping from a window in the White City cell block facing the street, are the only visible signs of convict defiance in the garrisoned prison.

The signs, crudely fashioned by the rebellious prisoners in their last futile stand against the armed forces of Ohio's National Guard and Naval Reserve, hang limply against the barred window of the antiquated prison, where 1,300 insurgents held sway for more than a week following the fatal penitentiary fire in which 320 men lost their lives. One attacks Warden P. E. Thomas as a "murderer;" the other, containing a rough drawing of a pig, is a protest against the food served.

STOCKADE GUARDED

Most of the "hard" men, leaders in the revolt which balked the efforts of civilian guards and city police, who finally were removed under a proclamation of martial law by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, have been placed in a stockade, around which helmeted guardsmen patrol with rifles and machine guns bristling from the walls and nearby buildings.

They were herded into the tented enclosure late yesterday after a final display of defiance

MALONE ON AIR FOR PINCHOT

Former President of Council James F. Malone will make his first speech in support of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot in a broadcast at 6:15 p. m. today over KDKA, according to Ralph H. Smith, chairman of Pinchot's committee for meetings and speakers.

Dr. D. A. Atkinson, burgess of West View, has protested against the use of his name as a member of the Davis-Brown executive committee, according to a copy of Dr. Atkinson's letter submitted today to Frank I. Gollmar, Allegheny County chaiman of Pinchot's campaign.

HOOVER PUTS NAVAL PACT IN SENATE

President Surprises Capital By Failing to Strongly Urge Its Ratificatoin

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Deciding against any delay whatever, President Hoover tossed the London Naval Treaty into the Senate today within 24 hours after he received it from Secretary of State Stimson.

The President surprised the Senate by accompanying the treaty with only the briefest and most formal of covering letters. It had been expected, in view of anticipated opposition to some portions of the treaty, that Mr. Hoover would transmit the document with a strong message or letter urging its immediate ratification.

But Mr. Hoover's covering letter amounted to less than 100 words and he did not even urge speed in its Senatorial endorsement.

His letter said:

"To the Senate:

"I transmit herewith a treaty for the limitation and reduction of naval armament, signed at London on April 22, 1930, by the plenipotentiaries of the President of the United States of America, the President of the French Republic, His Majesty, the King of Great Britain, Ireland, and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, Emperor of India; His Majesty, the King of Italy, and His Majesty, the Emperor of Japan, to the ratification of which I ask the advice and consent of the Senate."

Old heads about the capital could not remember when a treaty of such magnitude was submitted with such a brief and stereotyped covering letter from the White House.

Lindy Lands With Mail in Nicaragua

PORTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, May 1.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh set his inaugural seven-day Buenos Aires-New York air mail plane down on the landing field here to complete his flying from Cristobal at 12 noon, Eastern Standard Time.

He left Cristobal at 7:58 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, flying the 395 miles in four hours and two minutes.

He carried 201 pounds of Montevideo-New York air mail.

Lindbergh will remain over night at Porto Cabezas, a new station on the air mail route between Miami and Cristobal, and will depart from there tomorrow for Havana and Miami.

He plans to deliver the mail to a regular New York mail plane in Miami.

BLUE LAW MAIL POLL BEGINS

The Blue Law poll of registered voters of Pittsburgh, conducted by the Sun-Telegraph, opened today with the initial distribution of postcard ballots through the mail.

Approximately 7,500 ballots, consigned to the voters of districts in six city wards, go into the mails, seeking the sentiment of the city's electors regarding the ancient laws of Pennsylvania, prescribing Sunday observance.

Ballots will be mailed daily as the canvass is extended to all the wards of the city. A corps of clerks is now busily engaged in addressing the cards to voters who are eligible to take part in the approaching primary election. The street lists compiled by the

MAY DAY RALLY HERE ORDERLY

May Day celebrations were orderly, if loud, in the city and county.

In East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek, 100 Westinghouse workers, on lunch hour, saw and heard Pat Cush, the Communist, speaking near their gates. Turtle Creek's police chief, W. J. Whalen, and his aides listened and laughed as Pat described police in America's industrial towns as "ignorant, vicious and brutal."

NORTH SIDE RALLY

On the North Side, Communists, granted a 90-minute permit by Public Safety Director James M. Clark, gathered without disorder under the eyes of police.

The meeting lasted only 45 minutes, but in that time an audience of 800 heard a half-dozen speakers, including Charles Guyn, secretary of the National Miners' Union; Max Salzman, Pittsburgh Communist leader, and

FRENCH FACES BRAVES

Home after a grueling four-game series with the champion Cubs in Chicago, the league-leading Pirates will open a three-game series with the Boston Braves at Forbes Field this afternoon.

The Braves will use Harry Seibold against the Pirates, saving Burleigh Grimes for later in the series.

Manager Jewel Ens, of the Bucs, will counter with his young southpaw ace, the capable Larry French. French has turned in some fine baseball so far this spring, his chief feat being a two-hit game pitched against Cincinnati.

Chicago beat the Pirates in the series finale yesterday, 5 to 2, getting an even break in the four games played.

BULLETIN.

Philadelphia, May 1.—(AP)—Director of Public Safety Schofield was taken to Moyanensing Prison this afternoon by two constables, but before he could be committed, a writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Davis the director returned to city to appear before the Court of Quarter Sessions. Schofield had made no move to obtain HILADELPHIA, May 1. (A.P.)—Lemuel B. Schofield, director of the Department of Public Safety, arrested on charge of obstructing justice while in command of police men trying to quell disorders among University of Pennsylvania students, today was released in $6,000 bail by Police Magistrate John J. O'Malley.

The head of the police department was held in $1,000 bail on the obstruction charge and in $5,000 bond on a charge of resisting arrest.

AS CORPUS SOUGHT

The magistrate ordered him committed to the county prison if bail were not furnished. The director immediately instructed counsel to apply for a writ of habeas corpus for his release.

One hundred and fifty-six of the students, ordered to appear for hearing, were discharged today after university officials agreed to pay for any damage to shops or other buildings, together upwards of 300 students arrested.

Arrangements are to be made for what is called the university fund," maintained to indemnify students cause damage during celebrations.

CATION LACKING

Farrier, called as a witness, was able to identify any student with him with acts of disorder.

The disorders among several hundred students began late last night after they were returning to the campus from hanging the effigies of two unpopular professors. There are a number of versions how the rumpus, known among Pennsylvania students as "rowbottom," started. However, when disorder spread and police reserves were summoned and Director Schofield also came on the scene.

It is alleged by students that they broke into fraternity houses and did property damage in the fleeing students. It is charged the police entered the dormitories after they had been assailed with bottoms from windows. Before the row was over several hundred students were under arrest, but most of them were released, while others were held for hearing.

USED COPIES

When Director Schofield refused to permit police to issue copies of the charge against certain students and release them, the director was arrested by a policeman on a charge of obstructing justice. It is a violation of a city law to refuse to issue copies of charges in certain cases.

The director was held in bail by Magistrate O'Malley for a further hearing today, but the director refused to recognize the proceedings as illegal because he was not

When the director finally did appear he was accompanied by S. Farrier, an assistant city director. Also present was Michael Calby, a candidate for the state legislature, who made the charge against the director.

Farrier testified before O'Malley that he had gone to the police station to obtain the release of a student and was refused a copy of the charge as were others who made similar requests. Frequent objections were made by Schofield's counsel to the proceedings, which the magistrate overruled all

TAXI STRIKERS' CASE DELAYED

Judge James R. Macfarlane today postponed until next Wednesday the hearing of 14 members of the taxi strikers' relief committee and 34 individual strikers charged with violating a court injunction prohibiting the operation of a union cab service by the drivers.

The defendants are accused of having continued operating their own cabs despite an injunction issued on the grounds that they had not obtained a certificate of public convenience from the Public Service Commission.

The Highland Taxicab Company's hearing on approval of its charter and granting of a certificate of convenience has been indefinitely continued by the Public Service Commission.

The application has been formally protested by the Yellow and Green Cab Companies, the Pittsburgh Railways Company, Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, and the Peoples Taxicab Company, also in process of formation.

Joseph Lonero, 30, of 7424 Duquesne avenue, Swissvale, Yellow Cab driver, admitted in East End Police Court today that he had leaped from his car and attacked Gilbert Seibel, 20, of 6946 Churchland street, at Penn and Shady avenues after the latter had called him a "scab." He was fined $25. Seibel was discharged.

recognize it and refused to be arrested. Millburn further said the director kept him waiting more than an hour.

"Was not the director busy suppressing a riot?" asked Farrier.

"No, he was sitting in a chair and doing nothing," replied Millburn.

Magistrate O'Malley then held Schofield in $5,000 on the second charge.

"The people of Philadelphia are sick and tired of you," the magistrate said to Schofield, "and I'm going to treat you as you have treated other people."

Col. Henry W. Anderson and a fourth member, of whose name I am not quite sure, and therefore do not want to state it for the record."

Last week a letter written by Stayton, in which he said that members of Congress and persons close to the White House had told him the President's attitude on prohibition had changed was read in the committee record, and it was about this letter that he was questioned today.

When he had mentioned the four members of the law enforcement commission, Senator Caraway, (Dem.), Arkansas, chairman of the lobby committee, asked:

SUBSTITUTE SOUGHT

"What did they say to you?"

Stayton replied:

"This was about a month ago and the committee asked me to appear. They questioned me along the line of what law might be substituted for the present prohibition law. They told me they were trying to work out some other plan for the distribution of liquor other than under the present law."

"Will they submit another plan to President Hoover?"

"I do not know, but they said they were trying to work out a new plan."

HOOVER'S ATTITUDE

"Then from that you think that President Hoover has changed his mind about prohibition enforcement?"

"The President only said that he considered prohibition an experiment."

LEADERS URGE 'LAW HOLIDAY'

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—A bank president and the head of a railroad today described the nation's tax situation before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as a "combination of many muddles," and recommended a "legislative holiday" and "exalted economy" as the solutions.

Meanwhile, a committee struggled in executive session with a resolution that would chart the course of business and the Chamber in regard to the Federal Farm Board. A discussion of the subject yesterday precipitated a fiery four-hour debate.

Felix M. McWhirter, Indianapolis banker, addressing the Chamber, said taxes levied by the United States and its branches were "inequitable, too high, too numerous and too complicated."

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, urged abandonment of the practice that he said each year saw "48 states and the federal government making new regulations, creating new crimes by statute, and adding more burdens on the back of the already oppressed American taxpayer."

Hunt Trio in Car Who Beat Trooper

JONESVILLE, Mich., May 1.—(INS.)—Three men in a stolen sedan who slugged Trooper Harry Nelson, of the Jonesville State Police post, when he attempted to question them, are being hunted today by state and county officers.

Nelson is in the hospital with a brain concussion. Three blows from a hammer felled him. After knocking him down, the men continued beating him.

Priest, Wounded By Servant, Dies

TERNI, Italy, May 1.—(AP.)—Don Salvatore Colella, a priest, died today of wounds inflicted by a sacristan, Benedetto Moscatelli, when, Moscatelli alleged, he refused him an increase in salary or a recommendation for another position. The assailant fled to Rome, surrendering to police upon his arrival there.

GANDHI TO LEAD 100,000 ON BOMBAY

Offer Follows British Plan To Jail Leader; Disorders Forecast by Officials

BOMBAY, May 1.—(INS.)—A call for 100,000 volunteers to aid him in his campaign of salt law violation was issued by Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, today.

From his headquarters at Dandi, near here, the aged proponent of Indian home rule offered to lead his campaign into the heart of Bombay City if 100,000 faithful, pledged to refrain from violence, would follow him.

Gandhi Arrest Planned By British Government

LONDON, May 1.—(INS.)—British control in India was expected to face its most serious trial in recent years with the forecast today by London papers of the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi as the result of the British government's decision yesterday to support the Indian government against Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign.

Gandhi's influence with India's millions has brought about a most dangerous situation in the eyes of the British Indian authorities, and the cabinet was convinced that his arrest is inevitable. It apparently remains only for the Indian officials to act.

ORDER WOMEN TO SAFETY

Dispatches from Bombay said that in view of the seriousness of the new situation, Sir Stanley Jackson, governor of Bengal, had postponed his leave and would remain in Darjeeling.

All white women and children in the Punjab and United provinces and in the Northwestern frontier province have been warned to be ready to evacuate their homes and gain the shelter of garrisons in event of new disorders, which would seem inevitable with the arrest of Gandhi.

EXPECT MORE TROUBLE

Intensified pursuance of the campaign of violence lately followed by adherents of Gandhi undoubtedly will follow his arrest, official circles felt, and the Indian government is making every effort to meet each line of possible resistance.

The Garswal native rifles were removed from the disturbed section of Peshawar because of their refusal to fire on the rioting mobs in that city during the recent outbreaks, delayed dispatches to the Daily Telegraph said. Unconfirmed reports said there was disaffection among Sikh batta"-ns.

HOOVER DENIES MORROW AID

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(INS.)—Denial was made at the White House today that President Hoover or his administration is "mixing in" with the Republican political situation in New Jersey, where Dwight W. Morrow and ex-Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen are about to engage in a primary fight for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Ambassador Morrow had a long conference with President Hoover last night, but it was denied at the White House this morning that the New Jersey political situation had been discussed at all. Their conference, it was stated, had to do entirely with the London naval conference and the treaty.

Whether Ambassador Morrow is to resign his post at Mexico City immediately and accept appointment to the Senate at the hands of Gov. Larson, of New Jersey, preparatory to standing for re-election this fall, apparently was still undecided this morning.

EAST PITTSBURGH ARRESTS

Five North Side policemen and Inspector Charles Faulkner attended the meeting.

Three men who are alleged to have been posting May Day Communist literature were arrested last night by East Pittsburgh police and are scheduled for a hearing tonight before Burgess James Beech. They are Tony Csetnich, 19, of 309 Linwood avenue, Chalfont; Anthony Janus, 32, of 106 Fairview avenue, Chalfont, and Joseph Juragogic, 23, of 130 Prospect avenue, Turtle Creek. The three were arrested by Patrolman Samuel Whitman.

Veterans and Reds Hold Rival New York Rallies

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—May Day demonstrations got under way today with police vigilant for any signs of impending clashes between Communists and military veterans, but with no early indications that serious trouble would actually develop.

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, estimated by police at 10,000, gathered before noon at Madison Square and marched down to Union Square, the scheduled afternoon meeting place of other thousands of Communists.

Police Commissioner Whalen was in personal command of police. He said the large force at the square and patrols placed before public buildings and homes of prominent persons were purely precautionary measures.

Only Minor Clashes Mark May Day Throughout World

Associated Press.

Early May Day demonstrations, traditionally the occasions for radical organizations to let off steam, were held peacefully in most places throughout the world. Minor clashes occurred here and there.

In Paris, police quickly suppressed three demonstrations, one in the city and three in the suburbs and arrested 223 persons on various charges. About 30,000 workers in the main industries were on strike and no taxicabs were operating.

The day was quiet in London. Unemployment marchers from Wales and Lancashire joined the usual May Day turnout on the embankment.

Several Communists were arrested and a number injured in Liege, Belgium, after between 300 and 400 of them started marching toward a prison with the supposed intention of freeing one of their friends.

In Moscow, the seat of Communism, it was a big day. The workers were on holiday, and parades and speeches were numerous in all parts of the Soviet Union. A Communist demonstration at Warsaw, Poland, was halted without difficulty, but Socialists were permitted to hold meetings and processions.

Two policemen were injured in a riot near Tokio. Police later arrested 200 known radicals for the day.

In Mexico City, Communists were forbidden to demonstrate and a nation-wide edict against liquor sales and pistol toting was put into effect.

SECRET CANVASS

Emphasis is placed upon the secrecy of the canvass, so that a fair and impartial verdict may be obtained without any possibility of the identity of the voters in the poll being disclosed. All ballots, the half of the double postcard to be mailed by the voter to the Sun-Telegraph are identical, with the exception of the designation of the city ward into which the card is mailed.

Three questions are presented to the voter by the ballot, designed to register the divergent views on the Blue Laws. The voter is cautioned to vote on only one question. The questions are:

QUESTIONS ON BALLOTS

1—I favor continuance of the Pennsylvania Blue Laws in their present form.

2—I favor modification of the Pennsylvania Blue Laws, which would permit strictly amateur sports and amusements on Sunday afternoon, but which would prohibit commercialization.

3—I favor repeal of the Pennsylvania Blue Laws, and the legalizing of symphony orchestra, other musical entertainments and professional sports, together with the opening of theaters and outdoor amusement parks, on Sunday afternoons and evenings.

Swain Posing as War Flier Lands in Police Court

A frustrated elopement of Grace Dietrich, 22, telephone operator, of 107 Oak street, Overbrook, and Edwin Buck, 42, real estate dealer, of Conneaut, Pa., alleged to have posed as "Eddie Rickenbacker," World War flying ace, was aired in Central Police Court today.

Miss Dietrich and Buck were in his automobile late yesterday, about to start for Columbus, O., to be married, according to testimony, when the young woman's mother, Mrs. Alice Dietrich, arrived. At her request police arrested Buck at Penn avenue and Stanwix street.

Miss Dietrich testified that her romance with Buck dated from March when he "picked up" her and a girl friend in his automobile.

She testified:

"He told me his real name was Eddie Rickenbacker, but he wanted me to keep it a secret because if it became known it would cause him annoyance. He was sick and tired of publicity and being lionized, he said."

Buck called Miss Dietrich by telephone yesterday, from Meadville and Butler, Pa., reversing charges, Miss Dietrich said, and told her to get ready for the trip to Columbus. A friend notified her mother.

Buck admitted he had been married 17 years. He admitted telling the young woman:

"I might be Eddie Rickenbacker."

He was held over for further investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

Mother Jones, Union Labor Champion, 100 Years Old

SILVER SPRINGS, Md., May 1.—(AP.)—Mother Jones, life-long fighter in the cause of labor, today is celebrating her one-hundredth birthday.

She has reached the century mark in surroundings sharply contrasted with the turbulent life she has lived. At the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess, where even a telephone call cannot reach her, the dauntless white-haired old woman now stays. Weeks ago she planned to hold her last levee and reception there.

Letters and telegrams have been pouring in on her for days from all parts of the country.

When Mrs. Burgess tried to prevail on Mother Jones to remain in Washington last winter, believing she would be more comfortable than in an isolated farm house, the little old woman said firmly:

"Dammit, if you go off and leave me I'll take a taxi and follow you."

Mary Jones, as she was christened, was born in Canada. She first came into prominence in the anthracite coal strike of 1900 and 1902. She helped organize marches of miners to collieries for the purpose of closing them down. She feared neither deputies nor militia. Her denunciation of capitalists who opposed union labor was scathing in the extreme.

Tragedy swept over her when she lost her husband and four children by yellow fever. Then she took to organizing women's auxiliaries to labor unions and wherever industrial tr ing involving wom Mother Jo which was met with immediate war-like preparation from the militia. Reinforcements were rushed into the prison yard where two companies of riflemen formed lanes down which the convicts were compelled to march in formation while soldiers searched them for weapons.

DEFIANCE OVERCOME

When Col. Robert Haubrich commanding the troops under Adj. Gen. A. W. Reynolds, served notice on the rebellant convicts that any resistance would be met with tear-gas and fire, they came out peaceably. Nearly 800 were marched to the stockade, about 400 others were quartered in an old warehouse recently converted into a dormitory. Forty-two tubercular prisoners, who formerly occupied cells in the White City range, were removed to the prison chapel.

Work was begun this morning on repairs to the White City cell block, wrecked in the rioting. Cell locks, jammed with match stems, bits of metal, paper and tobacco, must be gone over one by one. Windows on both sides of the cell house, window frames torn out and battered out and cell doors stripped from their hangings must be replaced. Holes cut in the roof for fire hose lines when it was thought it might be necessary to "drown them out" must be covered up. It is estimated that about a week's work at least remains to be done before the cell block is ready for occupancy.

TUNNEL STARTED

Inspection of the cell blocks today revealed that in the basement of the "White City" cell block an attempt had been made to dig a tunnel toward the street that faces the prison.

Sledge hammers, saws, bars and pieces of lead pipe were also found. A pile of lock pins, taken from the locks on the cell doors, was discovered.

A hole had been cut through a wall toward a ventilator—apparently another scheme to escape.

Haubrich took precautions today for any possible "May Day" demonstration. A telegram had been received at National Guard headquarters from Cleveland signed "The Committee," bearing this terse message:

"On to Columbus!"

NEW PRISON URGED

Abandonment of the ancient penitentiary here and development of the London Prison Farm were urged upon Gov. Cooper today as the Attorney General's report of the probe into the fire was ready to be handed over. Fifteen citizens, headed by State Senator C. Rea and Representative L. Bostwick, comprising a delegation from Madison County, called on the Governor yesterday to urge adoption of the plan.

The penitentiary, first built in 1816, has been added to since, but the buildings and equipment are, for the most part, out of date and ineffectual, the delegation pointed out, whereas the London Prison Farm site comprises 2,200 acres and adjoining acreage is available. Spokesmen urged:

"Tear down the fire trap and come to London."

MARCONI PHONE SETS RECORD

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS.)—Signor Marconi, "father of radio," who caused astonishment 20 years ago by sending a radio message from Ireland to Newfoundland, made the world sit up and take notice again today. From his yacht Electra, moored 34 miles from Rome, Marconi last night made the longest shore-to-shore radio call on record, speaking to New York over a distance of 4,500 miles.

He used a radio-phone of his own making.

M. H. Aylesworth, of the National Broadcasting Company, and David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, both conversed with the Italian inventor and said his voice was heard with singular clarity.

Marconi advised he is building a short-wave transmitter whereby the voice of Pope Pius XI may be heard around the world.

PEN PAY BOOST CHICAGO AIM

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP.)—With prevention of a disaster such as the Columbus prison fire as its avowed purpose, a City Council committee today opened an investigation of conditions in the Bridewell, the city's house of correction, in which 2,000 prisoners are confined.

Characterized by several aldermen as a firetrap, part of the prison was built in 1871 of wood and has already been condemned by the Fire Prevention Bureau. Two days ago a blaze in the carpenter shop, detached from the prison, caused momentary unrest among the inmates.

To relieve congestion in the Bridewell, a proposal was made to the Council to credit prisoners serving out fines with $3 a day instead of the present 50-cent rate.

Judge Asserts Divorce Right, Not Luxury

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—(AP.)—Judge William M. Lewis, sitting in the Domestic Relations Court, declared that divorce was "a right and not a luxury for those feeling that they have a just cause."

The judge made this statement when Mrs. Erma Walkley, 43, asserted that her husband, Charles Walkley, 46, who was before the court for being $100 in arrears on a $15 a week support order, was retaining $5 a week from the order to live up for a [illegible]e. Judge said:

[illegible]ladelphia are open to any one feeling that he has a just cause for divorce. Because he is of limited means, he should not be barred from such action. Therefore, he is not to be accused of indulging in a luxury if he is saving for a divorce."

Walkley asked for a reduction in the order of $15 a week, stating that his wages had been reduced. Judge Lewis reduced the order to $12.50 and ordered Walkley to pay $60 on his arrears and the remainder "as soon as possible."

'Hired Girls' on Warpath, List Many Grievances

DETROIT, May 1.—(AP.)—Housewives all over the country, take warning—the hired girl is on the warpath.

Gathered at the industrial group conference of the National Y. W. C. A. convention here, those quiet girls who are known as "the maid," the "hired girl," or just plain "Annie," came out from behind the anonymity of their uniforms and drew up an indictment of mistresses all over the land.

No longer is the term "maid" acceptable, they say. In its place has come "domestic employe," or "Miss Brown," or "Miss Jones," whatever the case may be. And mistresses who have their employes' welfare at heart will act accordingly.

Their grievances, the girls say, are these:

They can't get anywhere with the stigma of "hired girl" attached to them forever. "Maid" isn't a whole lot better, and is at the very bottom of the social scale.

They don't like uniforms because it puts them so far apart from people who employ them.

They hate eating alone, as eating should be a kind of social affair, pleasant and jolly.

They haven't any place to entertain the boy friends.

They haven't any assurance that they can have their regular Thursday evening off.

Above all, they don't like having to use the back door.

WOMEN VOTERS PAY TRIBUTE TO LEADERS

Pittsburgh Woman on Honor Roll Announced At Louisville, Ky., Meeting

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—(AP.)—The woman labor leader and the millionaire's wife were sisters sharing homage today when the National League of Women Voters announced the 69 illustrious names of its national roll of honor.

A women's hall of fame for the full sweep of the suffrage movement, it honored almost equally the living and the dead, in the tenth anniversary celebration of the victory of the "the cause."

They called it "a memorial hour," but 20 of those honored were present to hear the hand-clapping when their names were read in "the roll call of the states."

They were present to applaud from personal knowledge, the names of those who once marched shoulder to shoulder with them in suffrage parades.

HONOR BRINGS FUND

To every one of them the honor meant, not "singling out" by some far-off national jury, but a spontaneous expression of the appreciation of the community in which she served. With each "nomination" to the honor roll went at least $1,000 for the foundation fund which is being established to carry along the work they pioneered. That fund now totals about $75,000.

One notable absence was that of Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, member of the Ohio Public Welfare Board. She was too busily concerned with the recent Columbus (O.) prison fire to keep her Louisville "date" to be lauded.

An honor roll poster displaying photographs of the 69 was brought from Washington headquarters to the convention hall.

Thus was the suffrage story told—in 69 personality chapters—women educators, preachers, journalists. Echoes of a tempestuous past sounded again through the convention hall.

THE HONOR ROLL

CALIFORNIA—Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, Los Angeles; Mrs. Caroline M. Severance (deceased); Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, Los Angeles; Mrs. Elmira T. Stephens (deceased); Mrs. Charlotte Lemoyne Wills (deceased).

COLORADO—Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker (deceased).

SUN-TELEGRAPH

The recent tragic death of a leading actress, beautiful victim of drastic reducing methods, has pointed public attention to the grave danger of unwise attempts to reduce weight.

To obtain a safe and sane diet, the Sun-Telegraph consulted the New York Academy of Medicine.

A specialist in metabolism, and consulting physician for the academy, Dr. A. I. Ringer, has prepared a series of daily diets for the Hearst newspapers, which is now available to Sun-Telegraph readers.

Lose-a Pound-a-Week!

These diets appear in the Sun-Telegraph every day. If faithfully followed, Dr. Ringer says, they will reduce weight at the rate of one pound a week. Containing all the necessary body-building foods, they do not endanger the health.

If you are over-weight, and want to reduce sanely and sensibly, follow the Sun-Telegraph reducing diets.

SUN-TELEGRAPH

EVERY DAY

MAYOR LAUDS DAVIS-BROWN

Support for the ticket headed by James J. Davis for United States Senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor, was urged by Mayor Charles H. Kline in a broadcast last night over station KDKA.

Former Councilman P. J. McArdle also delivered a radio address in behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket over station WJAS. Benjamin Leucher, former assistant district attorney, will speak for Davis and Brown and their running mates at 8:45 tonight over station WJAS.

LAUDS HUMANITARIANISM

Mayor Kline declared Davis was a man who devoted most of his life to humanitarianism and philanthropic work. He said:

"He has placed the welfare of human being above the question of property rights. Mr. Davis has worked on the theory that the great task of this republic is to produce real men and women.

"The great problem of today in America is to provide a job for every worker, and to provide that job at wages that will permit the care of dependents on the high standard of American living which we pride ourselves to be superior to any in the world.

"In whose hands can the solution of this problem be safer than in those of a man like James J. Davis, who has had from early youth the opportunity to encounter the problems of our toiling millions by actual contact because he was one of them himself?"

CITES BROWN'S RECORD

Mayor Kline declared Brown made an enviable record as a former attorney general of Pennsylvania.

"During that tenure of office he was the author of many pieces of legislation to advance the welfare of a large mass of our people, most notably the Workmen's Compensation Act and laws for the protection of women and children," the Mayor stated.

"He administered the affairs of the commonwealth which came to his desk in a manner that inspired confidence and gave promise of greater and better service with increased responsibilities."

Referring to Gen. E. C. (One-Yard") Shannon, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Davis-Brown ticket, the Mayor said:

"We have a soldier, who, during the critical days of the World War, by talents of leadership and bravery under fire, wrote his deeds in golden letters so that his name will forever remain in the history of Pennsylvania."

GRUNDY TALKS AT WARREN

Senator Joseph R. Grundy is scheduled to continue his campaign in Warren today, returning to Pittsburgh for the night. He is expected to address a meeting in New Kensington tomorrow, and speak at the League of Women Voters' dinner in McCreery's dining room tomorrow night, according to State Senator James J. Coyne, Allegheny County campaign chairman.

Attorney Manuel Kraus will deliver a speech in behalf of Grundy's candidacy at 8:30 tonight over station WJAS.

In his Warren address, Grundy declared that the co-operative movement for the promotion of agriculture was organized in Pennsylvania and has grown today when the nation has the agricultural marketing act administered by the Federal Farm Board, at whose disposal the government has placed $500,000,000.

"I invite those who think of Pennsylvania only as an industrial state to weigh the significance of the agricultural statistics, for I assert on the authority of the figures that if black magic between suns deprived us of our factories and mines, Pennsylvania still would be one of the outstanding states in the Union," Grundy declared.

Grundy's election was urged in a broadcast last night over WCAE by Attorney O. H. Friedman, and by Nick Phelan, former battalion chief of the fire bureau, at a meeting of the Twenty-third Ward Republican organization in Schultz Hall, Chestnut street and Spring Garden avenue.

Friedman said in part:

"The recent activities of Senator Grundy under the merciless spotlight of publicity have served to emphasize his great genius, his enormous interest in public affairs, his humanitarianism, his frankness and honesty and his invaluable candor and sincerity."

Phelan said that Grundy was the kind of a man the people of this state want for a senator; one who would never be found wanting when a strong man was needed to stand up in defense of the state for the passage of legislation that affected the welfare of the citizens.

Davis-Brown Attack By Grundy Scored

Bernard Myers, state chairman of the Davis-Brown campaign committee, in a radio address from Philadelphia last night, called upon the voters of the state to read a newspaper advertisement inserted by Senator Joseph R. Grundy. In the advertisement "you will see the real Grundy," he said.

The advertisement, attacking Councilman Charles Hall, of Philadelphia, a supporter of Davis and Brown, was denounced by Myers as a villification. Reports from all sections of the state, he declared, show that the Grundy statement was a boomerang and that several county leaders were ready to repudiate him for making it.

chot committee, sent the original of the letter to Joseph G. Armstrong, Allegheny County chairman of the Davis-Brown ticket, Gollmar declared.

PINCHOT DUE TOMORROW

Pinchot is expected to arrive here tomorrow to begin a four-day visit, and to augment the radio campaign with a broadcast at 11 a. m. over KDKA. He is booked to speak at the League of Women Voters' dinner to candidates at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in McCreery's dining room. He is scheduled to address meetings today in Somerset, Uniontown, Connellsville and Greensburg.

Pinchot will confer here tomorrow with local campaign managers in Magee Building headquarters, and greet friends and members of the speakers committee in his William Penn Hotel suite. The headquarters conferences will be attended by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, Gollmar, Allegheny County campaign chairman, Malone and Smith.

RECEPTIONS SATURDAY

Saturday Pinchot will hold headquarters' receptions, broadcast at 6:30 p. m. over KDKA and address a mass meeting in Tarentum High School at 8:15, eastern standard time.

Pinchot will rest Sunday, and on Monday will speak at a noon meeting in Kittanning, make his final radio address at 6:30 p. m. over KDKA and close his visit with a mass meeting at 8 p. m. in Horner School, Wilkinsburg. He will leave Pittsburgh early Tuesday morning.

VETS' BILL COST SET BY HINES

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—Director Hines, of the Veterans Bureau, today estimated the minimum yearly cost of the veterans bill, recently passed by the house at $181,040,650.

Hines, testifying before a Senate subcommittee which took up the measure, said the maximum yearly cost would be $404,7599,989.

Senator George (Dem.), of Georgia, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, recently demanded on the floor that the legislation be speeded through. The subcommittee heard Hines urge "study of all angles of additional provisions for veterans."

Muscle Shoals Lease Bill Wins Approval

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—The House Military Committee today approved the Reece plan to provide for the leasing of Muscle Shoals to private corporations and made plans to seek early House action. It is to be submitted in a few days and special legislative preference is to be requested.

Representative Reece (Rep.), of Tennessee, said the measure undoubtedly would meet executive approval since it was along the lines suggested by President Hoover in his annual message to Congress.

Sail to Board Graf For Flight to U. S.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS.)—Capt. Harry E. Shoemaker, U. S. N., and William B. Leeds, American millionaire, will sail today for South America, where they will board the Graf Zeppelin and return to the United States. Capt. Shoemaker will act as liasion officer for communications between the Graf, which is making a flight to America from Germany by way of South America, and the Navy Department.

Handy With Fists, Man, 90, Bests Opponents

Harry Westbrook, of Unity, is 90, but he maintains a man is only as old as he feels.

A month ago, he blackened both eyes of a 62-year-old boy in an alley fight. He was arrested.

Today he was in Central Police Court again, accused of removing the glasses of one James Plunkett, a mere 52, and then hitting Mr. Plunkett on the jaw. Mr. Plunkett, it seemed, had given Harry a dime, but refused him a quarter.

Each was fined $10 or allowed 10 days in jail.

ANTI-DRY VOTE TALKS TODAY

Street meetings will be addressed today by speakers with the anti-dry caravan that is touring the state in behalf of the candidacies of Thomas W. Phillips, for governor, Francis H. Bohlen, for United States Senator, and Charles Dorrance, for lieutenant governor.

The schedule called for H. B. Foulkrod, a World War veteran, who is traveling with the caravan, to speak at North Side City Hall, at 10 a. m.; South Side Market House, at noon, at the Grant street entrance of the City-County Building at 12:15 p. m.; at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station plaza, Grant street and Liberty avenue, at 2 p. m.; and Pranksstown avenue and Station street, at 4 p. m.

P. E. Shaughnessy, western campaign chairman for the Phillips-Bohlen-Dorrance anti-dry ticket, declared yesterday:

"As the campaign progresses, the political machines find consternation in their ranks at the momentum of the anti-dry campaign. The people are aroused and are determined to end the control of the state by professionals."

Boy, 12, to Graduate From High School

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass., May 1.—(AP.)—William J. Greenler, 12, of Boxford, will be graduated from high school next month at the head of his class. He has been in high school four years, having entered grammar school at the age of 5½.

SULLIVAN GETS LEADERS' AID

Congressman P. J. Sullivan's candidacy for re-election in the Thirty-fourth District has the open support of Mayor Charles H. Kline and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong.

Kline and Armstrong were asked yesterday in the latter's office whom they were for in the fight between Sullivan and P. J. O'Malley of the state auditor general's office.

"I'm for Sullivan without qualification," Kline replied.

"I'm his comrade," Armstrong added, referring to Kline.

Their attitude has been taken for granted for some time, although Kline was reported to have encouraged O'Mally to remain in the race.

O'Malley, who is backed by Senator James J. Coyne and supported by friends of Senator M. G. Leslie, declared he would carry at least five of the 10 wards in the congressional district despite the influence of Kline and Armstrong. Sullivan seems sure of two wards, and three are rated as doubtful.

The contest may be decided by the Fifth Ward, home of former President of Council James F. Malone, who always carried it by large majorities. He has not declared a preference in the congressional fight, due, perhaps, to the fact that Sullivan and Coyne both opposed him when he ran for mayor against Kline.

However, friends of Harry Feldman, Mayor Kline's leader in Malone's ward, are working hard for Sullivan and have predicted they could carry it for Sullivan with Kline's aid.

Solomon Withdraws In Favor of Marcus

Charles Solomon today withdrew as a candidate for the Legislature from the First District, comprising the First, Second and Third Wards, in favor of Representative Joseph C. Marcus. Solomon also indorsed the candidacy of Walter Tucker, a Negro, of the Fifth Ward, for the other Assembly post from the district.

Investors Reaping May Day Harvest

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—It's a delightful May day for investors in American industry. Dividend disbursements today by some 600 corporations run into millions of dollars.

DAVIS ASSAILS GRUNDY POLICY

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 1.—(AP.)—The declaration that his chief opponent, Senator Joseph R. Grundy, insulted other senators in trying to dictate to them on the tariff bill, featured Secretary of Labor Davis' attack on the Bristol candidate here as the Davis-Brown ticket carried its fight into Erie, Crawford, Venango, Mercer and Lawrence counties.

Davis described himself as a "protectionist all my life" and said that if he were elected he would fight for a tariff that would benefit every industry in the state.

Davis thus far in the campaign has refused to commit himself directly on the prohibition issue, but as an indication of his attitude toward the dry question he said he stood four-square for President Hoover's platform and "all that it contains." This was interpreted as meaning he stood for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Francis Shunk Brown, gubernatorial candidate, told voters that he favored continuance of state aid to hospitals and improvement of rural roads.

Brown told a group of New Castle citizens that his slate was not a product of Philadelphia.

"This is not a ticket of, for and by Philadelphia," the candidate said. "It is a group of candidates selected because of their fitness for the offices to which they aspire."

DAVIS ABSENT, TOUR GOES ON

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 1.—(AP.)—The Davis-Brown ticket pressed on today toward the completion of its Western Pennsylvania campaign tour.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for the United States Senate, was en route to Washington to attend to private and governmental affairs, having temporarily abandoned his tour. He will rejoin the party in Pittsburgh tomorrow night at a banquet given by the Allegheny County League of Women Voters.

Ellwood City, Beaver Falls, Butler, Kittanning, Fox City, New Kensington and Greensburg were on today's itinerary. The group thus far has visited 21 towns in nearly a dozen counties. Next week the central part of the state will be "stumped."

POLITICAL BILL POSTER FREED

Magistrate John J. Sweeney ruled in South Side Police Court today that tacking political campaign posters on poles is no violation of a city law.

James Gorman, 30, of 4034 Ladie street, was arraigned on a charge of violating a city ordinance. He was arrested last night while placing a "Grundy" placard on a telephone pole at South Twenty-second and Carson streets.

Gorman testified he was employed by a bill poster and put up posters for candidates of all factions and parties. He was discharged by Sweeney who ordered 2,000 posters which the police had seized returned to him with this comment:

"I don't see where any city law is being violated."

At the office of the city ordinance officer it was said a measure was on the files prohibiting the posting or affixing in any manner of bills or posters on property owned or rented by another, without written consent.

First Ward G. O. P. Rally Set Tomorrow

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Mayor Charles H. Kline will address a meeting of the First Ward Republican organization at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Fornes school. Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh will preside.

Other speakers will include Joseph C. Marcus, incumbent, and Walter E. Tucker, candidates for the Legislature from the First District; Safety Director James M. Clarke, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, Congressman P. J. Sullivan, Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan and former Alderman Andrew M. Maloney.

Reed to Stay Out Of State Campaign

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—So far as his friends in Washington know, Senator David A. Reed, who sailed from London yesterday on the Olympic, will not take an active part in the Pennsylvania Republican primary campaign.

Senator Reed's office announced that on landing in New York, probably next Tuesday, he would proceed to Washington without delay and devote his attention to supporting the London naval conference treaty which he assisted in writing as one of the American delegates.

U. S. LAND BANK SYSTEM NEAR COLLAPSE

By REP HENRY T RAINEY

Member of the House of Representatives from Illinois and member of the Ways and Means Committee.

(Written Exclusively for the Sun-Telegraph)

WASHINGTON, May 1

The entire Federal Land Bank system is on the verge of collapse and ruin.

The failure and pending collapse can be charged directly to the methods of the Federal Farm Loan Board.

At present the organization occupies the position of standing at the head of one of the most gigantic swindles ever perpetrated on the people of this country.

The only thing the governmental has attempted to do to remedy the situation is to get through a bill in Congress which will ask for receivers and for Federal Farm Loan Board to appoint a double liability on bank stock. Efforts to get this through Congress so far have failed.

Coffin Lids Nailed

It is the only constructive proposition yet advanced by the government and through it the government is simply seeking to hold down expenditures and effectively the lids on the coffins of its victims.

Under the Wilson administration we established the Federal Reserve system. About the same time, in order to furnish cheap money to farmers we organized a system of banks which are not really banks at all but which were organized for the purpose of treating solely with frozen assets."

The idea was that we might in this way relieve the banks of the necessity of making long term farm loans and at the same time render a service to the farming industry.

There is nothing new about our Federal Farm Loan System. We simply followed the European systems, which have functioned for over 100 years successfully in times of stress and prosperity.

Our system consists of 12 Federal banks and it consisted originally of 80 joint stock land banks. Some have stopped doing business and there are now 47 of them left. Of this number 22 have suspended dividends and are really not functioning.

In Receivership

Some of them are releasing their amortization payments and a number of them are in process of liquidation. They are buying up their bonds. Three are in the hands of receivers.

The farm board was reorganized and placed under Eugene Meyer. Destruction of our farm loan bank system began.

Under his instructions foreclosures were brought whenever amortization payers were in arrears and as a result the system has taken over a whole domain of farms.

Five or six years ago the banks of the Federal system and joint stock land bank system were lending $1,000,000 a day. Last year both systems loaned only about $88,000,000.

At present the Federal system has outstanding $1,200,000,000 worth of loans and joint stock land banks have outstanding approximately one-half that amount.

The Federal government through its agencies has engaged in a most reprehensible high power salesmanship.

By the Federal act these bonds are made legal investment for trust and fiduciary funds. All the banks were made legal depositories for public funds. The bonds they issued bear on their face the legend that the bond is an "instrumentality of the government." The Federal government assumed entire responsibility for the management and control of the banks.

Buy in Bonds

Twenty or 25 million bulletins have been issued explaining to investors the soundness of the banks and stock of the two systems and explaining to borrowers the good features of a system.

A number of the banks are now buying in their bonds with their amortization payments at around 60 cents on the dollar.

Small insurance companies which have deposited these bonds as collateral are beginning to fail.

I have introduced a bill providing for organization of a United States land bank to operate under the direction of the Federal Farm Board.

The Land bank so organized would take over the assets of such of the joint stock Land banks as may vote to liquidate and to issue in lieu of the stocks and bonds of such banks, federal merger Land bank bonds.

IDENTIFY BURKE IN GEM THEFT

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(AP.)—Photographs of Frederick Burke, sought as the leader of the 1929 St. Valentine's Day gang massacre in Chicago and August H. Winkler, Chicago gangster, were identified here by two Huntington Park residents as those of the men who robbed their home of jewels valued at $600, April 24.

Capt. Norman Stensland of the Sheriff robbery detail, said the victims of the holdup, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cooper of the Los Angeles suburb, described the robbers without previous knowledge of the identity of the suspects and that one of the descriptions fits Burke perfectly.

"The other suspect, judging from Mr. and Mrs. Cooper's description," Capt. Stensland said, "fits the appearance of August H. Winkler listed on our records as a Chicago gangster."

Burke has been the object of a nation-wide search since seven gangsters were slain in Chicago on February 14, 1929, presumably the victims of a gang war.

SIX PLANES FLY RUM INTO U. S.

DETROIT, May 1.—(AP.)—Reports here say that for the past two weeks a licensed air freight line with six planes has made daily trips to the United States from Walkerville, Ont., with capacity cargoes of liquor.

The exportation has been carried on under the supervision of Canadian customs officers, it is asserted, in accordance with a recent ruling of the provincial government that licensed airplanes may be used by liquor exporters.

Duncan B. McColl, manager of the corporation controlling the Walkerville Airport, is quoted as saying that liquor exporters bring the freight to the field in trucks to be loaded into planes.

Ccoll said he did not know the location of the American terminal of the air freightline.

"We are exercising the utmost care," McColl is quoted as saying, "to see that the exporters' operations are legal from the Canadian point of view."

Auto Hits Man, Police Hold 2 As Drivers

Roland Hyatt, 45, of 610 Worth street, and Paul Treyaux, 29, of New York, are being held today in Central Police Station on charges of violating the automobile laws because they will not admit which one was driving a machine which injured a man and then struck two parked automobiles downtown early today.

According to police the machine in which the two were riding, struck M. J. Virell, 37, of 1150 Ridge avenue, North Side, in front of the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Virell was cut and bruised and the machines damaged slightly, according to police. Police say that Hyatt is a chemist at the United States Bureau of Mines.

BRITAIN TO QUIT NAVAL BASE

LONDON, May 1.—(INS.)—Abandonment of the huge Singapore naval base upon which millions already have been spent in construction, was being considered today by the British government as a result of the agreements reached at the London Naval Conference, according to the Daily Herald.

Threadgill here today, called attention to stories circulated in the East that will induce to Idaho 40,000 of them are to be rounded up and slaughtered for canned meat. Johnny and all the kids in the neighborhood asked that one wild horse be saved for them.

GERMANS LAUD BUTLER TALK

BERLIN, May 1.—(AP).—Speaking under the auspices of the German Committee for International Conciliation, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and head of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, last night addressed a distinguished audience in the Plenary Hall of the Reichstag.

Eric Koch, former minister of justice, introducing the speaker, lauded the part Dr. Butler took in forwarding the negotiations that led to signing of the Kellogg Pact.

Among others in the audience were Joseph Wirth, minister of the interior; Johannes Bell, minister of justice; Friedrich Rosen, former foreign minister; the presidents of the American Club and of the American Chamber of Commerce, members of the embassy staff and numerous members of the national legislature.

Dr. Butler read his speech in German. His plea for world peace and economic well-being was warmly received.

As a means to restore the economic power of Europe, Dr. Butler hailed the plan for a United States of Europe, an economic federation now being pushed by statesmen in several countries.

$400 PAINTING PROVES TITIAN

DETROIT, May 1.—(AP).—A painting purchased by the Detroit Institute of Arts at the recent sale of the Havemeyer collection in New York for $400 has been revealed as a masterpiece by Titian.

Its value is estimated conservatively at $150,000 and other appraisals range as high as $300,000.

The original picture painted by Titian in about 1565 emerged in excellent condition when overpainting believed to have been applied about 50 years ago was removed by William Sodir, the institute's restorer, after the painting was received at the institute.

Identity of the painting established as a work of "The School of Titian" was suspected by Dr. Wilhelm R. Valentiner, the institute's art director, who had seen the picture in the Havemeyer home. His suspicions were based upon the technique he noted in the artist's treatment of the subject's hand, the only object of the canvas which had escaped the overpainter's brush.

The painting was of the Doge Girolomo Priuli, who was elected Doge in 1559.

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP).—Twenty-five members of one of Chicago's big liquor rings credited with the production of 400,000 gallons of whisky in two years and a half under the direction of Dean Jeffers Al Capone were indicted by the Federal grand jury yesterday.

Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson obtained the indictment, which charged conspiracy to violate the national Prohibition Act and which was handed up to Federal Judge Charles E. Anderson said the center of the web was the Italian Importing and Manufacturing Company, which was taken over November 1, 1971 by Charles Algretto, Joseph Aiuppa and Frank Balonis, all of whom were indicted.

This company Anderson said distributed corn sugar in hundred-carload lots to stills scattered throughout Illinois and Wisconsin. The others named in the indictment are all still operators.

USED A CANE; KONJOLA ENDS RHEUMATISM!

Pittsburgh Lady Could Not Walk for Seven Weeks—New Medicine Brings Glorious Relief.

There is no need to neglect rheumatic pains and suffer the discomfort of this dreadful disease when a five or six weeks' treatment of this remarkable Konjola medicine will bring amazing relief. Of course, rheumatism is an ailment which takes time to overcome and a systematic treatment of more than one or two bottles is recommended to work the poisons out of the system. Konjola contains no alcohol or heart-depressing chemicals; therefore, will not stop pain at once, but, if taken with regularity, will bring relief in a natural way. What is more logical than to follow the experience of others—men and women who have taken Konjola and found relief from the excruciating pains of that demon affliction—rheumatism. Just read the remarkable statement that Mrs. Jessie Murray, 110 East Erie Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, made to the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, just a few days ago:

MRS. JESSIE MURRAY

"I have taken a six weeks' treatment of Konjola and have improved wonderfully. My rheumatism is almost gone. In recent years I suffered from rheumatism in my knees. Last winter I had to stay in bed or just sit around. For seven weeks I could not walk and when I finally started to get around I had to use a cane all the time. At night I was so restless and nervous that my sleep was broken and I always felt tired throughout the day. I suffered at times from indigestion and distress after eating. My appetite was very poor and what I did eat failed to nourish me or give me strength.

"I started taking Konjola after reading about it time and time again. Since taking six bottles I feel fine. I walk without a cane and have no difficulty in going wherever I please. The rheumatism gradually vanished and now I feel it only slightly at times. I believe that if I continue taking Konjola it will be entirely banished. Soon after starting on Konjola I noticed that my appetite had increased and that the food I ate digested perfectly and without distress. I sleep soundly and awaken each morning feeling well rested and full of energy. Konjola is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all who suffer."

Konjola is not designed for mere temporary relief. When given a fair trial of from six to eight weeks, it will produce amazing results.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

RELIEF FOR STOMACH ILLS

And other health-destroying ailments that have kept thousands of sufferers in misery and despair now seen in modern discovery BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS. How little we think the stomach controls High Blood Pressure and most all supposedly incurable diseases! Every organ in the body receives its allowance and maintenance from the stomach. Why do we impose on it? Nobody cares much—because it has to take what you give it and say nothing until some future date. You get a message from the kidneys—Bright's Disease, Hardening of the Arteries; a message from the Heart—Myocarditis, with what you call Rheumatism produced by toxins in the blood stream; Stiff Joints and painful Muscles. The Liver always trying to do what the Stomach fails to accomplish. Give up the fight and the patient drifts into Anemia. The time has come to stop drugging and abusing this wonderful organ that can digest all but itself. Don't you believe it is time to give some special thought to these facts and eliminate this stomach drugging, which you know is wrong, neglecting the only sure and effective avenue of medication—the blood stream? THE ORIGINAL CUT RATE DRUGGISTS OF PITTSBURGH—FOR 37 YEARS

RECEIVERSHIPS AVOIDED

Under a compromise agreement between litigants in Federal Court for receivership for the Law and Finance Building Company, Fourth avenue, and the Fairfax Apartments, Fifth avenue, the F. H. Smith Company resigned as depository under mortgages for both concerns, and the Pennsylvania Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, was designated temporary depository.

Announcement of the agreement was made to Judge F. P. Schoonmaker yesterday, after the court, at the request of counsel for all parties involved, had postponed hearings on petitions for receiverships, which had been asked by a certain few stockholders for the two companies.

After a short conference the court was notified by the Smith company, through its counsel, that the company would withdraw as depository. Judge Schoonmaker was advised that the appointment of the Pennsylvania Trust Company would be satisfactory to all concerned. A decree will be prepared for the appointment.

This action was, in effect, a compromise eliminating the appointment of receivers. The defendants in the suits did not resist the resignation of the Smith company as depository, but it was said they were prepared to oppose the appointment of receivers for the properties.

APPEAL CASES ARGUED

Argument was heard before the Superior Court in the case of the Dunlevy Franklin Company against Frank Donatelli for damage to the plaintiffs truck and contents during a landslide in Ardmore boulevard, March 12, 1928.

The specific allegations were that "blasting operations" of the defendant resulted in the slide of the hillside, the plaintiffs averring the accident was solely due to the negligence of the defendant and employes.

Other cases argued follows: Frederick C. Grote against Gustav Stein and Jeanette Stein, involving a land contract; Leslie Williams against Rheas, Inc., involving compensation to a minor; John A. Loper against Charles Gensler, regarding a suit for garage rent; Mrs. Annie E. Neff against Catherine Neff, respecting police fund benefits; Sherwin R. Nixon against estate of T. A. Watkins for damages; Federico Valicenti's appeal from the decision of the Board of Adjustment, Mt. Lebanon Township, involving erection of a front porch in violation of the zoning ordinance; Radio Corporation of Pennsylvania against Mary Frederick regarding claims for instruction.

39 in Crew of Ship On Rocks Rescued

TOKIO, May 1.—(AP.)—An official report to the Home Ministry today said the 39 members of the crew of the Japanese freighter Luzon Maru, which drifted on rocks near Cape Inube, Ibaraki Prefecture, yesterday, had been rescued. The ship went aground during a storm when her engines became disabled.

The high seas kept rescuers from saving the crew for several hours. The ship was breaking up under the pounding of the waves.

Swarm of Locusts Fought in Rumania

Miller, of William S. Miller & Sons, builders, chairman of the Builders' Council.

Chairman Weimer named nine men as a committee to determine whether a recommendation should be made to the next State Legislature asking that the State Building & Loan Department be divorced from the Commonwealth's treasury bureau. SCHOOL TUITION FIGHT AIRED

Whether a school district which does not maintain a high school within its limits is liable for the high school tuition of a pupil sent to an adjoining district, for a period beyond the four-year term was argued yesterday before the Superior Court. In the suit of the school district of the borough of Bellevue, against the school district of the borough of Emsworth, the lower court affirmed the question, the defendants taking an appeal.

The action was brought to recover four months tuition in educating Thoms Mooney at $12 a month, the cost of which was $48 and the actual court costs many times that figure. It was averred that near the end of the fifth year, the Emsworth School Board was notified Mooney was not keeping up in his studies and after some correspondence it was decided Emsworth should pay his tuition up to the end of the first semester of the fifth year, according to the Emsworth board. The Bellevue board demanded payment for the second semester relying solely on the school act relating to such payment. Bellevue entered judgment and the appeal followed.

Judge Puts One Over on Court Attaches

Judge John A. Evans "put one over" on the clerks, tipstaffs, court reporters and others yesterday in Common Pleas Court, but unconsciously, by failing to visit his chambers to be presented with a remembrance.

Many had "chipped in" to present him with a traveling bag, but it had to be sent to his home in Sewickley.

(3) This is a contest that will test the skill of the readers of the Sun-Telegraph as to their knowledge of the names of the players of the Pittsburgh club.

(4) There will be a new PIRATEPUZ every day and daily prizes for the correct and most nearly correct answers will be awarded as follows:

1st Prize ..... $10.00 in Cash

Contestants agree that entries become the property of the Sun-Telegraph. The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employees of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of this newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.

(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. SLEEP WITHOUT "DRUGS" SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

Former Battle Creek Sanitarium Physician States Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion.

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites and sleep serenely since taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Lantz's Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, (M. D.) formerly physician at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where autointoxication prevented sleep, the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. George Starr White, of Los Angeles, (M. D., LL. D., F. R. S. A., London) prominent health writer and specialist, aroused stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said last week, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective—no more natural formula for 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M. D., N. D.) president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural formula and priceless in all digestive ills."

That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a remarkable

TONIC-LAXATIVE, NOT A 'DRUG'

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanatoriums all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sick headaches, general fatigue, sleepless nights, and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn today. Does not gripe, because it is natural. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a firmer grip on life.

FLAXOLYN FORMULA

Originated by Dr. Harris H. Lantz (M. D., D. O.) to fill his own needs and the needs of his patients. Flaxolyn contains valuable, approved medicaments—including Bile Salts, Vitamine extracts and the following herbs:

1. Baked Flaxseed—Relaxes congestion; acts as astringent
2. Sarsaparilla Roots—Contain an effective blood remedy
3. African Buchu Leaves—Act on kidneys and bladder
4. Jamaica Ginger Roots—Quicken flow of vital digestive juices
5. Dandelion Roots—Act on the intestinal canal
6. Cardamon Seeds—Act on the stomach tissue. Aromatic tonic
7. Chinese Rhubarb—Invigorates the stomach
8. Spanish Licorice Roots—Remove mucus that may be clogging and poisoning the digestive organs
9. Culver Roots—Help to stimulate natural bile flow
10. Gentian Roots—Create a keener appetite
11. Belgian Valerian Roots—Help to tone the nerves and induce the restful sleep of health
12. California Bark—Cleans the colon; removes foreign matter from intestines.

Dr. Ovidio Marandino, stomach specialist of Florence, Italy, says: "After putting Flaxolyn to the test, I recommend it to my patients, old or young."

Prof. Dr. Remo Hirsh, great German specialist says: "In correcting faulty elimination, Flaxolyn gives a source of new strength, aids complexion."

Dr. Benedict Lust, founder of the American School of Naturopathy writes: "I recommend Flaxolyn heartily as an aid to those ailing, due to conditions caused by constipation."

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER'S address before the eighteenth annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce will be broadcast in Pittsburgh at 10:30 o'clock tonight by KDKA, WCAE and WJAS.

Tito Schipa, whose facility of expression has always impressed concert goers, will place special emphasis tonight on his favorite operatic roles when he sings for the RCA hour on WCAE at 10 o'clock. He will open [illegible] from Don Giovanni; "La Donna e Mobile" from Rigoletto, and "The Dream" from Manon.

Mario Chamlee, another famous tenor, will collaborate with an orchestra and chorus in dramatizing Catherine the Great over WCAE at 9.

Hiawatha's Song of Love will be an 11 o'clock offering through WCAE. Joe Hiller has a unique stunt for KQV at 8.

Unemployment will be discussed by Congressman Henry W. Watson in the D. A. R. broadcast from Washington, D. C., over WEAF, WRC and WSAI at 7:30.

The Westinghouse Salute is to boom from KDKA starting in June.

Local talent is to be employed.

RADIO RALPH SAYS: The cost of operating a set with its volume low is just the same as when running it loud.

Helen Nugent, of Columbia writes daily to her ma in Cincinnati.

Do you know that KDKA is the only Pittsburgh station compelled to "get off the air" when an SOS sounds?

The Radio Commission order says: "All stations under 1,000 kilocycles must cease broadcasting until all traffic is cleared, stations using more than a thousand kilocycles will not be required to cease broadcast unless notified by the land station handling manoeuvers."

"Margaret," of 537 Clawson street, is the winner of the "Poem Contest" conducted by KQV. She wrote something good about the Blues Chasers. Here 'tis—

Blues Chasers.

B—For the BLUES they chase away.
L—For The LAUGHTER OF TONY so gay.
U—For US, who hear them each day.
E—For EVER we hope they will stay.

C—For the CROONER Jack Banker's [illegible]
A—For ANNOUNCER Jack Buchheit by name.
S—For the SUNSHINE he sends through the rain.
E—For ENTHUSIASM which always remains.
R—For REQUESTS to which they lay claim.
S—For SUCCESS that should come to their names.
Jack, Tony and John—the KQV Three.
Blues Chasers—that's what they are to me.

Company Nets 86 Cents In Three Months Against 92 Cents for All of 1929

NEW YORK, May 1.—In its report for the quarter ended March 31, Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation shows for the first time the actual earning power of the company with operations of both theaters and film production division on a normal basis. Net profit in the first three months was $1,815,902, equal to 86 cents a share on 1,850,169 shares of Class A common stock outstanding, after allowing for preferred dividends of subsidiaries.

In the full year 1929 Radio-Keith-Orpheum earned profit of $2,523,558, equal after deduction og $853,994 for preferred dividends to 92 cents a share on 1,808,409 no par shares of Class A common outstanding at the end of the year.

YEAR'S ESTIMATE

The greater part of this profit was earned in the latter part of the year since the company did not get into its earnings stride until the last half and income from new productions of sound films was not reflected in income substantially until the current season.

The management has set a mark of about $6,000,000 net profit for 1930 which would be equal to around $3 a share on the Class A common after preferred dividends. In view of the fact that earnings of amusement companies are less in the summer months there is no present reason to think that this estimate will be greatly exceeded for the year unless some unusually profitable releases should be made in the last half.

MORE STOCK OUT

Radio-Keith has just applied to list 460,000 shares of additional stock of which 440,952 shares will be issued. Of this amount stockholders have been offered the right to subscribe to 390,952 shares at $35 a share in the ratio of one new share for every six held. This will provide the company with approximately $13,650,000 in cash which will be used for expansion.

In addition bankers have options to purchase 50,000 shares of additional stock—25,000 shares at $31.26 a share and 25,000 shares at $34.76, an average price of about $33 a share which will provide $1,650,000 additional or a total of $15,300,000 in new money for the company.

RADIO'S HOLDINGS

Upon issuance of these shares Radio-Keith will have a total of 2,286,673 shares of class A common outstanding. There are also outstanding 500,000 shares of class B common owned by the Radio Corporation of America. This is deferred common stock and by a recent change in the capitalization has no right to dividends. It is, however, convertible into class A stock share for share. 100,000 shares being convertible when earnings for two years have been equal in each year to $2.75 a share of class A outstanding after conversion. The remainder is convertible on an ascending scale of earnings. There is thus no immediate prospect of earnings per share being diluted by conversion of this stock.

KIN AIDS PAIR HELD IN KILLING

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 1.—(AP.)—W. H. Seeley, of Peoria, Ill., brother of P. G. Seeley, charged jointly with John L. Wike in the killing of David and George Smith, brothers, arrived here late yesterday to aid in the defense of the two men.

The investigation into the killing of the two brothers in a hotel room here Saturday night lagged as the preliminary trial drew near. Wike and Seeley told officers the brothers, Connecticut brokers, were shot to death by two men who attempted to rob them. Wike and Seeley were traveling with the Smiths. Both denied connection with the double slaying. They have not been placed in jail, but have been kept under close guard in their hotel rooms.

Much of the investigation has centered about a diamond ring found in the Seeleys' baggage. The description of her husband's ring, telegraphed to authorities by Mrs. George Smith, tallied with that of the ring found in Seeley's possession, officers said. Seeley, police said, expressed surprise when informed the ring was found in his handbag.

He said that Jewish students were rapidly taking their place among the university student body and that the Hillel Foundation had much to do with their progress in this respect.

Brodia, of Parkersburg, first vice president; Mrs. Simie Rusbaum, of Clarksburg, second vice president; Miss Settie Swartz, of Charleston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. I. SO WRETCHED SHE PITIED HERSELF

Found the Way to Health In World's Tonic.

"I got to pitying myself. I was so wretched six months ago," declared Mrs. C. Mackinnis, who lives at Greensburg, Pa. "My troubles started with a cold I caught about a year ago. It hung on for several weeks, and I coughed and spit a great deal. This all seemed to heal up, but it was followed by stomach trouble. Food did not do me any good. I got thin, and my skin took on a sallow color instead of the rosy tint that I had been so proud of. My eyes seemed so tired I did not enjoy reading, and at times I was dizzy, while my nerves got on edge so that I slept poorly. Nothing I tried seemed to relieve me. A repulsive rash broke out on my forehead, and I became so unattractive that I sincerely began to pity myself. One day in a drug store I heard a man tell the druggist how he had been relieved of stomach trouble by the use of World's Tonic. This conversation stuck in my mind, and a few days later I got this medicine for myself.

"You would hardly believe how quickly it benefited me. It was not two weeks until my appearance changed. The rash dried up, and my eyes grew better at once. In a few days my appetite returned. A week later my skin began to clear up and the sallowness disappeared. One night I slept clear through without awakening. I felt so much better the next morning that I did a big day's work—the first in many months. Now I have very little trouble of any kind. I look now as I used to and I know I have found the way to perfect health through this wonderful World's Tonic. Since I have been so much helped several of my friends have overcome their prejudices and are taking this great medicine. So far every one of them says it has helped them. I'm for World's Tonic all the time."

RUSSIAN TRADE HIT BY CREDIT

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(INS.)—Soviet Russia, the only important country whose buying from the United States has increased in recent months, will have a difficult task in keeping up the pace the remainder of the year, owing to credit curtailments, Commerce Department officials said today.

Since last October the Soviet has made purchases of more than $98,000,000 from the United States, an increase of 61 per cent over the same period the year before, according to reports of that government.

Actor Falls Dead On Stage, Play Called Off

READING, Pa., May 1.—(AP.)—The age-old tradition, that the "play must go on," was set aside last night when during an amateur play at the Shillington Fire Hall, William Bitting, 28, one of the principals in a community show, fell dead.

He had entered the stage just a moment before, and was taking up some lines in Pennsylvania German when he suddenly toppled over the footlights. The curtain was rung down and a doctor summoned, but Bitting was dead, due to a heart condition.

TWO BABIES DIE IN HOME FIRE

PRINCETON, W. Va., May 1.—(AP.)—Two children were burned to death and two others suffered severe burns when their home at Flat Top, McDowell County, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The dead were Pearl Rogers, 2, and Lowell Rogers, 2 months.

Lando Rogers, 4, and Straley Richmond, 14, who made his home with the Rogers family, were burned. They were brought to a Princeton hospital and physicians said the condition of Lando Rogers was critical.

Investigating officers said the Richmond boy and Lando Rogers attempted to light a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene and the can exploded. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rogers were in the yard, and the boys, their clothing in flames, ran to them for assistance. The parents were unable to reach the other two children, asleep in an upstairs room.

BOMB KILLING TRIAL SHIFTED

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., May 1.—(AP.)—Trial of Lawrence Leroy Brady and his brother, Herman, under indictments for murder in connection with the New Year's Day bombing at Seat Pleasant, in which Herman's wife, her brother and her sister were killed, was ordered removed to Montgomery County late yesterday by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly.

The change of venue was granted upon petition by counsel for the accused men, M. Hampton Magruder and Senator S. Scott Beck, who asked that the cases be removed, and the trials will be held at Rockville.

The two brothers were indicted on April 16 by the Prince George County grand jury, but no date for the trial was set. Leroy Brady had been in jail since his arrest several days after the blast in the home of John Hall at Seat Pleasant which killed Mrs. Brady, Hall's daughter, and her infant brother and her sister. Four other members of the Hall family were injured in the blast, but recovered. Herman had been at liberty under bond as a state's witness until the indictment was returned against him, at which time he was rearrested.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—Undeclared jewelry, furs, wearing apparel and other merchandise which Mrs. Robert L. Dodge, president of the cosmetics firm of Harriet Ayer Hubbard, Inc., brought into the United States during the last five years resulted late yesterday in penalties and duties of $213,286, the largest fine ever imposed by the Port of New York.

Mrs. Dodge is suffering from a nervous breakdown in her home at Mill Neck, Long Island. A certified check for the amount was presented on her behalf.

The latest of the importations on which the fines were imposed, brought in by Mrs. Dodge on April 15 on the Ile de France, included furs valued at $58,245.80 and 82 original French gowns. The gowns she was alleged to have undervalued for customs purposes.

25 LIQUOR AGE LIMIT URGED

LONDON, May 1.—(AP.)—"I should like to see people, male and female, under 25, prohibited from drinking spirits," said Sir Edgar Saunders, former general manager of the Carlisle District State Management Area, to the licensing commission. "It would largely stop the cocktail habit, which I think is a disgrace among young people."

The Carlesle State System of liquor dealing was introduced as a war measure in view of the incursion of munition makers to Gretna Green. Sir Edgar proclaimed himself a strong proponent of beer drinking. Beer was not so strong as before the war, he thought. The heavy drinking habit had largely been broken, notwithstanding that the test of drunkenness had become stiffer every year, he said.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Why she didn't want to kiss him

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) has broken up many a love affair and friendship.

Don't fool yourself that you never have it. Because you simply cannot be sure of that. Halitosis never announces itself to the victim. But it does to others—and offends them.

Therefore, before meeting others, rinse the mouth with full strength Listerine. If halitosis is present, it destroys it. If it isn't (and you cannot tell) your mouth receives the benefit of a refreshing and invigorating treatment.

Listerine overcomes halitosis because it is an active antiseptic and germicide which kills germs of all kinds in 15 seconds. Therefore, it checks food fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it gets rid of the odors themselves.

Keep a bottle of Listerine handy in home and office. Use it often. It pays. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

HOODLUMS FIRE ON POLICEMAN, 7 HELD

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

Heber Dithrich, the county solicitor, was walking along the lobby of the Courthouse at recess when a woman juror in the case which he was arguing approached him.

"Mr. Dithrich," the woman began, "I'm a juror on your case and I—"

"Don't!" Mr. Dithrich cried. "You can't talk with me while this case is going on."

"But—"

"No buts," Mr. Dithrich insisted. "It's not correct."

"But, Mr. Dithrich," the woman persisted, "I just wanted to tell you how much you look like Al Jolson."

Out at Mr. Hooley's Sheridan Square Theater the other day the comedy depicted a wife trying to rouse her sleeping husband. "Where's the fire?" the husband complained, and as he spoke the fire engines sped by the theater in Penn avenue. The audience laughed more heartily than ever before, Mr. Hooley tells.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll, who rooms in her Aunt Stella's boarding house, is being wooed by Neil Burke. While out motoring with Neil, Ardeth sees Ken Gleason. Ardeth has never been introduced to Gleason and the two just gaze at each other. Neil becomes jealous. Later Neil asks Ardeth to marry him, but she refuses. Ardeth goes to work for Jeanette Parker in a new specialty shop. There Jeanette introduces Ardeth to Gleason. The two new friends go on a Sunday outing together to a houseboat owned by Gleason. Ken explains that he is employed by Jeanette's father. They return to the city after a happy day. Ardeth hopes to see Ken soon, but she is disappointed. Ardeth is surprised when she meets Ken one evening after leaving the shop. They have dinner together. After driving Ardeth home Ken says he could not stay away from her. Ken brings Tom Corbett to the shop and introduces him to Ardeth. Ardeth is surprised when she reads that Ken is engaged to Cecile, Jeanette's sister. Ken denies the story. He asks Ardeth to marry him and she consents. They plan to keep it quiet because of Ken's mother, who wants Cecile as a daughter-in-law.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX.

Ardeth wrenched her arm away and looked back to Neil with angry eyes.

"I told you to stop this! Coming at me suddenly like this and asking questions! What business is it of yours?"

"I'll make it my business when you stay out at this hour of the night with other fellows. Think I didn't see you down at the corner—necking with that Gleason fellow? I'll knock his head off!"

She felt her face flame in the dark. "Understand this once and for all, Neil, I'm not a child who needs your supervision! You leave me alone!"

Her voice shook with anger, but she kept it cautiously low. If Aunt Stel woke up and came out to find them quarreling it would mean a scene. A little sick feeling in her heart. Shameful to be standing here quarreling with Neil on this magic night when Ken had told her he loved her . . .

"Neil—" she spoke with unexpected gentleness. "Don't let's be like this. Why do we always fight when we meet lately?"

Neil threw off the gentle little hand she had placed on his arm and spoke in cold contempt.

"Thrown me down for this other guy, haven't you, Ardeth? Like all the rest of the rotten females! Let a fellow spend money on you and everyone else can go to hell!"

She was suddenly scorched with anger. "That's rotten!" she blazed. "Ken hasn't money! He's no better off than you! He's supporting his mother on his salary — yes, and he isn't bitter and doing a lot of preaching and ranting about it the way you do!"

Threatening

Says She Must Give Ken Up

"Yes — he's slaving!" came Neil's bitter answer. "Got an easy berth in old Parker's office and going to get solid in the firm by marrying the boss' daughter. And in the meantime he thinks he can have a good time with my girl. I'll show him where he's going to head in—"

"You—bully! If you try to see him I—I'll—" She blazed at him through the uncertain light, eyes and teeth agleam like a small outraged cat.

Suddenly she was flung flat against him, held by his arm as rigid and uncompromising as a steel bar. His teeth showed in a smile which held no mirth, his eyes burned down at her from their shadowy sockets: "You what? You'll give him up if you know what's good for you! Think you can throw me over whenever you please—"

A door up at the head of the stairs suddenly opened, sending a glare of light leaping down the stairwall, painting black, angular shadows of balusters on the grimy plaster walls, flinging into relief their struggling, locked figures.

Scolded

Ardeth Reprimanded in Neil's Presence

Aunt Stel's voice sounded, harsh with anger:

"Ardeth Carroll, come up here right off! What time of night is this to be gettin' in an' waking the whole house?"

Ardeth thrust Neil violently away and went up the stairs burning with rage and shame. Wearing a black scowl, the man followed.

They faced each other in the blaze of the living room chandelier. Aunt Stel had evidently just arisen from her virtuous couch, for the kimono of faded irises did not quite conceal the end of a much faded nightgown and her front hair was wound on two stout wire hairpins to provide a rigid wave the next day.

Neil stood beside her, his long arms folded tightly against his tall, lean body. His face was paper white and his eyes were very black under his thick, black brows.

Ardeth stood before them with flaming cheeks, her slender body taut with excited anger.

Aunt Stel's eyes went heavily over the girl much as a lumbering wagon would crush a moth.

"So you finally decided to come home, did you?" Her voice was thick with scorn. "Remembered you had a good, decent home to come to, when you got good an' ready! An' me, like a fool, keepin' your dinner hot in the oven till all hours!"

Angered

Tells Her Aunt She Is Engaged

"I'm sorry about dinner, Aunt Stel," the girl said with stiff lips. "I know I should have telephoned, but—but I lost all track of time—"

"Yes, I can believe that." Aunt Stel's lips were a thin line. "You forget most things since you've started chippying around with your rich beau! I dare say that is't all he's made you forget!"

The girl before her blazed with sudden wrath. "That's horrid! I've done nothing I'm ashamed of and you've no right to talk to me like that! It's nobody's business but our own if we love each other!"

She stopped, swept by a guilty sense of betrayal. Putting it in words like this made it sound so bleak . . . This love of theirs—so newly confessed—so delicate . . . Flinging it out before Aunt Stel's skeptical face was like handling a butterfly with clumsy fingers.

"Oh, so you love each other, do you!" Aunt Stel's words were freighted with sarcasm. "Fallin' for all his fine promises, aren't you. Like Nellie Ross. She had plenty of times to remember her sweetie's fine words, an' so'll you have—"

"Stop—you!" Ardeth blazed at her in such white faced fury that her aunt automatically blinked.

Nellie Ross . . . as the youngster of eight Ardeth had seen Nellie wheeling her heavy-headed baby in the sun of the Panhandle. There had been a strange elusive secret about Nellie Ross. The big boys had snickered and whistled as she went by. The big girls had gathered in intense knots in doorways, discussing something mysterious from which they had barred Ardeth. But she remembered, and later she knew . . .

Now, slightly sick, choking

FAZIO HELD IN BARREL KILLING

Philip Fazio, of Clairton, wildcat brewer, was held on a murder charge by a coroner's jury today in the slaying of William J. Gregory, beer trucker, whose headless body was found in a barrel in Penn Township, April 2.

Testimony was given to show that Fazio had threatened to kill Gregory because the latter had sold a truckload of beer in Akron, O., and kept the money.

TELLS OF THREAT

James Moleno, employed at Fazio's brewery in Lorigan street, where the murder is alleged to have been committed, testified that Fazio proposed that they kill Gregory in these words, March 31:

"Do you want to make $200? What do you say we kill Bill? It's easy. All we have to do is knock him on the head and throw a rope around him. I'll hit him on the head and you can throw the rope."

Moleno said he refused and Fazio called him "yellow" and told him to get out.

MURDER REVIEWED

County Detective Frank Ritz reviewed the murder. His testimony was corroborated in its different phases by Marie Wallace, 2923 Penn avenue, and Helen Lightner, formerly of 110 Anderson street, with whom Gregory is said to have lived as man and wife, and by Jacob Blazkover, alleged partner of Fazio, and County Chemist F. C. Buckmaster, who analyzed blood stains found in the brewery.

Mrs. Alberta Gregory, widow of the slain man and her two children, Alberta, 4, and Millie, 18 months, were present at the inquest. Fazio was represented by Attorneys W. H. Coleman and Frank Zappala, the Commonwealth by Assistant District Attorney Earl T. Jackson.

Police Hold Man In Hotel Bag Theft

Louis Davis, 35, of Indianapolis, Ind., was arrested in the William Penn Hotel today on a suspicious person charge, following the theft of five traveling bags from guests during the last two weeks.

Today detectives were on the watch and claimed that they saw Davis picking up a bag which they planted. After arresting Davis, detectives recovered the five stolen bags from pawn shops.

4TH DAY SAFETY DIET RULES

Don't reduce too rapidly!

That's the warning of consultants for the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine. Dr. A. I. Ringer, consultant on metabolism, says reduction should be at the rate of not more than one pound a week.

BAN DRASTIC DIETS.

A physical examination is advisable before attempting a reducing regime, according to Dr. Ringer. He cautions against any drastic diets, which reduce weight too rapidly and are detrimental to health.

The diet which the Sun-Telegraph presents to its readers every day this week contains the necessary body-building foods. Butter, cream, sugar and desserts have been omitted. But the daily menu contains plenty of fresh fruits, vegetables, meat, bread, soups and cereals.

FOURTH DAY'S MENUS.

BREAKFAST.

Stewed prunes.
Two scrambled eggs.
Thin slice of bread.
Tea, one cup, with milk, no sugar.

LUNCH.

American cheese.
Tomato salad—without dressing.
Radishes.
Thin slice of bread.
Tea, one cup, with milk, no sugar.

DINNER.

Minestrone soup.
One lamb chop.
Baked potato.

Watercress salad, with lemon juice.
Coffee, one cup, with milk, no sugar.

Bennett, Negroes, of Homestead, were acquitted of repeating at the primary election in Homestead September 17 last, in a directed verdict of not guilty before Visiting Judge E. M. They were charged with having voted in the Second, Third and Fourth precincts of the Second Ward.

'Smuggled Cloth' Racket Costs Pair Cash

Paul Ceh, 35, a butcher of North avenue, Millvale, today was mourning the loss of $240, and John Cula, a tailor, of Forward avenue, Squirrel Hill, $180, as a result of the persuasive powers of a good-looking woman yesterday. Ceh loaned one of her two male accomplices the money to purchase "smuggled cloth." Cula contracted for a whole truckload of it after three men ordered suits, detectives were told.

Ceh today had a bundle of cheap cloth in his possession, while Cula was still watching for the truck.

MAN SHOT OVER CARD GAME

One man was in Mercy Hospital today and another in the Center Avenue Police Station as a result of a shooting last night in a pool room at 1223 Fifth avenue, police say.

The victim, James Hannan, 25, of 53 Congress street, was shot in the left leg following an argument in a card game in the pool room, police reported. Frank Rodi, 26, of 1312 Gibbons street, admitted firing the shot, according to police. He said he had been struck in the face.

Rodi fled, but was captured by Patrolman Howard Fielder at Our way and Logan street. He was charged with being a suspicious person.

CITY ACCEPTS 10 MURALS

Ranking the 10 mural paintings depicting the history of commerce as an added showplace for Pittsburgh and its visitors, Mayor Charles H. Kline today officially accepted the works of art for the city at a public unveiling in Kaufmann's Department Store.

With hundreds of shoppers gathered on the first floor of the store, Mayor Kline gave the word that permanently dropped the draping from the murals. The executive was introduced by Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of the store.

The Mayor declared the introduction of art in modern retailing was an important step in merchandising, an innovation which placed Pittsburgh a step ahead in commerce. The remodeled first floor which makes a setting for these permanent murals, is a mark of grandeur that will attract visitors equally with the city's other points of interest, he said.

Seven paintings adorn the Smithfield street wall, while the remaining three are prominently displayed in the center of the store.

An outline of the study necessary over a three-year period in conceiving the history of commerce will be given by the painter, Boardman Robinson, at a public lecture tomorrow afternoon. With easels, the artist will sketch each step in charcoal and crayon before a public audience in Kaufmann's auditorium beginning at 4 o'clock.

GANGSTERS CLEANUP TARGET

Authorities Guarding Against Repetition of Political Gun Fights 2 Years Ago

A cleanup of the upper-Fifth avenue district was ordered by police early today after several auto loads of hoodlums had driven through the district, one trio firing on a policeman who attempted to halt them.

Police believe the gangs, said to be supporters of several politicians running for offices, are on the verge of another gang war.

Taking a lesson from the battles that were staged in the streets during a campaign several years ago, the police went along Fifth avenue, arresting all men who could not give an account of themselves.

ROUNDUP BAGS SEVEN

Seven prisoners were docketed at the Center avenue station on suspicious person charges.

Lieut. William J. Lavery ordered the cleanup after Patrolman Ernest Whitworth had been fired on in Our way, near Stevenson street.

Patrolman Whitworth was standing at Fifth avenue and Magee street when three men in an automobile passed, one of the occupants firing three shots in the air.

AUTO STOLEN

The officer followed on foot, trailing the machine into Stevenson street and then into Our way. The men turned and fired at him.

The three men leaped from their car and into another machine with another occupant, and sped away. The abandoned car was towed to a garage after it was learned that it had been stolen.

Two years ago during a primary campaign supporters of candidates in the districts of Fifth avenue and Magee street, and the Strip, staged fights in the street. The series of clashes was climaxed with a gun battle in Sixth avenue in front of the Nixon Theater, when patrons leaving the theater were endangered.

DEWEY VICTORY OBSERVED HERE

Old Glory, fluttering in the breeze in the brilliant springtime sunshine, from hundreds of flagstaffs in Pittsburgh, today recalled the thirty-second anniversary of Dewey's victory at Manila.

This answers the questions asked by many persons who could not give a reason for the display of the national emblem on May 1. A new generation has sprung up since Admiral Dewey took his little squadron over the torpedoes at Corregidor Strait and smashed the Spanish fleet at Cavite off the City of Manila. During the spring and summer of 1898 every city and town in the country observed the victory with a "Dewey Day" celebration.

Gets Six Months On Traffic Charge

David Brooks, 35, Negro, of Neville Island, today began serving a six-months sentence in the workhouse, as a result of having driven his automobile around a street car in West Carson street at 3 a. m., January 19, into the car of Alexander Stevenson, 35, 1018 First street, Stowe Township, with such force that Stevenson was killed. Brooks pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter before Judge Harry A. Rowand, in Criminal Court.

Steel Skyscrapers Resist Lightning Assaults

Engineers who inspected the Commonwealth Building, Fourth avenue and Wood street, struck by lightning during a heavy storm late yesterday, drew attention to the slight damage resulting from the bolt.

In erecting large structures, they said, steps are taken to safeguard them from lightning so far as is possible. Although many buildings have been struck in recent years, damage has been slight, and there is no record of serious injuries resulting.

Engineers say statistics show that steel frame structures are less apt than others to draw lightning.

Hitch-Hiker, Gone Four Years, Returns Home

Anthony Plasciak, 21, was at his home today in McKees Rocks after roaming the country for four and a half years. He is glad to be home, too. Maybe because his finances were down to the low level of 45 cents and a car check, good for one ride in Los Angeles.

The hitch-hiker has not come home without laurels. During his four-year vacation he entered himself in several long distance and marathon runs. Anthony claims that last July he broke the record for running down Pike's Peak by making the distance in 54 minutes and 50 seconds. Newspaper clippings which he carries substantiate his claims.

Other trophies were won in other track events, but Anthony ruefully admits that belles of various towns scattered over the nation are now in possession of his prizes.

Woman Hurt as Car and Taxicab Collide at Grant Street and Second Avenue

A 13-year-old girl was dead today and her mother was in the Citizens General Hospital at New Kensington, victims of an automobile accident at Pittsburgh street and Freeport road, Cheswick, last night.

The girl, Abbydell Mahaffey, of 720 Pittsburgh street, Springdale, was killed when an automobile driven by her mother, Mrs. Lydia Mahaffey, 47, skidded in the street car rails and crashed into a tree. Witnesses extricated both from the wrecked machine and rushed them to the hospital, where the girl was pronounced dead of a fractured skull. Mrs. Mahaffey sustained a probable fracture of the skull.

The victims were on their way to the railroad station in Cheswick to pick up the husband and father, D. M. Mahaffey, returning home from work, as had been their daily custom.

Miss Esther Green, 26, of the Strand Hotel, suffered cuts and bruises when the automobile in which she was riding with James Best, 36, also of the Strand Hotel, was hit by a taxi-cab at Second avenue and Grant street early today. She was removed to the Mercy Hospital. Police arrested the cab driver, who said he was L. B. Hall, 28, of 1224 Gannon Alley, McKeesport. He is charged with reckless driving.

CHILD HEALTH WORK AIDED

Today will mark the climax of Child Health Week in the Pittsburgh district. May Day programs are being presented in city and county schools.

The observance of the week began Monday with exhibitions of gymnistic work and games, displays of health posters and lectures. The pupils are, in most cases, responsible for the work.

In collaboration with the schools, the Pittsburgh Child Health Council is offering prizes for the posters which best illustrate Child Health Week. Prizes are offered to the pupils in the public and parochial schools of the county.

Mrs. George E. Alter, chairman of the Allegheny County May Day committee, is supervising today's work.

Several Pittsburgh organizations were co-operating in furthering the interests of Child Health Week. The Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh, in accord with its usual program, conducted clinics for the children.

A statewide movement to protect the 12,000 grade crossings in Pennsylvania and to seek gradual abolition of dangerous intersections of railroads and highways has been launched by a committee headed by Senator Frank J. Harris.

At a meeting in the William Penn Hotel last night it was decided to begin a survey looking toward legislation.

It was shown that 82 per cent of the grade crossings in Pennsylvania have no protection, that 198 persons were killed last year in crossing accidents, while 624 were injured. Of 12,221 crossings in the state only 2,272 are protected.

Senator Harris was elected chairman; Rev. C. A. Voss, Leo G. Griffith and Mrs. J. O. Miller, vice chairmen, and Miss Marguerite Spilman, secretary-treasurer. The committee is composed of 15 persons representing various civic, professional and industrial interests of Pittsburgh.

Results of the survey will be given to the next session of the Legislature.

Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Todays' question: Miss Abbie Graham, authoress, believes that world conditions would be approaching an ideal state if the average person were able to earn his livelihood by one day's work a week and the rest of his time were spent in pleasant leisure and soul culture. Do you think such a state to be one for which we should strive?

Miss Nevins

MISS MARGARET NEVINS, South Hills, secretary: It'd be good if possible. It would make a better world and every one happier. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Freda Levin

FREDA LEVIN, East Liberty, billing machine operator: I don't think the rest of the time would be spent cultivating culture. Many people wouldn't take advantage of it.

Lou Hamburg

LOU HAMBURG, vice president: I imagine a person would go crazy if they acted as this person suggests. That's the trouble with idle persons today. Without activity to keep one occupied, without physical exertion, a person stagnates and falls into mental, moral decay. The average human is not capable of devoting the majority of his time to mental and moral development. It takes necessity—the need of food and clothing—to drive man to that exertion that keeps him happy and intelligent.

Frances Sigal

FRANCES SIGAL, downtown, secretary: Well, I don't know whether it'd be such a good idea or not. I really enjoy work. I wouldn't want to stay home and roll my thumbs six days a week.

Benjamin Levin

BENJAMIN LEVIN, Squirrel Hill, clerk: I don't agree with Miss Graham. People who don't work a lot don't live long, and I want to live. From the looks of things, I'm going to live to be 100, as it is. But I must keep occupied or I'm not happy. That kind of a life is all right for a philosopher, but for the ordinary man, it's not so hot.

T. D. Sheriff

T. D. SHERIFF, downtown, radio credit manager: I expect to die before I go to heaven. One day a week? I wonder if a married man would be expected to spend that one day at home, beating carpet and hanging wall paper?

RETIRING JUDGE FIRST TO WIN FOUR TERMS

Allegheny County Attorneys Pay Tribute to Ability, Integrity During Service

Judge John A. Evans was honored by members of the Allegheny County Bar at a testimonial dinner last night in the William Penn Hotel. The dinner marked his retirement from the bench. He was presented with an autographed testimonial.

In accepting the expression of good will from the members of the bar, Judge Evans said:

"I will prize it more than any expensive gift, because it is a statement under your hand."

TELLS OF TROUBLES

Judge Evans recounted some of the difficulties of the bench, saying that in the handling of cases, "both sides cannot win—somebody has to lose." Although retiring as president judge of Common Pleas Court Judge Evans will not remain idle. He declared that he would be ready to give assistance when called upon. Judge Evans has the distinction of being the dean of Pennsylvania judges in point of service. He has been on the bench for 32 years.

Speakers at the dinner were William Watson Smith, William D. Evans, toastmaster, Judge Ambrose B. Reid, of Common Pleas Court, and Edwin W. Smith. Judge Cohen, oldest jurist in Pennsylvania in point of years, was to have been a speaker, but was unable to attend on account of illness.

PRAISED BY REID

Judge Reid spoke in highest terms of Judge Evans as a jurist and praised his long service to the people of this county.

Edwin W. Smith interspersed his remarks with witticisms, assuring Judge Evans that he knew judges he would like to have helped retire. He told his colleagues that there was no reason why Judge Evans should longer remain on the bench, as he had done his share. He congratulated him on his wisdom and courage. Judge Evans is the only jurist in the state to win four terms.

R. G. Brandt, of 6644 Dalzell place, had a "hunch" yesterday while passing the Commonwealth Building, Fourth avenue and Wood street. Something, he said, urged him to cross the street.

Brandt passes the building daily and always walks on the same side of the street.

$60,000 ASKED IN CONTRACT

George N. Nickell, 825 South Negley avenue, through his counsel Lawrence B. Cook, has asked a writ of attachment be issued against the National Sanding Machine Company, of Chicago, claiming $60,000 damages on an alleged violation of a contract.

Nickell claims that last November he entered into an agreement for the exclusive use of polishing devices, etc., for floor use. He claims he later found that others had been given a similar right and that he was not delivered one of the company's models, known as "Little Brute." 'MAY DAY TREK' TO NEW HOMES ON IN CITY

Fewer Families Moving This Year, Reports From Utilities Concerns Show

Hundreds of Pittsburgh residents this morning went to their offices from one residence to return to a new abode tonight. Moving day started long before the sun was up and will continue until long after dark. Trucks of household goods were seen in all parts of the city as families moved into new homes.

There are not as many families shifting outside the city as did last year, moving concerns report. The supply of residences here is said to be larger than the demand, and the apartment house is proving the favorite of house hunters, rather than the large residences.

The Duquesne Light Company reports that last year 20,000 contract changes were made and their estimates this season is about 15,000. Telephone changes already have reached about 8,000, with about 1,500 more expected.

4TH OF WINTERS GANG CAUGHT

City Detectives Tom Morgan and Walter Monaghan wired detective headquarters from New York today that they had arrested Nick Magnone, 22, described as the fourth member of the Winters gang.

Magnone had admitted 14 robberies and holdups of chain and drug stores in Pittsburgh, the sleuths reported. He will be extradited to Pennsylvania.

The prisoner went to New York three weeks ago with Harriet Amorsa, who since has been imprisoned on a morality charge, the detectives learned.

Magnone is said to be a partner in crime of the three Winters gangsters captured on a Pennsylvania Railroad train near Latrobe recently.

CORONER URGES SAFETY AID

A heavy increase in auto fatalities for the first three months of 1930 today led Coroner W. J. McGregor to appeal to the public to co-operate in helping reduce motor accidents.

During the first three months of the year, 121 persons were killed by automobiles in Allegheny County. This was an increase of 25 deaths over the number killed in the same period last year, Coroner McGregor said.

"If conditions are to be bettered and the wholesale killing of people checked, every pedestrian and every motorist must take heed. Auto fatalities are increasing at an alarming rate. The methods used by safety agencies in checking industrial accidents are proving effective, but cannot be employed in the reduction of auto deaths. Co-operation and care on the part of the motorist and pedestrian is necessary."

BAN ON FLORIDA BEANS EASED

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—Secretary Hyde has modified the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine to provide for movement of peppers and lima and broad beans from that part of Florida lying east and southeast of Ocklockonee River to all except 18 states and the western portion of Florida.

The states to which the three vegetables cannot be moved are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington and that part of Florida lying west of the Ocklockonee River and the territory of Porto Rico.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen (Dem.), of Florida, in announcing that she had been informed of the step taken by the department, said the new regulation provided that "permits will be issued for such movement only on condition that the plants are sprayed and otherwise protected from possible infection in a manner satisfactory to the department."

GIRL TESTIFIES IN PADDLING

ELYRIA, O., May 1.—(AP.)—Before a packed court room, 6-year-old Mary Margaret Gerhartinger yesterday told of receiving a paddling which resulted in the assault and battery charges against her teacher, Mrs. Myrta Bradley, 22, of the New Oberlin district school near here.

Testifying as the last state witness in the trial of Mrs. Bradley, the girl declared the teacher used a wooden paddle and then slapped her face.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Ignatius Gerhartinger, who filed the charges, testified that when Mary came home from school an hour late the evening of February 25, blood flowed from her mouth and she was bruised on the face and body.

The paddle, which Mrs. Bradley has admitted using "but not unnecessarily severely," was made at her request by a pupil, Frank Justin, 13. He testified it was 18 inches long, five inches wide and half an inch thick.

WOOD DUCK AIDS SNARED ROBIN

DENVER.—(INS.)—A wood duck, one of the wildest feathered creatures, flew to the rescue of a robin, which narrowly escaped hanging in a tree at City Park here recently.

Joe Westonrider, a zoo keeper, vouches for the tale, for he saw the wood duck in the act of trying to save the robin, which became entangled in a string in the tree.

Seeing the robin in trouble, a woman summoned Westonrider. The two hurried to the tree, which stood on the edge of the lake, in plain view of the ducks swimming there.

A string in the tree had formed a noose about the robin's neck. Apparently trying to disentangle the bird, the tiny wood duck was attempting to reach it with its bill.

Westonrider cut the string and the robin flew away.

DESIGNERS INDORSE THE RETURN OF COTTON FABRICS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, May 1.—We are cottoning to cotton, judging by its prevalence in various guises in the current collections. And so, King Cotton, who is being given remarkably fine treatment, is in little danger of being deprived of his extensive kingdom. It has been many seasons since we have seen such use made of organdie, cotton net, pique and batiste, especially the embroidered variety. Voile, too, is coming in for its share of exploitation, as is cotton broadcloth for frocks for the very young set. Many of these fabrics are printed in various designs and patterns. Of all the cottons, however, batiste and organdie emerge with signal honors and the assurance of spending a very pleasant season. Organdie is being used in combination with various silk fabrics as well as supplying the light relief to tailored frocks of dark materials, as it is a material capable of lending a crisp accent to even the most commonplace and indifferent dress.

THE DAYTIME ensemble of silk continues to win acclamation here and we believe that it will duplicate its success on your side of the Atlantic. It is so youthfully fresh and coolly comfortable that it would be surprising if it did not win our favor. It is demonstrated this season in many of the new collections and it is already walking abroad in the flower scented soft spring sunshine. The model shown today which is from the establishment of Bruyere is a particularly happy creation and very expressive of the new season. It is of a new crepe de chine called crepe amazone and is cleverly combined with organdie, which is stitched in black and trimmed with flat white linen buttons. The organdie makes the lower half of the close-fitting sleeves and the wide flat collar. A black and white enamel buckle fastens the belt of cut work-crepe.

STITCHED inverted pleats, starting on the blouse are released half way down the skirt and fall into unpressed godets that help the skirt to achieve a graceful hang. With the frock from Bruyere is worn a two-thirds length coat of the same material with an attached cape reaching to the hips. The standing collar and edge of the cape are trimmed with cut-work.

GLIDER RECORD UNRECOGNIZED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 1 (AP.)—Failure to provide himself with a barograph yesterday robbed Jack Barstow, 24, of a new official world's record for sustained flight in a glider after he had soared over Point Loma for 15 hours and 13 minutes in a motorless sail plane, exceeding all previous glider endurance marks.

Barstow's remarkable performance will stand only as an unofficial record because of rules requiring that a barograph be installed in aircraft in order to gain official acceptance of new records.

The young glider expert announced, however, that if wind conditions are favorable he plans to take the air again soon this time with a barograph and attempt to set a new official mark.

Barstow took off at 12:44 p. m. Tuesday in a new Bowlus sail plane of 60-foot spread. He landed at 3:57 a. m. yesterday, setting his powerless craft down within 500 meters of his point of takeoff.

The records exceeded are:

Official American, 9 hours 5 minutes 32 2-5 seconds, established in March this year over Point Loma by Hawley Bowlus, of San Diego.

Official world, 14 hours 10 minutes, established two years ago by Ray Schulz in Germany.

Unofficial world, 14 hours 45 minutes, established several months ago by Lieut. Dinert, German glider pilot.

William Van Dusen, representing the National Aeronautic Association, witnessed the flight and was present when Barstow landed. Although the absence of a barograph cost Barstow the title to an official record, steps were being taken by Van Dusen to secure statements and affidavits from those who witnessed the flight so that Barstow's feat may be certified for its historical interest.

FACTS ON AIR FIELD ASKED

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—The Aeronautics Bureau of the Department of Commerce has requested promoters of a new landing field at Washington, Pa., to furnish information on its physical and financial condition. The information, it was said, will supplement preliminary data on file which it is not considered sufficiently accurate for the bureau to act on a pending application.

The bureau was advised that Washington County aviation interests proposed to convert Wallace Field, now regarded as emergency landing place, into an airport capable of accommodating transport planes. Some aeronautic engineers have informed the bureau that Wallace Field is unsafe for general aviation purposes. It was said at the Department of Commerce, and the inquiry, it was hoped, would augment information on file.

No information that Washington, Pa., is being considered as an air mail stop had been received by the bureau, the information section said, but it was pointed out that air mail planes being smaller than transport craft might be able to use Wallace Field.

Hold No Inquest Over Dead Surveyor

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 1.—The Garrett County authorities held an inquest unnecessary for William Harvey, 50, for 26 years city engineer of Frostburg and former Allegany County surveyor. His body was found in Deep Creek Lake, near Oakland.

Harvey had been missing since April 4. His abandoned automobile was found on a bridge over the lake on the day he disappeared. His pocketbook, containing a large sum of money, was on the seat of the car.

MEET TO HONOR EUCHARIST

CARTHAGE, Tunisia, May 1.—(AP.)—Catholics from all over the world are converging this week on Carthage—now a little town of two hundred houses, but once the greatest city in the western world—for the thirtieth international Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic Church. The ceremonies open May 7.

In the blue water of the bay where the galleys of Rome and Carthage once battled for mastery of the seas, nearly 20 large steamships will lie at anchor from May 7 to 11, the dates, inclusive, of the Congress, after having brought 16,000 pilgrims from all parts of the world.

Among those pilgrims will be many of the highest dignitaries of the church, including approximately 100 bishops and 10 cardinals, headed by the French cardinal Lepicier, legate of the Pope. The pontiff will not attend, it is understood.

The pilgrim ships will include the liners Rochambeau, from New York, and Araguaya, from Boston, bringing 1,000 pilgrims from the United States and Canada.

A French warship has been designated to bring Cardinal Lepicier, the papal legate, from Rome, and he will be welcomed at Tunis as an ambassador by Resident General Manceron, of Tunisia, and by the nominal ruler of the country, the Moslem Bey, of Tunis.

FIGHT ON BEER TAX LOSES

LONDON, May 1.—(AP.)—The Conservatives lost a fight in the House of Commons today for all-British beer. They had two amendments to the beer tax resolutions of the budget. One would have diminished the increased beer duties proposed under the budget; the other would have given a rebate on beer made from home-grown malt hops; but the chancellor of the exchequer would accept neither and a combined Liberal-Labor vote snowed them under.

Sir William Wayland, Conservative, of Canterbury, who moved both amendments, took the history of the beer tax back to the reveling days of Charles II.

"It was beer that built up our nation," he argued. "There is more bad temper caused in one month of women drinking tea than there is in 12 months by men drinking beer."

NEWS AND COMMENT OF THIS AND THAT IN AMUSEMENT REALM

Thousands of Magicians Invading Fort Wayne For I. B. M. Meet

BY GEORGE SEIBEL

Just as the Witches and Wizards used to gather on the Brocken, 4,000 American magicians will have a grand round up in Fort Wayne June 3-6. It is then that the convention of the I. B. M., of which W. W. Durbin, of Canton, O., is president. All the prominent magicians, Dai Vernon and Blackstone, are members of the International Brotherhood and try to attend the conventions when their duties permit.

But the great bulk of the membership is made up of the semi-professional and amateur prestidigitators of whom there are at least 50 in and about Pittsburgh. Lucky Ring No. 13 is located here and always meets on the 13th of the month, and the members are never so happy as when the 13th falls on a Friday.

George Seibel

Anthony Maccaro is president of the Pittsburgh Ring; Harry C. Schreck is vice president; William Pavey is treasurer, and Miss I. C. Eyer secretary. About 25 of the Pittsburgh sorcerers will attend the convention.

GREAT CONTEST AHEAD

The famous contest between Moses and the magicians of Pharaoh will be thrown into the shade by the contest that will take place June 5 and 6 in the Mizpah Shrine Auditorium at Fort Wayne. There are 86 prizes offered, including a skull that can be produced from a hat; a floating glass of milk, a color-changing handkerchief, a disappearing cigaret and a five-dollar cash prize offered by Thurston for the best trick utilizing flowers.

Maybe that's vanishing money.

Among those who will be present is Count von Luckner, the German raider whose ship "Seeadler," made history during the war. Luckner is a talented amateur magician which may account for the mysterious disappearance of his vessel after every raid.

During the four nights of the convention the visiting magicians will give four performances of magic, with about 100 of the best magicians in the country showing their most marvelous feats.

PARADE OF MIRACLES

But the great feature of all these conventions is always the parade, in which several thousand masters of the black art move through the streets of the convention city.

This year the parade will comprise 43 units and floats, three bands, two drum corps, one calliope and one Capehart Automatic Orchestrope—whatever that is.

W. W. Durbin, president of the organization, has been prominent in Ohio politics—and the ballot boxes will bear watching when he's around. He has a theater of his own in Kenton—Egyptian Hall—which seats 200 people and has a stage perfectly adapted for all manner of magical illusions. In his theater are about 200 portraits of men eminent in many professions throughout the United States who are magicians in their spare time, like Durbin, who is a bank president and a manufacturer as well as editor of "The Linking Ring," the monthly magazine of the sorcerers.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

As Per Fannie Brice's Request

Love is a shawl of rich and vivid lace,
Made from the stuff of dreams that strangely fade,
There is a first caress to form the base,
Slowly it grows, for shawls are slowly made;

There is a knot for each remembered kiss,
Placed as a memory of tender hours,
Always the shawl of love must grow like this—
Sweet and mysterious as morning flowers.

Wear it a while for all the world to see,
Revel in all its soft pursuasive lure,
And at the proper time, all tenderly,
Lay it away—for love is never sure;

Lay it away—and if perchance you do—
Love may begin another shawl for you.

—Dan Wahn.

Bravo!

It is a stale accusation that dramatic critics go into a huddle and talk over the new plays during the intermission and then arrive at an opinion. The Guild's "Hotel Universe" production, which runs for two hours without intermission, was received with divided verdicts. Most of the reviewers praised it highly and the others scorched it. The Guild advertised the next day adding: "There appears to be a difference of opinion."

Most amusing however is the New York Amusement Guide's observation concerning the Guild's advertisement. In this manner: "It's funny that those widely diverted opinions occur over a play that has no intermission or chance for conclave."

Irony

One of the swelegantly appointed hot-spots in the 50s is a replica of Stanford White's mirror room in the old Madison Square Garden apartments. The hot-spot is operated by Jack Clifford, who married Evelyn Nesbit long after Miss Nesbit divorced Harry K. Thaw who killed Stanford White for paying ardent attention to Evelyn. The hot-spot's best customer is Harry K. Thaw.

Pun My Soul!

Ruth Etting can make up a sentence containing the word sensuous like this: "How long sensuous kissed kiddo?"

A Wisey

It was Lester Semel's eavesdropping that brought it here. He testifies to the fact that Beatrice Lillie is as swift on the snippy comeback off stage as she is on. A pest approached her at a party and said:

"My dear, I spent six dollars to see you in your last show."

"Pul-leez!" flipped La Lillie as she gave that indefinable toss of her head, "refunds are made at the box-office, not here!"

Breaking the Spell

Among other romantic ditties last season and the season before was "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby." The delightful song hit was in the "Blackbirds" revue. Ada Ward helped make it famous.

Ada who was so romantic and whose songs put you in the same mood became a bride in February we have just learned. She became the wife of a chap named Anderson Gilmer.

He's an embalmer!

It Could Happen

Counsellor Fred Kaplan Matthews offers the one about the darky from Alabama who decided to get himself educated, and thus fool the politicians who disfranchised colored voters. When he was questioned for the literacy test he proudly chirped:

"I'se been educated plenty; as me anything!"

"Do you know the Constitution of these United States?" he was sternly asked.

"Yes, indeedy!" he beamed.

"Do you know the name of the tenth President?"

"Yes, siree!" he replied with great satisfaction.

"Well, then," was the next query, "do you know what habeas corpus means?"

"Hmmmmmm," hummm'd the stumped licorice stick. "Ah shuah does. It means that this heah black boy cain't vote in Alabam!"

Merciless Truths

By Elizabeth Webb Russell: You should tell your wife everything you are sure she'll find out. . . Someone had kindly suggested 20 ways to make a million. It would be swell if he would suggest a million ways to make a 20. . . She was only a garbageman's daughter, but she sure knew all the dumps. . . One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, but it has its suspicions.

Oop!

Ring Lardner, who once telegraphed his regrets that he couldn't attend a dinner because it was the children's night out and he had to stay home with the nurse, offered this alibi in dodging another affair:

In response to an invitation to a press agents' dinner Lardner wired:

"I wish I could make it but I cannot and it is a matter of real regret as I have always yearned to be at a banquet where most of the speeches were in a foreign tongue."

The Art of Love

By Philip R. Davis: Never tell a woman you love her when a kiss will do as well.

That's Awl There Is, Etc.

Dear Peck's Blab Boy: affectionately special deliveries Mrs. Martin J. Wagner: to ease your mind a little on your controversy with Ethel Barrymore I am writing to remind you that you had it coming to you, young man. Is it any wonder that she says you dramatic critics ought to be shot after you wrote sometime ago in one of your gossip departments that her new heart was a rich young society chap of Pittsburgh?"

But what has that to do with dramatic criticism?

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.

A general pro-and-con topic concerns the signing of those radio favorites, Amos and Andy, to a million RKO contract. We are wondering out here whether their flick debut will affect the Black Crow domination of Charlie Mack and his Moran for the moment. Charlie cleaned up on his first talky, "How Come?" or whatever 'tis called. Not only did he get a flat weekly bulge check for his histrionic services, but he cashes in on the profits of the film. He has a new comedy ready to burst forth, "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F." I think he is supposed to get busy soon on another out-loud. This has been postponed, however, pending the outcome of George Moran's (the one Mack let go) suit against him to forbid him using the name of Moran unless he, Moran, gets a cut on the money. With such confusion, rare stimulus is given any table conversation.

SALESMEN SURPLUS

Investigation reveals that there are five motoring door-selling salesmen for every house in Beverly Hills. These persistent souls endeavor to sell hardy tenants anything from a baby grand piano to a new system of regulating telephones. A homesteader simply must have a maid sufficiently strong willed to shoo salesmen.

Mrs. John Barrymore calls her husband "Winkie."

TOWN CARS NOW

NEW MOTOR PURCHASES: Alice White has upped and bought herself a town car.

Zoe Atkins (W. K. writer) has taken unto herself a town car also.

Alice White.

Looks like the town cars are beginning to be fairly popular in Hollywood. For years, the streets, even at a premier, have been practically barren of this particular model. The re sale value amounted to little and in pictures us girls must narrow an eye to the approach of the wolf.

ANOTHER LOST DOG

Now Ken Maynard is offering a reward to the Beemark who finds and returns his lost St. Bernard dog. It's a profitable business here, returning lost dogs.

The high cost of taxation on homes is filling apartment houses. Beverly Hills' house owner plunks down taxes amounting to $800 and more a year. And this doesn't include taxes on furniture, automobiles, et cetera.

Knows Hero

Members to Choose Keystone Officers

The first annual meeting of the Keystone Athletic Club will be held May 13, when the first election to the board of directors will be held. Candidates to be voted upon for the three-year term are E. H. Eggleston, J. E. McCalmont, George T. Ladd, W. Y. Cocken and James B. Kelly. Two-year term, Charles J. Caspar, Harry H. Hunter, George W. Kepler, J. M. C. White and MacGilvray Shiras; one-year term, E. Curtis Clark, L. G. Griffith, P. R. Hilleman, C. J. Nicklas and Thomas Fitzgerald.

Woman Badly Hurt In Door of Trolley

Caught in the door of a Negley avenue street car, at Fifth and Liberty avenues, Mrs. Rose Helf, 34, of 332 Helen street, McKees Rocks, last night suffered contusions of the back and legs, police reported. She was taken to Mercy Hospital. The accident occurred while Mrs. Helf was alighting from the car, according to police report.

BAKER NAMES TECH AIDE

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, has announced the appointment of Dr. Charles Watkins, chairman of the faculty of Margaret Morrison, as his assistant. Watkins will take over his new position July 1, continuing to head the faculty of Margaret Morrison.

Watkins has been with Carnegie Tech since 1915. A graduate of Washington and Lee University, he took degrees at Vanderbilt and Johns Hopkins. From Johns Hopkins, he came to Pittsburgh as associate professor of chemistry at Margaret Morrison, later being appointed head of the department of general science there. Last year he succeeded Dr. Mary Bidwell Breed as director of Margaret Morrison.

Duquesne Graduates Organize Sections

Geographical location will now determine the membership branches of the Duquesne University Alumni Association. One of the first divisions to be formed comprises the section south of the Monongahela and Ohio rivers within Allegheny County. Officers of the association are: Attorney James M. McIntyre, president; Miss Anne Lavelle, vice president; Charles Bischopf, treasurer, and John C. Stafford, secretary.

Girl, Descendant Of Pittsburgh Judge, Weds

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—The marriage of Miss Eleanore Shannon Scoville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lacey Scoville, and Jonathan Godfrey Wells, Jr., took place yesterday in the chapel of the Beloved Disciple in the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

The bride is a descendant of Nathaniel Wolfe, of Louisville, Ky., who was attorney general of Kentucky during the Civil War, and of Judge Peter Shannon, of Pittsburgh, who was appointed by President Grant to the Supreme Court of Dakota Territory.

Wells is a descendant of Thomas Wells, who settled in Ipswich, Mass., early in the seventeenth century, and of Theophilus Eaton, first governor of the New Haven Colony.

Coraopolis Concert To Finance Trip

The proceeds will be used to send the organization to Philadelphia to compete for state honors on May 9 and 10. Coraopolis will represent Class B schools of Southwestern Pennsylvania.

SEEK CHANGE IN CHARTER

A petition was filed before Judge James B. McFarlane of the Common Pleas Court, asking leave to amend the charter of the Pittsburgh Newsboys' Home. The directors want leave to amend the document so as "to be of assistance to other charitable undertakings as may be necessary for the improvement of the spiritual, mental and physical conditions of boys or youths."

The directors also ask that the board be increased from seven to 15 members as follows: W. S. McClintock, George L. Hallman, W. A. Steinmeyer, N. B. Cahill, C. B. Hornton, Simon Patterson, N. A. Weed, Dr. T. S. Swan, G. B. Shrum, Mrs. James I. Kay, Mrs. N. A. Weed, Mrs. C. Longnecker, Mrs. J. M. Curtin, Mrs. W. H. Rea and Mrs. Charles S. Curry. Mr. McClintock is the chairman of the board.

Farewell Banquet In Honor of Priest

The Rev. John Sedlak, assistant priest of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church, North Side, was honored at a testimonial banquet last night in St. Gabriel's hall, Superior and California avenues. The dinner was tendered by members of the church as a farewell parting before the priest takes charge of a new pastorate in Charleroi. The Rev. Father Sedlak has been assistant pastor of the North Side church for two years, coming there from his temporal pastorate at Seton Hill College, Greensburg, prior to which he studied at St. Vincent Seminary.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System — Induce Youthful Activity—Keep Body in Splendid Condition—Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health-building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at all Mays & Liggett's Drug Stores, or any drug store in America—take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you will feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

How Long are You Likely to Live?

"ON or about such-and-such a day you will die—unless you do something to change the conditions that are killing you."

Medical scientists now believe that inside each human body is written more or less accurately the date of that body's death. Accidents may cut short a life prematurely—careful living may succeed in lengthening life beyond the predicated span—but aside from that doctors may make sane and scientific deductions from the signs of death or breakdown which the body discloses.

These masters of "prophetic medicine" can delve into the secret of the body's workings, discover where energy is being wasted or machinery is breaking down—and accurately forecast how long the patient will live—if habits and conditions of life remain unchanged. Read the details of this astonishing discovery—next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Stolen Russian Art Treasures Bought for Almost Nothing

Valuable old paintings, statues and priceless historic relics are being smuggled out of Russia and sold to boarding house keepers, cabaret owners and even taxicab owners for a fraction of their real worth. Ignorance of values, lack of appreciation of art on the part of those now in official authority have produced an extraordinary situation. And it makes interesting reading—this story of the topsy-turvy, Alice-in-Wonderland upset of things in Soviet Russia—next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Found—Bones of Boadicea—Old Britain's Fighting Queen

In a sandstone coffin, just outside of London, has been unearthed the mighty skeleton of a woman six feet seven inches tall. They are believed to be the bones of heroic Boadicea, the blonde warrior queen who killed 80,000 Romans and almost freed England from the clutch of Emperor Nero. Back of this important archaeological discovery is the amazing story of the barbaric queen, who, with blazing eyes and streaming yellow hair drove her chariot along the battle line and wreaked vengeance on the Roman hordes. Especially interesting to lovers of history. Next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Why SQUIBB'S Dental Cream COMBATS tooth decay so effectively

It is now known that the cause of tooth decay is germs which generate acids that attack the teeth. Your tooth-brush can't dislodge them from the crevices and fissures of the teeth. But Squibb's Dental Cream will protect your teeth against germ acids. It is made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, a wonderful antacid. Plenty to penetrate crevices and render germ acids harmless.

Visit your dentist and let him professionally clean your teeth and gums. Then use Squibb's Dental Cream regularly and thoroughly. Your teeth will keep their gleaming luster and remain much freer from decay. Get Squibb's at any druggist's.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

Barry Fails to Answer Chickie's Message

CHAPTER LXXIV

Chickie left the telegraph office quickly, unnerved because the operator glanced at her. Because he read her message slowly—nodding.

For the first time she had admitted the reality of her fear, and this brought it upon her stark, intensified, alive. brought it with a fresh mental shock as it might have come to Jennie or to Mary.

She had that [illegible] that wish to shield [illegible] covering it. [illegible] She let herself be carried along with the [illegible] leaving the depot, let herself get [illegible] and shoved. It was [illegible] movement escaping [illegible] ment from her thoughts.

As she was about to get on the train she saw [illegible] Selma Norris, a [illegible] quisitive girl, watching [illegible] fire across the [illegible] sped back through the crowds [illegible] out into the street again. [illegible] turned her steps hurriedly, avoiding the [illegible] streams of [illegible] from the buildings on either side of the street.

She walked irresolutely to a long bridge. Started across. She paused to stare downward, then she shuddered. Horrified that — plunging down — she turned from it. A breathless heat rushed into her face.

And she thought of the message she had sent. It seized her anew with panic. Admitting it! Believing it! Flinging it broadcast—calling him back.

Why—why had she? Perhaps—oh, perhaps her thoughts brought a faintness through her. She bit her lips afraid of the heavy knocking thing that was now her heart.

He would read that message. She could see his firm, vital hands holding the yellow slip tremble; see his eyes sicken.

But he would come to her. She knew this. He would take her hands quietly and more tragic than their parting would be the sorrow of their meeting. There would be always that stillness in his face for the dream and the beauty were passed.

Chickie Alarmed

She thought of this with anguish—thought of it and tears that she could not stop poured into her eyes, made her throat ache. Oh—hard to have him back like this, hard to meet forever a gentle coldness in his look.

And suddenly she said: "I won't! No." Her impulse was wild again—her impulse hurled her off the bridge. She said to herself quietly: "It would be better—much better."

For a long while after this she remained mute, her eyes following a pearly cloud that drifted to and fro like a sea shell on the water.

And then he stood before her again but not gentle now—not with white, stricken face. His eyes were hot, demanding. "What do you mean by this? Listens good! How dare you send that message through Moore?"

She pressed her hands against the earth, trembling, shutting the image from her. No he would never speak like that—no.

And he wouldn't want her hurt. He would never send her away to bear it alone.

But this fear took root now in her mind and flowered cruelly. It nourished on her own distraction.

Of course. Listens good! Why should it happen now? How could it? And he might think it all a trick—think it just a ruse to win him back. She had read of things like this.

That night she dreamed of this. The next day, when no answer came, alarm seized her.

Murder Case

It happened that just then the newspapers were filled with an ugly murder—a young girl's body found in a cellar. She had been killed, perhaps in accident, but to cover up some other frenzied crime.

Now that she was dead—and had let herself be murdered—for it amounted to this—that she might escape shame, now all her love was told and every little detail and all the agony laid bare. Chickie read the columns in a still terror.

She said to Janina at lunch: "Isn't that ghastly?"

Janina shrugged. "Just as I told you. Innocence—women let themselves be done to death. They let the world hound them like beasts. If they had the courage, they could get away with it! But now all your dear, good people will clamor that the murderer be found. They are the murderers—filled the poor, lone devil with such insane misery she'd risk death rather than brook their opinions. Well as our good friend, the Mysterious Stranger, points out, it takes the race with the highly developed 'moral sense' to create hells for one another."

"Yes—but listen, Janina, would you think a man who ever loved a girl would desert her in a time like that?"

"The desertion, my dear, usually takes place before the murder."

"But those letters she wrote to him. If he ever cared for her, he would come back—"

"Suffering Satan! If you hand me a line like this, Chickie, have the ice water

Barry Silent

"But it's a man's concern as well as the girl's isn't it?"

Seeing that he can escape contemplation of the simple expediency of flight and she can escape only through the tragedy of death, I'd say it was the girl's concern."

She went back to work feeling that every impulse was a separate anguish. They shook and mounted. She was afraid of her own breath.

Now from dreading this meeting with him she was driven with a madness lest it might never be.

She went to the telegraph office—but a different station this time and sent a second wire.

Barry, please answer. Let me know at once. Are you coming?"

The next day and the next, but still no word—still the silence.

Saturday afternoon Chickie remained to finish a letter, remained to avoid Janina and Stella. She looked across the alley—long and unblinking. The sun was in her mind. She wondered where he was, if he'd suffer, learning this.

Suddenly her nerves shrilled. Learning this of her! She pressed her face against the window, mute, trembling. She waited while the faint heat swept about her, waited as the terror leaped and sank again, leaving that weakness, that lashing fright so that she had an idea of grabbing up her hat, running and running. She didn't know where. But away—into some far, hidden spot. And no one would hear of her again, no one would ever learn of this—oh, be sure of that!

Meets Jake

Driven like this, she hurried up Montgomery street. In a moment she bumped headlong against another that towered, that laughed exultantly. "Just as I want it to be! Toppling into my arms. Helena, my dear—after many years! But I've waited, you see!"

It was Jake. She was unable to speak; unable to meet the warm, friendly eyes.

But Jake clasped her hand. Its magnetism heartened her—strong thing it was to hold. Seeing her confused, almost bewildered, he said, teasing: "Nice day, Miss Bryce? Real pleasant weather we're having? Well, Helena, dear, up now and speak!"

In a nervous excitement: "Well Mr. Jake an' where do you hail from, if I may make so bold as to ask? And where are you going?"

"With you, my dear, and I may make so bold as to assert it!"

He took her arm in his cozy, intimate way as though they were in the habit of meeting so. He said: "I've been away, Chickie, and also I've been watching my time and waiting. It seems to have come! Since such is such, how about a nice, tasty bite to eat?"

"I've had lunch, thank you!"

"You little liar. You haven't touched a morsel since the last time I fed you. Step lively—the chariot waits!"

"I can't, Jake—no, really—" And because of the sick, tightening thing that drew at her throat, she swayed a little.

Jake glanced at her with kind, shrewd eyes. "I won't keep you long, Helena. But let us two have a cup of tea like two chummy old maids together. That won't compromise you in the eyes of God, or man, will it?"

THE CRYSTAL GAZER -:- -:- -:- DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

THE CRYSTAL GAZER — growing Gloriette — falls into a dream and sees the story of her doings. "If I marry for money and let Love fly by."

There are young things, both boy and girl, with bright, modern minds, whom nothing modern passes by, who seriously mean to hunt for money-marriage, without Love in the bargain.

Well, love and money are a Cinderella dream. Love without money can keep you happy forever, but money without the bread of love turns into a "catrophe" for the lady with a heart.

Money is a wonderful and precious thing. It is ease, it drives out fear of being old and of leaving the ones we love, it helps children and old people—the helpless of the world, even the animals, the forests, the beautiful things that dress our world up for us. And we all try to get and keep all we can of it.

But the girl who deliberately makes a pot of gold her goal in marriage—a delicate business enough if you go into it with honest love—is making a vast mistake.

Start with a flivver, and work together for the Rolls-Ritz. That you care for the person you work with is the bright star in the crystal.

Gloriette, if you could follow your fortune in the haunted crystal, the last picture you would see of yourself, if you had married for money alone, would be flying afield again with your net, crying on Love to "come back here, little boy of hearts, I've got to have you somewhere in my scheme of things!"

And would he laugh and come back?

Madge Turns to Task of Settling 'Kitchen Quarrel'

Mechanically I echoed Katherine's amused laugh as she told me that Mrs. Ticer had taken refuge in my mother-in-law's room from Katie's wrath. I was anything but mirthful, however. I was not so sure that my little kinswoman's facetious words concerning a rolling pin might not have some slight foundation, for Katie's anger when fully aroused is not particularly disciplined.

"I know, old dear," Katherine's voice was suddenly sympathetic. "This is certainly a heroic home-coming for you. An attempted burglary, a feud in the kitchen, your mother-in-law ready for an altitude flight and me hurrying to get a train—I hate to leave you like this, old thing—can't Noel do with another nurse till tomorrow?"

"No, he can't," I said shortly. "You know how I want you here, and I do appreciate your offering to stay, but Noel needs you sorely. There's one thing you can do for me, though, if you will."

"Name it," she returned energetically.

"Try to keep Mother Graham and Mrs. Ticer up here until after I've had a session with Katie," I said, turning to the door.

"You've handed me some task, Lady," she returned with a wry grin. "I heard Mother Graham announce her decision to go down and settle that ape once for all, not two minutes ago. Why she hasn't started I don't know, unless Mrs. Ticer has begged her to wait a little. She's really a sensible dear, you know, our neighbor. I don't think she's above nagging Katie a little, and rubbing things in a bit when she gets a chance, but she doesn't hear the girl any real ill will, and I imagine she'll do her best to calm Mother Graham down.

"Now that she's roused her up by an account of her clash with Katie," I said cynically, for I was in a pettish mood, which included my neighbor.

"I don't think she meant to tell Mother Graham about it. Unfortunately, the poor woman had to go somewhere, for I myself heard Katie shout at the top of her voice 'You better get out of my kitchen, you beef head of cabbage' and while I am sure Mother Graham did not catch the words, she is getting quite deaf, you know, she heard the shouting and saw Mrs. Ticer come scurrying upstairs. No, that is not the word. Mrs. Ticer couldn't scurry. She stalked majestically.

"Oh, dear!" I said childishly, aghast at this latest manifestation of my little maid's temperament or temper. "Whatever shall I do with Katie?"

"What you've always done, using rare good sense," Katherine retorted. "Take her as is, use a metaphorical hickory switch as much as you dare, and pacify the innocent bystanders as best you can. But don't get rid of her. She's a pill, also a plaster, but she smooths the corners as nobody else would do."

"Don't I know it?" I retorted. "But she is a trial!"

"Amen," Katherine boomed. Then her lips quirked into a grin.

"There's one good thing," she said. "She's developing originality in her vegetable vocabulary of epithets. She did not call Mrs. Ticer as 'booch of soup greens.'"

"For which Allah be praised," I said with the first stirring of mirth I had felt since I came back from The Larches. But as I went down the stairs toward the kitchen I found myself dreading immeasurably the coming interview with Katie.

Invariably, my procedure upon the occasions of similar outbursts has been to take her by the shoulders and give her a firm command to stop her nonsense. But today I felt curiously disinclined to touch her. She had worn my patience almost to the breaking point, I told myself. And without speaking to her I walked to the stove and after shaking it down and putting on more coal I went to the vegetable bins in the pantry and brought back some vegetables to the sink, where I began to peel them.

For a few seconds, the sobs continued unabated. Then they lessened, and after a minute ceased altogether. I did not see the apron come cautiously down from Katie's head, but I sensed that it had, and after another long minute, during which I industriously peeled potatoes, my little maid's voice, curiously subdued, asked:

"Why for you do dot, Missis Graham?"

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Trouser Decade

Now that women are taking up trousers as a fad, they are beginning to look positively effeminate. And the first thing we know, man will either invent some more rational garment—or go back to petticoats.

Whoever invented trousers had either a keen sense of humor or a misguided urge to make the world safe for modesty.

Modesty is a beautiful thing—but after all, the average man could safely display his calves without being TOO much of a temptation to the women.

Even golf-knickers, which are the most picturesque, becoming and comfortable thing a man can wear, have not entirely undermined woman's morale.

Apparently a man's whole life is centered around his trousers. The proudest moment of his existence is that in which he puts on his first long trousers. And next to that his greatest thrill is his first pair of white flannel trousers.

Tell a man that the country is going to the dogs, or that he is getting bald, and he will remain unperturbed—but tell him that his trousers are slipping, and it is as though the world were reeling from under him.

You may rub powder into a man's coat lapel or rain tears down his waistcoat, but beware how you trifle with the integrity of his white flannel trousers. A single spot upon them will blot out all life's brightness for him.

The greatest crime that a bride can commit is to hang her husband's trousers upside down across the chair. That is the unpardonable indignity which makes him wonder, for the first time, why he ever married her.

Trousers are like typewriters and automobiles. Some great genius is always inventing a new "improvement" to make them harder to understand. Never until a woman tries to put a new pocket in her husband's trousers, does she suspect all their secret combinations and mysteries.

There are more belts, tabs, bands, buttons and ingenious devices on a man's trousers than there are breakable amendments to the Constitution. Their initial cost is comparatively little—but their upkeep is simply tremendous.

When men wore petticoats they had more time to make love and write poetry. Look at Solomon, who wrote the world's greatest porm—and had 700 women to hide behind his skirts! He had no trousers to absorb and distract him! It was easy to love Solomon, in all his glory.

But what proves the power and beauty of woman's love is her ability to love a man in PLUS-FOURS!

And by that same token, a man's ability to love a woman in beach pajamas is a tribute to the unquenchable quality of romance.

GIRL UNAFRAID

By GLADYS JOHNSON

with anger, miserably aware that Paul had roused from sleep on the lounge and was drinking in the scene with one scarlet ear, she defended herself.

"You have no right to say that to me, Aunt Stel. I didn't want to say anything so—so soon, but—well, Ken and I are engaged. We're going to be married—soon—so, you see!"

"Married!" hotly, from Neil.

"Married!" a derisive cackle from Aunt Stel. "Well, let me tell you, young lady, you're not pulling the wool over my eyes! Bet knows all about your fine sheik—there's a girl works in her office has a sister in Parker's office, and your Mr. Gleason isn't engaged to marry you because he's going to marry his boss's daughter. He's like many another rich young fellow—takin' his fun with a poor girl before he marries a rich one. More fool you are for falling for his fine talk!"

"I suppose Bet knows more about it than—than Ken or—or me!" said Ardeth in a stifled voice. She felt weak and sick. And dreadfully alone.

"At any rate she's not such a fool as you! An' here's one thing you're going to learn, my lady, if you're going to stay on here. You're going to give up this chasin' about at night. Come home this hour again an' you'll find my door locked!"

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

DR. COPELAND

We are living today in an age of great activity. It is necessary that we have the proper food to keep the body in good condition. We must have it to enable our hearts and muscles to do their work.

One hears much about a balanced diet. How many are there who know what this means? Even if they do realize its importance there are too many either deliberately or without intent who go merrily on their way. They eat wrongly and in consequence suffer the penalties of broken health.

Every housewife must feel the responsibility of choosing the right food to keep her family physically fit. There are certain simple rules to follow. It requires the application of a little intelligence, of course, but it will pay in the long run to put thought and care into the selection of the right things to eat.

The important foods which produce energy and repair body waste are divided into three general classes—proteins, carbohydrates and fats. A balanced diet calls for these food elements in the following proportions.

One part of protein made up of the flesh foods, like meats, eggs and the dairy products. These are for building and repairing the muscles and framework of the body.

Three parts of fats, such as are found in butter, cream, oils and cooking fats, oily nuts and fat meats. These furnish energy and round out the body. They give flexibility to the joints and the muscles.

Six parts of carbohydrates, made up of sugars and starches, such as potatoes, cereals, breads, sugars and other sweets. These furnish heat and energy.

There are other foods, also, that are needed to provide the mineral salts. These elements go to make the teeth, bones and other tissues of the body. The foods must contain roughage and a sufficient vitamin content to protect the body from disease.

Meals are not necessarily well balanced even when they contain one of each class of foods, for much depends upon the proportions used. Do not use too many similar foods, variety should be the rule.

If you have meat for dinner, you should not include a dessert made up of milk and eggs. If you do, you will be supplying more protein than is necessary. If the meal includes no meat, but bread, butter and vegetables, then you will have a balanced meal by including a custard or rice pudding made mostly of milk.

As long as you strike a good weekly average of all classes of foods necessary to maintain health, you will be keeping on the safe side. That is, if you lack at one meal a part of the balanced diet, it can be made up at the next meal.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, May 2

The astral influences for this day assist in decided gain and divers advantages mainly secured by personal diligence, hard work and sagacity. Much substantial benefit should follow the breaking up of old congestions and obstructions, with the assistance of elderly persons and institutions, as well as large corporations and secret orders. The personal affiliations should also prove most felicitous. Be alert as to deception and subtlety, especially with writings.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a year of substantial improvement in affairs through the removal of crystallized and frustrating conditions. It is advisable to seek assistance from elderly persons and institutions, close corporations and secret societies in launching new projects. But be cautious to leave no loopholes for fraud or deception in signing papers. Private attachments will prove felicitous.

A child born on this day should be versatile, diligent and resolute and should accumulate substantial possessions through its individual effort, as well as through the favoritism of elderly persons and institutions. Its private life should be happy.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Party Introductions

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have asked a boy friend to a party some of us girls are giving. What is the correct way to introduce him to the other girls and boys? V. P.

INTRODUCE him first to the girls, by saying, "Miss Lady, may I present Mr. Gentleman?" Or, more informally, by using only the names: "Miss Allen, Mr. Worden." Or, if you know both very well, "Miss Allen, this is Mr. John Worden," or, most informally, "Mary, this is John Worden."

When you introduce him to the other boys, it is necessary to mention only the names, "Mr. Worthington, Mr. Johnson."

Engagements

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please inform me whether it is considered good form or poor form for an engaged couple to send printed announcements of their betrothal to friends and relatives in lieu of publication? C.

IT IS NOT good form to send formal announcements of an engagement. The best form for announcing an engagement is for the girl to write notes to her friends a day or two before the announcement is to be publicly made—for instance, in the newspapers, or at a special party.

Wilmington Sponsorship Reported More Active In General Motors

Report was current in Wall Street to the effect that Wilmington interests long identified with the General Motors Corporation have resumed a more active part in the affairs of that company. It is expected that this development will be reflected in the future in the market action of the stock. General Motors came through the first quarter showing its dividend requirements covered by a fair margin, and with current figures indicating that this company together with its greatest competitor is getting the bulk of the new business. It is expected that second-quarter earnings will be substantially better though, of course, not nearly so satisfactory as in the June quarter of last year.

Actually the Steel Corporation's first quarter results, showing the equivalent of $3.44 a share earned on the present common capital, proved substantially better than Wall street had anticipated. A study of the figures, however, reveals that preliminary forecasts were quite accurate so far as profits from actual operations were concerned. Net income from operations of $33,581,171 left a balance of $3.15 a share for the common, or just about equivalent to unofficial estimates of between $3 and $3.25. Special income, however, in the form of interest accruing on recent tax refunds brought total net income to $35,777,807, equal to an additional 29 cents a share on the common.

The corporation it would appear, was very conservative in setting up its income statement. The management was exceptionally liberal, it seems, in its charges-offs to cover depreciation and depletion in the period. Whereas net earnings were some $10,600,000 less than in the first quarter of 1929, the charge against such earnings to cover depreciation and depletion was $14,813,529, or almost $100,000 more than in the March quarter last year. It is indicated that final net results might have been closer to $3.75 a share had the management applied the same ratio as a year ago to this item. The saving interest resulting from bond retirement brought such charges down by $1,782,409 compared with a year ago, equal to 20 cents a share on the stock, or at the rate of about $1 a share annually as officially estimated.

For the first time in a long while the end of the month and its temporary demand for funds passed without the usual strain in the call money market. Funds were in good supply yesterday with offerings free at 3½ per cent in the outside market, though the official rate was maintained at the 4 per cent renewal figure. The call on the part of banks, usually heavy on the closing day of the month, assumed only normal daily proportions. The average renewal rate for the month was 4 per cent compared with 3.72 per cent in March and 6.78 per cent a year ago. The highest for the month was 4 per cent and the lowest 3½ per cent contrasted with the high of 16 and a low of 7 per cent in April last year.

This month's review of the credit situation by the Federal Reserve Bank in New York states that member bank indebtedness has been reduced to the lowest point since November of 1924. The report calls attention to the increase of $875,000,000 in loans against security collateral by New York member banks for their own account since the beginning of the year. It is pointed out, on the other hand, that commercial borrowings to April 16 show a reduction of some $400,000,000 since January, contrasted with an increase of more than that amount in the same period last year. It finds loans on securities made direct to customers by banks, which increased rather sharply last year with the break in the market, have been gradually but steadily liquidated and are now smaller than at the beginning of the year. This is probably true at New York, but Monday's consolidated weekly condition statement shows loans against securities at a relatively high figure.

The bear crowd kept up a drumfire attack on Steel common throughout yesterday, and were successful in forcing that industrial leader to new low levels for the movement, some 20 points under the peak. The selling movement in New York was aggressive at times despite the unexpectedly good showing of the corporation's results for the first quarter. It was explained in the early afternoon by the statement of the Iron Age, the weekly trade publication, that price weakness in iron and steel has become more pronounced. This naturally fitted in with reports current since the beginning of the week that official announcement of a cut in principal steel products, such as shapes, plates and bars, probably as much as $2 a ton, is likely soon.

Connellsville Line to Open November 1

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

OPERATIONS ON THE Connellsville extension of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway are expected to start by November 1. Completion of the line has been delayed by the construction of high level bridges over the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers. The Monongahela bridge will be completed by August 1 and the Youghiogheny bridge three months later. The balance of the new line will be ready before the completion of the bridges.

The 38-mile line is the heaviest railroad construction job ever undertaken in this district. The Monongahela bridge will cross the river at a height of 150 feet and the Youghiogheny bridge will be 200 feet high.

No additional rolling stock will be required for the operation of the extension, which will link the Pittsburgh and West Virginia with the Western Maryland. The connection will make physically possible the proposed Taplin trunk line from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Seaboard. The trunk line is to become part of the Wabash system under the consolidation plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Profits Decline

REDUCED MINING AND INDUSTRIAL activity in this district have unfavorably affected the earnings of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia since last fall. Net income after taxes and all charges in the first quarter of 1930 was $293,653, which was equivalent to 97 cents a share on 302,351 shares of stock. This compared with $605,010 or $2 a share in the first quarter of 1929. March net income was $57,302 compared with $185,911 a year ago. Net income in the full year of 1929 was equivalent to $6.89 a share compared with $6.66 in 1928.

The stock is on a $6 annual basis so that dividend requirements of $1.50 for the quarter were not fully earned. Traffic has been showing some improvement during the past month, but the gains have been spasmodic in character. The last dividend was payable April 30. Directors are scheduled to take action on the next payment in June.

Financing Completed

FINANCING OF THE EXTENSION was completed last month with the offering of $6,000,000 of first 30-year 4½s by Brown Bros. & Co. This brings the total financing of the extension to $12,000,000. Returns on the increased investment will start by the latter part of the present year or early next year.

The slump in traffic came at an unfortunate period since the Pittsburgh and West Virginia has increased interest charges to meet during the present year with practically no return on the investment. The bond issues to finance the extension constitute the principal portion of the road's funded debt. The only other long term obligations at the close of the year were $3,560,000 in equipment trusts. There is no preferred stock.

Baird Extension

THE ROAD IS PLANNING to build a branch of the Connellsville extension from Jacobs Creek to Baird, a distance of 6½ miles. This has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the project is being opposed here by the Pennsylvania Railroad which is seeking a Federal Court injunction.

It was recently disclosed that control of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia rested with the Pennroad Corporation which holds 222,930 shares, a 73.7 per cent interest. Pennroad has agreed not to interfere with the Taplin management of the line. The injunction action against the extension to Baird is explained by the fact that the Pennsylvania is the only road serving several large industrial organizations near Monessen. Even though control of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia rests with an organization affiliated with the Pennsylvania, the latter does not wish to risk competition with a road which the courts may eventually compel the Pennsylvania to give up.

Pennsy Loadings Slightly Lower

Pennsylvania Railroad carloadings for the week ended April 26 were 142,357 against 142,854 in the preceding week and 170,662 a year ago.

Loadings from January 1 totaled 2,364,102 cars comparing with 2,599,777 in the 1929 period.

U. S. Rubber Sells $15,000,000 Notes

NEW YORK, May 1.—The United States Rubber Company has sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. $15,000,000 6 per cent notes, due June 1, 1933, which are being offered at 99 to yield 6⅛ per cent.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 1—Bond prices tended higher in the earlier trading today. There was greatly increased activity with continued improvement in the rails leading the upward movement.

STOCK MARKET AGAIN TURNS REACTIONARY

Sharp Bear Drive Sends Many Rails Tumbling 4 To 14 Points to '30 Lows

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—The stock market was turned reactionary again today with sharp bear drive against the rails, many of which broke 4 to 14 points to new minimum levels for the year or longer, a few breaking through the low levels of last November.

The market opened with a moderate show of strength, under the influence of reductions in the Bank of England and Bank of France rates. Wall Street, however, was not generally inclined to look for an immediate cut in the New York Reserve Bank rate, and cheap money no longer inspires the bullishness that it did a few weeks ago. A group of farm equipment, oil, food and amusement shares were strong during the first hour of trading, but later sold off.

SUPPORT ABSENT

Rails were bought in considerable volume early in the year, when publication of the Interstate Commerce Commissions consolidation plan focused attention upon the carrier stocks. Publication of the March operating income statements, however, has left this group of stock friendless, and although there has been little apprehension over dividend rates, bearish operations were successful in causing considerable liquidation. Selling was not particularly heavy, but with little prospect of an early upturn in these shares, their sponsors failed to support them.

Utilities also ran into considerable selling pressure. Official denial of merger rumors regarding United Corporation and United Gas Improvement was a disappointment in some quarters, although some of the oils turned upward in the early trading, a cut in Pennsylvania crude, while apparently due to a local situation only, was unsettling.

Rails losing 4 to 7 points included Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Colorado and Southern. Pere Marquette, the floating supply of which is now very small, tumbled 14 points to a new low. Such issues as New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Reading and Canadian Pacific lost 3 points or more. Southern Railway sold down close to 100, the lowest level since 1925.

REACHES NEW LOW

U. S. Steel, Union Carbide, Underwood Elliott, Goodyear and Safeway Stores lost 3 to more than 4 points, the last named reaching new low ground.

J. I. Case sold up 7½ points, then more than lost its gain. Pierce Oil preferred was pushed up more than 4 points on rumors of a merger with Sinclair. Texas Corporation rose 2 points to a new high for the year. Loew's and General Foods were other issues selling into new high ground.

Credit conditions remained stationary, with call money renewing at 4 per cent. Time money was easier, however, and lower call loan rates are expected within a few days.

March Automotive Exports Under 1929

WASHINGTON, May 1.—United States exports of automotive products during March were valued at $39,964,568, up $7,180,829, or 22 per cent over February, but well below the figure for March, 1929, the Department of Commerce announced.

Shipments for the first quarter totaled $103,915,781, up $14,941,352 over previous quarter, but still below same 1929 quarter.

N.Y. Exchange Rules On Stock Dividends

NEW YORK, May 1.—The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange has approved a requirement for listing, designed to prevent payment of stock dividends that are not charged against earnings or earned surplus.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 1.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 11 points on renewed covering by near month shorts and scattered buying of new crop positions. Some buyers of near months appeared to be getting a little defensive, which were also influenced by the favorable view of recent weather conditions over most of the belt.

There was also a widening of differences between the old crop and later deliveries. Business was quiet at the start, but became somewhat more active later. May sold up to 16.55c or 18 points net higher. New October at 14.90c showed a net advance of only 7 points and later eased back to yesterday's closing.

Liverpool cables said there had been covering and trade calling and some buying on the reduction in the bank rate supplied by continental liquidation. The advices added that the cotton goods trade in Manchester had been perturbed by threats from India that existing contracts for cotton goods might be cancelled.

The early advance extended to 16.58c for May and 16.71c for July, or 22 to 23 points net higher on the old crop months. The demand subsided later in the morning, and the market sagged off with May selling down to 16.46c or about 13 points from the best, while the new October contracts declined to 14.66c. Trading was comparatively quiet at midday with old crop positions 10 to 11 points net higher, while the new crop showed net losses of 8 to 13 points.

PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE CUT

The Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency of the South Penn oil has reduced all Pennsylvania grades of crude oil 25 cents a barrel.

Other grades remain unchanged.

The reduction in Pennsylvania grade crude is due to the fact that production of this oil has been on the increase for some time, particularly in the Bradford district. It is a localized situation and does not reflect conditions in other producing areas of the country.

OIL CITY, Pa., May 1.—The Pure Oil Company has advanced the price of Michigan crude oil 10 cents to $1.35 a barrel.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 1.—Curb stocks made generally narrow movements in today's market. There was little disposition to believe that the discount rate reductions by the central banks of Great Britain and France forecast similar immediate action by the Federal Reserve Bank here. The action was interpreted as further indication of the world-wide easiness of credit and as a measure to assist the German reparations loan.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Goodly Gains in Dividends During April

By B. C. FORBES

ALL COMPANIES are not doing poorly. No fewer than 41 companies last month declared extra payments, 24 made initial dividend disbursements, 13 paid stock dividends, eight increased their rate, six resumed dividends and one company paid a back dividend.

Against this total of 93 cheerful dividend announcements there were 52 unfavorable announcements.

The net balance in favor of stockholders was, however, 41.

The first four months of this year have not brought quite as many improved dividends as a year ago. The decrease, however, is only from 601 to 543, a reasonably good showing in view of the rather sharp contrast between conditions then and now.

But it is not to be expected that the next few months will bring as many dividend increases as were declared during the corresponding period of last year.

TO DATE THIS YEAR at least three corporations have reported a decrease in profits for each company that has been able to show a gain. The results during the current quarter promise to make a somewhat less unfavorable comparison. Even so, decreases are certain to predominate.

Looking ahead to the second half of the year, a somewhat more optimistic estimate can be made. For one thing, the second half of last year brought poorer results than the first half. Moreover, the very negligible improvement already experienced is expected to gather considerable momentum by July.

At the beginning of the year, not a few authorities prophesied that recovery would be more or less vigorously under way during the second quarter, but more recently the rosy prognostications have been somewhat toned down due to the rather unsatisfactory record made thus far.

THE RAILROADS have been worse off than industrial companies, public utilities or financial institutions. Both gross and net have diminished rather severely as a result of the shrinkage in volume of freight carried this year. Some 50 roads, through a decrease of 13 per cent in gross during March, suffered a loss in net of almost 40 per cent. Their net income fell slightly below that of the shorter month of February. It is encouraging to note, however, that the latest traffic figures show not quite so heavy a drop from last year's returns.

THE FORM TAKEN by April's cheerful dividend announcements by industrial, public utility and railway companies is brought out in this table:

	Ind.	P.U.	R.R.
Extra	37	1	3
Initial	21	3	0
Stock	11	2	0
Increased	8	0	0
Totals	83	6	4

FOR THE FOUR MONTHS of this year the record shows:

Extra	194	6	6
Initial	124	9	3
Stock	70	12	1
Increased	71	12	1
Resumed	16	0	3
Back	9	1	1
Totals	484	40	19

THE FIRST FOUR MONTHS of last year made this distinctly better showing:

Initial	190	14	1
Extra	175	6	5
Stock	86	5	1
Resumed	10	1	3
Totals	549	38	14

THE FOUR MONTHS unfavorable announcements can be summarized thus:

Omitted	94	2	1
Deferred	54	2	0
Decreased	32	1	1
Totals	180	5	2

COMPARED WITH any other but last year the improved dividend disbursements this year make gratifying comparisons, as is shown in the following table summarizing the figures since 1925:

	'30	'29	'28	'27	'26
January	172	120	11	89	87
February	117	126	98	81	72
March	161	196	96	93	102
April	63	159	70	60	60
Totals 4 mos.	543	601	367	323	321
May	166	78	69		54
June	233	163	137		98
July	122	93	60		54
August	121	108	63		57
Sept.	193	135	104		85
October	179	133	83		69
Nov.	287	153	136		103
Dec.	391	227	205		184
Totals	2,293	1,468	1,179		1,025

EVEN IF THE WORST may not be over dividendwise, it can be fairly safely assumed that the worst is over profitwise.

LEGGE DEFENDS FARM BOARD ACTIVITIES

Indicates Commission Men Must Justify Right to Continued Prosperity

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The issue of government interference in business today came dramatically before the attention of the delegates to the eighteenth annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States when Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, defended his activities and answered the attacks of commission merchants in the grain trade who feel that they are being crowded out.

Before making his formal address, Mr. Legge, who was formerly president of the International Harvester Corporation, told me that an important evolution was taking place in commodity distribution, and intimated that those in the trade would have to justify their right to continued prosperity. He said that the warehousing and processing interests served useful functions, and would not be disturbed. He did say, however, that curbstone brokers might not have such an easy time of it as the new co-operative distributive agencies, which are being fostered by the government, get underway.

BEING DRIVEN OUT

On the other hand, a commission man in Kansas City, in chatting in the corridors, said that the government is putting us in the class of saloonkeepers, and driving us out of business. The Chamber of Commerce convention was the logical place for this conflict of ideas to break out, particularly because Julius H. Barnes, who is chairman of the Chamber, has been the most outspoken critic among President Hoover's intimate friends of the policies of Mr. Legge's board. Mr. Barnes, of course, is a grain dealer.

Mr. Barnes' emphasis on individual initiative was sounded in his report as chairman of the business survey conference in which he said:

"Merchant resourcefulness can often surmount barriers to trade when these barriers are definitely defined. It is uncertainty and unknown hazards which tend to shrink the currents of trade."

Mr. Legge made a forthright statement of his viewpoint. He went into the teeth of the tiger, charging the Chamber of Commerce within its own walls of gross indifference toward the welfare of the farmer, saying:

"I am sure that most of you will agree that you know more about the agricultural situation and how to meet it than I do. A considerable percentage of your membership have made that quite clear, and perhaps the best answer I can make is the statement that if this is true, and you really do know so much about it, that the situation presents a very severe indictment of the organization which, having full information of the facts, has made so little effort to remedy the situation. Certainly none of you have seen any evidence of constructive action on the part of the Chamber of Commerce or the part of any of its affiliated organizations, with the doubtful exception of taking a referendum two years ago, looking to a remedy for and permanent improvement in the situation, which, your own investigators had warned, required substantial assistance if not from you, then from the government."

NOT PERMANENT

As for the charge that the government was taking over the functions of private business, Mr. Legge added this thrust:

"We hear much to the effect that these operations are putting the government permanently into business. We wish to assure you that on this point every commodity organization is set up on a basis where, as it gains financial strength and experience, it can and will become entirely independent of government aid or supervision. In all these organizations provision is made for the Farm Board having a voice in their policies only so long as they are indebted to it."

Secretary Lamont, of the Department of Commerce, in conversing with me about the business trend, said that recovery was fully up to expectations and that by midsummer trade ought to be distinctly better. He though that easy money would give the necessary impulse to a business comeback, and thought that President Hoover's stabilization program had prevented business from slumping as much as it otherwise would have.

Executives of the Federal Reserve System, on whom I have called, feel that the correction in the stock market makes it more feasible for the Federal Reserve to go ahead with its program of cheap money, which it otherwise might have modified because of its effect in over-stimulating speculation. For weeks the system has marked time, watching the situation. For the rest of the year it is inclined to avoid taking any steps which would put a damper on business enthusiasm, though its process of artificial easement has already run its course.

MOTOR STEEL DEMAND UP

CLEVELAND, May 1.—Moderate improvement in automotive steel demand is being reflected in the movement of certain products, but the betterment is not sufficient to materially boost operating rates in the various producing centers, according to Daily Metal Trade Reports of better business are more plentiful. More activity in strip steel and cold-drawn bars is attributable chiefly to improved automotive demand. Automobile sheets also are moving at a faster pace, although the total tonnage is no greater than a week or so ago.

Wire products are moving slowly and western makers expect a pick-up in demand next month. Plates and shapes are moving in better volume than one month ago. Tin plate specifications are heavier. Prices are holding fairly well, although some weak spots are noticeable.

PIRATE OUTFIELDERS STAR

by JAMES J. LONG

Even Break Creditable. Slate Now Favors Bucs. Senators' Streak Ends. | Gowdy Catching at 40. McKechnie's Progress. Rosenbloom Near Title.

JONES' FIRST START NOT FAIR TEST

THE CHICAGO SERIES ended yesterday was the first played by the Pirates this spring in which they failed to win the majority of the games staged, but at that an even break in four tilts with the league champions on their own lot is not to be called a poor showing by any means, particularly in view of the adverse conditions under which the Bucs were forced to work. The Cubs are rated the hardest club in the majors for a left-hand pitcher to beat, but with Ervin Brame absent, Heinie Meine still on the ailing list and Steve Swetonic used in relief roles twice in three days, Manager Ens was compelled to start southpaws in three of the four engagements. A fifty-fifty split wasn't poor, everything considered.

Percy Jones

Nor was there any cause for discouragement in the defeat of Percy Jones yesterday in his first appearance as a Pittsburgh pitcher. The former Boston left-hander is not yet in top form, and he had to make his debut in a tough spot. There is every ground for the confidence that he'll look like a different hurler later.

NOW COMES THE first chance of the year for the Rovers to settle down on the home grounds. Their 12 games up to today were played in four different parks, and Forbes Field was the scene of only two of the contests, but except for a one-day jump to Brooklyn for a single bout next Sunday the Ensmen will be privileged to carry on steadily at home from now until May 17.

The initial home stand against the East opens with Boston's three-day visit, starting today, and this will be followed by four games with New York, three with Brooklyn, four with Philadelphia and one with Cincinnati. Then, after a three-day trip to Cincinnati, the Bucs will return for the remainder of the month, playing four games with Chicago, three with St. Louis and three with Cincinnati. Twenty-five games are booked for the home grounds out of a total of 30 scheduled during May. A great chance to grab off a comfortable spring lead.

THE SEASON'S LONGEST winning streak in the big show was interrupted yesterday, when the Washington club went down before the New York Yankees. The Senators had won eight games in succession, beating the National League spring record of seven straight, in which the Pirates and Giants shared honors.

Joe Cronin

Joe Cronin, former Buccaneer, who has developed into a star shortstop for Washington, has been a big factor in the Senators' early drive. Besides playing a great fielding game, he has been hitting in fine style. In 41 times at bat he has made 13 hits, including three homers, for an average of .302, and has knocked in 14 runs.

YESTERDAY'S DEFEAT WAS the first suffered by the Washington club since April 19, when, singularly enough, it was beaten by Rube Walberg and the Athletics by the same unusual score, 9 to 0. Though they had lost the same number of contests as Pittsburgh, the Senators still were one box score ahead of the Pirates up to today for the distinction of having won more games than any other club in the major leagues, boasting 10 victories to the locals' nine. Pittsburgh, Washington and Cleveland are the only clubs in the big show that have not been defeated twice in succession up to date.

JUST AS THE baseball historians were writing pieces for the papers to the effect that, since the passing of Leslie Mann and the withdrawal of Eddie Collins to a coaching job, Rabbit Maranville and Wally Schang were the only players still active in the majors who had participated in the sensational world series of 1914, old Hank Gowdy stepped in yesterday and showed them that they were all wrong.

Gowdy was in parts of nine games last year, but yesterday he caught a full one, and that his old bean is still working is attested by the fact that under his handling Eddie Brandt allowed only one Philadelphia player to get as far as third base until there were two out in the ninth. Hank can't be denied a place among the age marvels. He's nearing 41, and few of them do any big league catching at that stage of life. Schang is more than a year younger. Nineteen seasons have gone by since Gowdy first broke into the majors as a first baseman for the Giants.

THE MARKED IMPROVEMENT in the ball club that Bill McKechnie brought to Pittsburgh today to meet the Pirates in the opening series of their first home stand against the East indicates that the Wilkinsburg man has already made quite a bit of progress toward building up a winning combination for Boston.

Bill McKechnie

When Bill signed a four-year contract last October as manager of the Braves, baseball men in general were confident that he would lift the Braves out of the cellar within a reasonable length of time, and from present signs McKechnie won't fail to deliver the big things expected of him.

THE JOB THAT confronted the former Pirate and Cardinal leader was just about the toughest in the big leagues, as he was given little to start with and the new material in sight was not very promising. But he took hold with a will and, with the smartness for which he is noted, began to make changes right and left and to swing a deal wherever possible. Building around the perennial Rabbit Maranville, still performing brilliantly at shortstop in spite of his 37 years, McKechnie has already produced a surprisingly strong team. Starting with the infield he drafted Johnny Neun from Baltimore and put him in George Sisler's place at first base, next converting Randolph Moore, a Dallas recruit, from an outfielder into a third baseman.

FOR FURTHER PROTECTION in the infield he bought Billy Rhiel, Youngstown boy, from Brooklyn and drafted Russell Rollings from Hollywood, and then he bolstered the outfield by purchasing Walter Berger from Los Angeles. A new catcher is Bill Cronin, recalled from Baltimore. The acquisition of Burleigh Grimes from Pittsburgh featured the upbuilding operations in the pitching department.

Other new hurlers signed include Bob Brown, an 18-year-old semi-pro thought to have a bright future, and Alonzo Smith, from Providence. So it will be seen that McKechnie has been a busy citizen since he took up his new duties. He's still shifting his players around and is keeping both eyes open for new material, but it begins to look as if he is going to get somewhere earlier than Boston fans dared to hope.

THE SINCERE SYMPATHY of every football follower in the Pittsburgh district goes out to the family of Leo Murphy, Pitt player, who died yesterday from a broken neck suffered in a practice scrimmage last Thursday. Murphy was not only an athlete and student of the highest type, who was a credit to his college, but he was also deservedly popular from the personal side and his untimely death was a shock to a wide circle of friends.

This is the first fatality involving either a home or a visiting

COLLETT TWICE BEATEN IN TEAM TESTS

By HARRY B. FLORY,
International News Service.

SUNNINGDALE, Eng., May 1.—Scoring heavily in the singles matches, even to the discomfiture of Glenna Collett, Virginia Van Wie and Helen Hicks, American aces, the British gained a convincing victory in the first international team match for women today.

England's victory, not unexpected in view of the lack of experience of the American team with English conditions and its late arrival in this country only a few days ago, was made official when Doris Park defeated Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., 3 and 2, and Diana Fishwick won from Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, 6 and 4.

This gave England 8 points in the team score to 4 for America and, with only two matches remaining, the American defeat, of course, became final and definite.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, won from Phyllis Lobbett, 1 up, to bring the invading total up to more respectable proportions.

MISS FORDYCE WINS

A few minutes later, Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, O., came home with the final victory of the day, a 3-and-1 decision over Doris Chambers. This made the final team score 8 1-2 for England to 6 1-2 for America, the latter having won two and tied another in this morning's foursomes and being outscored in the singles by six to four.

Glenna Collett was defeated by Mollie Gourlay, 1 up, in a see-saw match which saw Miss Collett 1 up at the turn. Jean McCulloch defeated Helen Hicks, 2 and 1; Miss Doris Park defeated Bernice Wall, 3 and 2; Mrs. O. S. Hill defeated Miss Elbie Corlett, 2 and 1; Maureen Orcutt defeated Mrs. J. B. Watson, 4 and 3; and Dorothy Pearson defeated Edith Quier, 2 and 1.

The play in the foursomes resulted as follows:

Molly Gourlay and Enid Wilson, England, defeated Glenna Collett and Marion Bennett, America, 4 and 3; Maureen Orcutt and Mrs. H. A. Martelle, America, defeated the Misses D. Pearson and Phyllis Lobbett, England 7 and 6; Virginia Van Wie and Peggy Wattles, America, and Mrs. J. B. Watson and Jean McCulloch, England, finished all square, 18 holes; Helen Hicks and Mrs. Lee Mida, America, defeated Doris Park and Diana Fishwick, England, 1 up; Mrs.

Association Umps 'Attend School'

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP.)—American Association umpires went to school today, receiving instructions from President Thomas J. Hickey.

Taking advantage of an off-schedule day all around the circuit, the arbiters gathered before Hickey to learn interpretations of rules and get some human nature studies of the players, managers and fans they have to deal with.

With the exception of last Sunday's near riot at Toledo during the Milwaukee-Toledo game, the umpires report a pleasant reception so far this season.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: EVERY JULY IT RAINS FISH IN YORO, HONDURAS—Tornadoes and waterspouts passing over bodies of water invariably suck up fish, frogs and tadpoles and eventually deposit them on the ground at distant places along the path of the storm. This explains the rain of fish at Yoro, Honduras, and other parts of the world, where they occur periodically.

STATE COACHES FETE GUESTS

Chaperoned by the new head football coach, Bob Higgins, practically the entire Penn State coaching staff is in Pittsburgh today for the spring banquet of the Pittsburgh Club of the Penn State Alumni Association. The banquet will be held in the Hotel Schenley tonight.

Besides Coach Higgins, Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletes; Larry Conover and Joe Bedenk, assistant varsity coaches; Dutch Hermann, freshmen football and varsity basketball mentor, and Leo Houck, boxing instructor and freshmen baseball coach are to attend the affair.

THE LOWDOWN ON PIRATES

By THE BENCHWARMER.

Well, folks, we're back in town. Today is payday and that's pretty important to yours truly and a lot of other young fellas on the club that have been waiting for it. As soon as I get mine I'm gonna put some of it in the bank and get some new duds with the rest.

Had a dandy time in Chicago. I didn't see anything so tough about the place. Those Cub pitchers began to throw at us when the series began, but when Larry took a shot at Guy Bush nobody threatened to take him out for a ride. I've been in a lot of tougher places in Texas. Maybe I didn't see the tough spots, but some of us went around hunting them at night. You see we stayed in a ritzy place in Lincoln Park right near Lake Michigan.

PERCY NOT BAD

All us lefthanders was cheering for Percy Jones and I'm telling you now, Percy didn't pitch a bad ball game. I heard Jule tellin' Pie and Scoops and a lot of the gang that if he has that much stuff all year he'll win a lot of games. Three of them runs made by Cubs were kind of flukey. Pat Malone is a left-handed batter and you know it ain't the books for him to be driving in runs against a lefthand pitcher. We just had a hard time hitting Pat.

Naturally all of us southpaw birds were cheer leaders for Percy, and he's a fine guy himself. He stopped a couple of the boys who were riding the southpaws. Percy says when he came to the big league he was with another boy from Texas who was a right-hand pitcher. The first trip they took East, Percy told his roomie they had to be in the dining room by 10 bells or you didn't get no breakfast. Percy says they both slept in and got up about five minutes to 10. Percy's roomie headed for the dining room without any coat or vest or necktie and without combing his hair.

SOUTHPAWS SMART

Percy grabbed him and told him they'd never let him in the dining

FANS TO HONOR JEWEL ENS

Followers of the Pittsburgh Pirates from all sections of the tri-state district will gather around the banquet tables in the Schenley Hotel dining room next Tuesday evening to pay tribute to Jewel Ens, manager of the Corsairs, in whose honor the testimonial affair has been arranged.

A. K. (Rosy) Rowswell, general chairman of the banquet committee, reports a large number of reservations received through the mail and anticipates a record-breaking turnout.

The Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, pastor, of the First Baptist Church, of Oakland, will serve as toastmaster. Among the speakers will be John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania and later president of the National League; John A. Heydler, president of the National League; Jewel Ens, Capt. Pie Traynor, Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, and Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pirates.

Friends to Honor Bob Collins Today

Friends and admirers of Bob Collins, Hazelwood baseball player, now a member of the Boston Braves, will present the young catcher a watch prior to the start of today's game between the Braves and Pirates at Forbes Field.

Collins got his start as a member of the Irwin club of Hazelwood, later playing for Greensburg.

That the Pirates are so well fixed with dependable outfielders they could stand pat for years, is the almost unanimous opinion of many tried and true baseball men. It would indeed be hard to find a collection to ball hawks to match the galaxy that works under the Buccaneer banner.

At the present time, Skipper Jewel Ens has no less than seven fly-chasers on his roster and each and every one is a fast-stepper. They are Paul and Lloyd Waner, Adam Comorosky, Fred Brickell, Lew Flagstead, Jimmy Mosolf and Foy Frazier.

STRONG RESERVES

The worth of the utility strength was convincingly shown when it became apparent that Brother Lloyd, one of the game's greatest centerfields, was unfit to open the season.

Skipper Ens had two stars, either of whom could have taken the emergency assignment, but after due deliberation he allowed Flaggie to stay in the important post, probably because the little American Leaguer had such a vast amount of experience. But Brickell is well qualified to play.

In the series just finished with the Cubs, Flagstead stole more than one hit from angry Cub swatters by his clever fielding. Hack Wilson was one of his principal victims. It was mean enough to pull them off the fences when Hack the Whacker clouted them.

Brickell was used twice in the pinch role and both times he came through with hits. Fred is one of the fleetest men in the league and one that seems to have a bright future. Flagstead, however, has so much knowledge on playing batters that he is a big asset in this particular direction.

ROOKIES SHOW SPEED

Mosolf and Frazier are a bit too green for regular action, but both are blessed with speed and batting power. The former is regarded by his brother Pittsburghers as a great prospect, especially as a hitter. Frazier is likely to be farmed out for more seasoning.

And that isn't all. Holding strong Pirate strings in the minors are two young outfielders who will

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, May 1. — A month ago the experts said our Washington Club was the dark horse of the league, but they didn't expect we'd be the runaway horse. We have already got 200 world series applications from folks who do their Christmas shopping early. Even if we lose the pennant Griff will have the use of the money till October. From this week's score I guess the Rabbit finally nibbled its way back into baseball. If they keep on sending pitchers to the showers like that, there won't be enough towels to go round. I see Dolly Stark has quit umpiring. Why is it the good ones always resign?

CISSELL'S PLAY KEEPS CHISOX NEAR TOP

PIPGRAS STOPS WILD DASH OF SENATORS

Among the numerous surprises that have cropped up in the early weeks of the major league campaigns must be listed the showing of the Chicago White Sox. Chicago, like Washington, was listed as a probable second division club and has been right up among the American League leaders.

The White Sox were shoved down into third place yesterday as the Detroit Tigers gathered in four runs in the first inning for a 6-to-4 victory, but they still are among the first ranking teams. With four regulars batting in the .300 class and a flock of pitchers working in good form, the White Sox have earned the present rating of .600, gained from six victories and four defeats.

CISSELL STANDS OUT

Bill Cissell, current co-leader of the American League batters, has been the spark plug of the team this season after a few years of rather disappointing performances. He connected with Elon Hogsett, Detroit's big Indian hurler of sinker balls, for three of Chicago's 13 hits yesterday, but the rest of the Sox were not able to keep pace with him and produce the required runs.

Washington, still the leader of the American League, was another high ranking club to meet defeat yesterday. The Senators, after eight successive victories, bowed to the pitching of George Pipgras, of the New York Yankees, and were shut out, 9 to 0. Pipgras, who has pitched in two of the three Yankee victories, gave only five hits while Brown and Burke allowed 12 and the Senators contributed four costly errors.

Another Brown, Clint of Cleveland, took the leading role as the Indians beat the St. Louis Browns for the third time in succession, 6 to 3. The rookie hurler from New Orleans gave St. Louis only six hits for his third victory of the season. He now leads the American League pitchers.

GASTON BEATS A'S

Milton Gaston, of the Boston Red Sox, turned in the fourth fine pitching performance in the American League yesterday to beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 3. Gaston gave the world champions only six hits, fanned six and allowed no walks. Simmons and Foxx divided five of the Athletics' blows.

The National League likewise went in for good pitching yesterday with Dazzy Vance, of Brooklyn, as its leading exponent. Dazzy held all of the New York Giants except Pat Crawford well under control, while the Robins hammered out a 9-to-4 victory. Crawford had a perfect day at bat with three hits, including a double and a home run.

Red Lucas, of Cincinnati, and Sylvester Johnson, of St. Louis, put on a fine duel with the Reds gaining a 4 to 3 triumph on the strength of Joe Stripp's triple in the ninth inning. Neither pitcher gave a free trip to first base.

The Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh by nicking their former teammate, Percy Jones, for five runs, one at a time, while Pat Malone held the Pirates to two counters.

Boston's Braves jumped past the Phillies and St. Louis into the first division by hitting hard behind Ed Brandt to gain a 9 to 3 victory over Philadelphia.

Heinz Girls End Bowling Season

Miss Catherine Feri captured high honors in the Girls' 57 Club Bowling League, which closed its season with a banquet at the clubhouse of the Congress of Women's Clubs, Penn avenue, and a party at the Pitt Theater last night. She had the high average for the season and high scores for one and three games. Team honors went to Miss Eleanor Baumgartner, Miss Ethel Will, Miss Antoinette Mihm and Miss Ruth McConnell and Mrs. Jane Curtis.

Miss Margaret Zigan, league president, presided at the dinner, and E. D. McCafferty, a director of H. J. Heinz Company, presented a large number of prizes.

St. Vincent's Defeats California Teachers

LATROBE, Pa., May 1.—St. Vincent yesterday defeated California Normal in a well played game, 4 to 3. The game was a pitchers' battle from the start, Wallace getting the winning point. Smith, California pitcher, weakened in the ninth inning and walked in the tying run. Paul Mahan came through with a single to win the game. The box score:

"Well, I see where the rules committee is going to abolish the shift."

"Well, it's about time they abolish this bootleg football."

"Why, do you think there is an unfair advantage in the shift?"

"No, not with the one-second stop, but it's becoming to darn popular."

"Don't you think the rules committee ought to legislate against unfair advantages only?"

"Such as, for instance?"

"Well, your team uses the changing number and the whole line is off two feet ahead of the ball. Then Ileana uses the double wing back system and they crowd up closer than the rules allow. Also, on the double reverse, both wing backs are in motion, both guards pull out before the ball is snapped and the head coach intimates the officials. Then, at Igona, the man in motion is going forward illegally about half the time."

"These are minor items and of no importance."

"Well, maybe, but didn't I hear you make a big speech on sportsmanship at the Rotary Club?"

"Yes, and it was a good one, wasn't it?"

"Yes, I liked it. But the law of self-preservation sometimes causes a weak memory, and don't forget that jealousy is always a sign of inferiority."

"Yeh, maybe—but I'm glad the shift is going."

"Yeh?"

"Yeh! It will make the game more simple and if they put the coaches in the stands we'll all hold our jobs because the alumni won't know whom to blame."

ROSENBLOOM EASILY BEATS JOHNSON

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—Fresh from a night club, trained to perfection on a shave and a haircut, Maxie Rosenbloom, the belting buffoon, furnished high entertainment for 15,000 of the faithful last night by soundly trouncing Larry Johnson, a long, lean Negro from Chicago, in a ring pitched where the more orthodox circus clowns have been tumbling for the past three weeks, Madison Square Garden.

Rosenbloom baffled the usually deadly punching Negro with his complete assortment of leather legerdemain and his slapping, cuffing, demoralizing attack. A few weeks ago Larry gave the Harlem harlequin the roughest engagement Rosenbloom has had here in years until a foul gave Maxie the verdict in six rounds.

Last night Johnson made the mistake of coming back for more after Rosenbloom had had a chance to think it over. The result was an outclassed Negro and a decision after 10 rounds that was a formality.

Johnson's trouble was that he couldn't hit the slippery elm of Harlem, and when occasionally he smacked Maxie a fairly stiff clout Rosey turned loose a whirlwind attack that promptly wiped out the advantage.

Sport Vignettes

Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, is one manager who is not superstitious about having his high-powered athletes photographed on the eve of an important series . . . "That's a lot of bosh," he says about the pet prejudice of most managers against allowing their squads to pose for group pictures, especially when they are on their way toward a pennant . . . "Photographs don't win or lose pennants or ball games or a series," is Jewel's contention, so we ought to be able to get a good picture of the 1930 National League champions almost any day now . . . That scholastic track and field meet at Carnegie Tech on Saturday will be one of the largest affairs of its kind ever staged here . . . More than 1,100 youngsters will compete and the program will get under way in the morning . . . The forthcoming football season will be the thirty-seventh campaign for Pop Warner, former Pitt mentor and one of the best of them all . . . Begins to look as if the Senators are taking themselves seriously in the American League, even if no one else does . . . Lot of local fans are worked up over the Washington club's spurt for no other reason than that Joe Cronin, erstwhile Pirate, is one of the outstanding stars of the outfit . . . Remarkable feature about Andy Callahan, new lightweight boxing star of Boston, is that he really is Irish with a name like that . . . He is a stablemate of Jack Sharkey and Andy Martin . . . They do say that Joe Armstrong, Jr., played on a basketball team at South High School that didn't a win a game in an entire season . . . Sylvester V. Pauxtis, the new head coach at Bellefonte Academy, succeeding Jakie Bohren, former Pitt star, who resigned to coach at Hobart College, is a brother of Si Pauxtis, assistant coach at Penn, and has been around a lot and knows something about what the coaching racket is all about . . . He has been on the coaching staffs at Kingston High School, Tome School, Wyoming Seminary, Bethlehem Prep School, Conway Hall and Pennsylvania Military College . . . He was recommended, according to Headmaster Jim Hughes, of Bellefonte, by the coaches of Penn State, Holy Cross, Columbia University, Fordham, Johns Hopkins and Dickinson . . . Sylvester is a graduate of Dickinson and will coach baseball and boxing as well at football at Bellefonte.—HARRY KECK.

GRIFFITHS WINS OVER GAGNON

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP.)—Tuffy Griffiths, of Sioux City, Ia., today was back on the list of contenders for the world heavyweight boxing championship, the stain of a technical knockout defeat by Jack Gagnon removed from his record by a 10-round decision victory over the Boston Sailor here last night.

Before 20,550 spectators, most of whom went to the Chicago Stadium hoping to learn that Gagnon's stunning victory over Griffiths at Philadelphia early last month was a mistake, the tough one outboxed Gagnon most of the way. The right hand that sent Griffiths crashing to the canvas in Philadelphia did little damage, although Gagnon kept it busy all evening. It landed on Tuffy's chin in the eighth round, but Gagnon couldn't get his man lined up for another shot.

player in the history of college football in Pittsburgh. It was feared that injuries suffered by Al Lassman, of New York University, in a game with Carnegie Tech here in 1928, would prove fatal, but Lassman recovered after a long fight. Joe Matson, of Pitt, suffered a fracture of the neck while playing football in 1914, but though forced to give up football he recovered sufficiently to play baseball and basketball for the Panthers in 1915 and 1916.

Maxie Rosenbloom

BY VIRTUE of his success in winning the decision over Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro, in last night's bout at New York, Maxie Rosenbloom is now in line for a match with Jimmy Slattery for the world light-heavyweight championship. And if Maxie maintains until that time the form he has been showing during the last few months, Slattery is likely to find it the hardest contract of his fistic life to avert the loss of his title. When Jimmy was declared champion by the New York boxing commission, Rosenbloom appeared to be due for an early start down hill, Johnson had not come to the front and Jimmy looked good for a long reign, but with Maxie streaking along at his present gait it's different. Slattery holds four decisions over Rosenbloom, against one lost to him, but in the form displayed against his last six opponents Maxie seems to have a distinct edge. He is a remarkable fighter who continues to look like a champion in spite of a disregard for training rules that would speedily send the average boxer down the chutes.

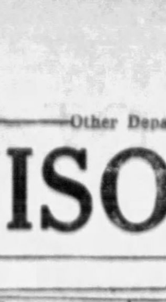
THE FISTIC TRADITION that a fighter once knocked out by a certain opponent is placed under a mental handicap that will cause him to lose again if he meets the same foeman a second time may work out in most cases, but not when there is so great a difference in class as exists between Tuffy Griffiths and Jack Gagnon.

Griffiths demonstrated that in Chicago last night, when he won the decision over Gagnon, who had previously surprised Glovedom by scoring a technical kayo over Tuffy. At that, it will take a lot more than the turning of the tables on Gagnon to restore Griffiths to the heavyweight ranking he held prior to the first match. Being stopped by Gagnon set Tuffy back a long way, just when he was qualifying for a place in the title running.

SCHWARTZ TOPS GOLD; SAYLOR VICTOR

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A brilliant boxing exhibition by Benny Schwartz, of Baltimore, recent one-round knockout victim of Jackie Rodgers, whereby he won a handy 10-round victory over Marty Gold, of Philadelphia, who subsequently had gone the limit with Rodgers at the Moose Temple, featured the boxing show in Duquesne Garden last night. It was the club's second show in the downstairs arena, and, like the first, last week, drew only around $1,500.



Benny Schwartz

FREDDIE TAKES LACING

A former lightweight star, Mueller weighed 148 pounds and appeared hog-fat last night. He never had a chance against the cunning Saylor, who tried for a knockout with lefts to the body in the early rounds and looked to have a good chance of stowing away Freddie, as he recently did Mickey Solomen here. However, after being doubled up and shaken, Mueller rallied to wrestle and clinch and tincan his way through to the finish of a messy brawl.

SCHWARTZ GOLD

Saylor weighed 150½ pounds. The judges agreed on Saylor as the victor, while the referee called it a draw.

Schwartz, fighting to redeem himself for the Rodgers defeat, was too clever and too fast for Gold and won all but three rounds, the first and the seventh, which were even, and the tenth, which went to Gold when Benny became tired and winded. Gold's eye was cut in the eighth round. It was a keenly contested battle, with Gold always walking into his opponent but being outgeneraled and outscored as Schwartz picked his spots for clean punches. Benny at 119 pounds carried some excess flesh about the body. Gold scaled 114½ pounds.

REFEREE KEALLY REED

MURRAY STOPS REED

Jackie Murray, of the Hill, measured Gene Reed, of Charleroi, for a right hand knockout punch at the start of the third round of the second bout, and Reed, outclassed, decided to stay down for the count. Murray weighed 142½ pounds, two pounds more than Reed.

The Peaches Gallagher-Jimmy Perry return bout was put on as the opener instead of as the second bout, as arranged, and it saw Peaches win again, although he failed to duplicate his knockout triumph of last week in the same ring. Perry, wary of his foe, was on the defensive for four rounds and when he did open up was too far behind to get into the running. He carried the fifth round by a wide margin, but Peaches held him on even terms in a wild-fighting last round, in which both were staggered. Peaches weighed 130 pounds and Perry 129.

Joe Keally refereed all of the bouts and the judges were Frank Ferris and Jock Simco. Bill Schuster was the announcer, A. C. Couch and Max Zeugschmidt acted as timers and Dr. M. R. Goldman was the attending physician. No show was announced for next week.

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—The Daily News says that Charles W. Paddock, Olympic sprint star known for a long time as "the fastest human," has been served with papers in a $100,000 breach of promise action by counsel for Miss Madeline Lubetty.

She said the engagement was announced by Paddock to reporters at the Cleveland air meet last year. She charged he broke the engagement in Pasadena, Cal., in September, 1929.

Between Rounds

Farmer Joe Cooper is slated to arrive in town today and work out at Flynn's gym for his 10-round windup tomorrow night with Harry (Kid) Wallace, of Philadelphia, at the Moose Temple. Wallace got in yesterday and drilled in the same gym. Ted Yarmer and Billy Hoit box the semi-final tomorrow night, with Johnny Warner and Sammy Paris in the second hour and Jimmy Thomas and the Gypsy Kid in the opening event.

Battling Gizzy and Johnny Smackey are being talked about as the likely windup principals in the closing show at the Moose Temple Friday night of next week.

Billy Jones and Sammy Wynn box in Philadelphia tonight. Mickey Taylor meets Jack Wynn and Quinton Romero-Rojas tackles Murray Gillis in New York. Primo Carnera appears in an exhibition bout at Portland, Ore.

Battling Battalino, the featherweight champion, will conclude his training in Philadelphia for his six-rounder bout there with Lew Massey next Monday night. Massey holds a decision over the Hatter.

Henry LaMar and Marty Gallagher, heavyweights, box at Baltimore, May 12.

The card for the Jackie Rodgers-Johnny Dunn show at Moose Square Garden next Monday night has been completed with the signing of Buck McCartney, of Pottsville, and Leo Sala, of Toledo, recently returned from New York, for the eight-round semi-final. McCartney, with several feature bouts in view, jumped at the chance to appear in the supporting contest at the Garden to keep himself in the limelight, while the other bouts booked are Teddy Wasik, of McKeesport, versus Tommy Ward, of the South Side, and Mike Butch, of Oakland, makes his professional debut against Jackie Wilson, of the East End.

The date for the opening show of the Mayer Bowl outdoor arena in North Braddock has been advanced to one week from next Thursday night, instead of being staged on Monday, May 19, the day before the primaries. The second show is slated for May 24, and beginning with this show, Monday will be the club's regular fight night.

Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, and Jim Boler, of Erie, who fought a sensational draw at New Castle last Monday night, have been rushed back to the same ring to tackle Tommy Burke, Bradley boxer, in the Jolly Bowl next Monday night.

Chuck Zelnack, Glassport boxer, will be married on Saturday.

Hoyles to Hold Banquet Tonight

The W. U. Hoyles, of the North Side, former A. A. U. light first-class champions, will celebrate the close of a successful basketball season tonight when they are guests of their sponsor, W. U. Hoyle, prominent North Side sportsman, in the Blue Ridge Inn, on the William Penn Highway.

CARSON BIGBEE GRAVELY ILL

BRAWLEY, Cal., May 1.—Carson Bigbee, former member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, of the National League, was reported critically ill of pneumonia here today. The former Pirate outfielder's condition was said to be extremely grave.

Bigbee played in the Pacific Coast League prior to his days with the Pittsburgh club, and with his brother, Lyle, constituted the league's "brother act." He has been engaged in grape fruit growing with George Cutshaw, also a former Pittsburgh player, for the past three years.

IMMACULATE HEART BOASTS STRONG ARRAY

DOBBS TO PILOT N. S. TWILIGHT CHAMPS

By TOM BIRKS

Immaculate Heart, winner of the title in practically every league it has ever entered, will be back strong as ever in the North Side Twilight League this year. The club, managed by Joe Dobbs since its inception, again will be under the control of that pepper box and as usual, will be backed by Joseph B. Nalitz, prominent business man of the West Penn Park district.

The West Penn boys at first decided to make a change in league affiliations this season after winning the Twilight League last year. However, some of the supposedly stronger clubs did not seem to be anxious about meeting the Dobbs aggregation, and offered various reasons for their stands.

For many years this team of hard fighters went out to win every ball game, and made things tough for the opposition, but always in a clean way. A hard, fighting ball club is an asset to any community.

This season Joe will have practically all of last season's players back. The pitching will be borne by Anderson, Luntz and Turek, all high class flingers. Vandani and Lipinski will take care of the catching.

Alson will be at first, Brown at second, Mattox at short and Jim Parry will cover the hot corner. In the outfield, Bateman, Graba, Locky and Meyers will share possible basehits, while Manager Dobbs also will get into a suit in the outer garden when necessary.

The 1930 edition of the Immaculate Heart team seems to be just as strong as any previous bearer of the West Penn colors. The team will open the season at West Penn Park Sunday afternoon against Aliquippa.

Bunts

Since Johnny Popp decided upon a change of scenery, leaving the Homestead Aces, Manager Jack Fettig has named Kelly, playing manager. Henderson will be captain.

Vic Dober was back in town again, but has left to report to Leo Mackey at Chambersburg.

The Dom Master Club, of the Steel City League, opened its independent season Tuesday by stopping the Albert Club at Arlington Park. Harry Hurd, the Master ace, won a good battle, 4 to 3, and had 12 strikeouts.

It seems as if Jerry McKelvey will be back with the Lincoln Civics, in the Central League. Mac does not seem to care for the Middle Atlantic grind. The Civics meet Universal this evening at the Cement town.

Homewood Brushton is dickering with Dave Winkins to play first base in the Steel Penn League games. It was reported that Joe Hadley was going to cover the initial sack, but if Dave will leave Pop Geet, he can have the job.

Pleasant Valley hooks up with Reliance Life this evening. Manager Dudsky reports that Rosenthal, Metzler, Nally and Hallet are showing great form. Meeting North Side Elks tomorrow and Pittsburgh Railways Saturday, the City League champions are starting out on the right foot.

The Homestead Grays swing into action this afternoon when they meet the Jeannette club of the Middle Atlantic League in two games at Jeannette.

The Fox A. C. inaugurated its season yesterday by defeating St. Anthony, 7 to 2.

room of the swell hotel like that. He told the other bird they could eat in their room, but they would have to tip the waiter a dollar. So when the waiter brought the food in, Percy signed the slip and the other dude tipped the waiter a dollar. That's how smart we lefthanders are.

I was watching the Cubs hit in practice today, and when Hack Wilson came up to swing he said to me:

And then Hack took an awful cut at one, but the ball only went to the pitcher.

Larry was standing near the cage, and he shouted:

"That's only a local—he'd have a hard time riding back home!"

I. K. S. Teams Get Awards Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Irene Kaufmann Settlement will hold its annual basketball victory night. At this time the five Irene Kaufmann Settlement teams will be honored. Four teams won championships and they will be awarded trophies and medals. As a reward for the remarkable showing, the Settlement will award sweaters to the champions.

Besides the presentation of awards, many well-known sportsmen and entertainers will honor the boys. Harry Pitler is chairman. The following men will speak: Sidney A. Teller, resident director; Sam Dreyfuss, vice president of the Pittsburgh baseball team; William Haddock, president of the A. A. U.; Julius Levin, of the Sun-Telegraph; Paul Kurtz and Prof. John Dambach, of the University of Pittsburgh. Ziggy Kahn will present the awards.

HOMER GREETS JONES AS BUC

ENGLISH SCORES ON DRIVE INTO BLEACHERS

Percy Lee Jones, new Pirate southpaw pitcher, was greeted effusively in his season debut on the mound against the Cubs at Chicago yesterday. Woody English, the first batter, driving a home run into the right field bleachers. Wilson added another homer in the seventh, over the left field fence. Photo shows English scoring on his clout. The Cubs won the game, 5 to 2.

naturally drift to the Pittsburgh Club.

The Pirates dropped the finale with the Cubs yesterday, but they came home in first place this morning. The score was 5 to 2, the teams splitting the four-game series evenly.

Manager Ens gave Percy Lee Jones his first opportunity to shine as a slab star, but the southpaw was opposed by Pat Malone, who had the Buccos at his mercy until the eighth. Jones, after an unsteady start, showed some delightful pitching.

The game was held up for more than a half hour in the ninth by a heavy rainstorm. When the skies cleared it was resumed to completion. Hack Wilson and Woodie English struck homers.

Chillysauce

The Pirates and Cubs played to big crowds in the four games despite the wet weather. More than 50,000 natives of the big city came out to see the flag contenders in the four clashes. Chicago is the best ball club in the land, the National League champion of last year, drawing more people than any team in the history of the sport.

Percy Jones disclosed that he lost 14 games by one run last year. Among these were two 1-0 games in succession. His work of yesterday was very fine in spots and it should be considered that it was his first start of the season, he having pitched only 12 innings throughout the spring training period.

Jones naturally is anxious to trim the Cubs. In one of the conflicts last year he says he had the Bears blanked two to nothing with two out and one on in the seventh. At this point Hack Wilson hooked a high foul over the plate and Jones catcher dropped the ball. Hack then found the range on the short right field seats of Chicago and tied the score. Jones lost out in the tenth.

Speaking of homers, the Cubs hammered out no less than eight four-baggers in the series that closed yesterday and one, by Lester Bell, came with the bases loaded. Despite this display of slugging the best Manse Jon could do was an even break with the Freshmeters.

Vance gave the Pirates a little lift yesterday that was keenly appreciated. Vance appears to be on the way to another big season after taking a generous cut in wages.

Hack Wilson is said to be drawing down twenty grand for this year's work with the Cubs.

Mr. Wrigley could pay him twice that amount and still have a good investment. With due respect to the other stars, the fans appear to come out to cheer or razz Hack. One day they razz him and the next day they shake the stands with cheers in honor of the Wee Virginian.

WALKER CUP TEAM SAILS

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP.)—Robert T. Jones, Jr., and seven other crack amateur golfers, comprising America's Walker Cup team, were on the high seas today bound for England.

Within two weeks the American golfing emigrants will defend the trophy, donated by George H. Walker, president of the U. S. G. A., in 1920, and won five consecutive times by the United States. The over-confidence that might be expected from a team five times victorious over its British opposition was lacking, however. Captain Jones had little to say beyond the fact that he believed the American team to be a strong one, and that he hoped to retain the international cup.

A few friends and well-wishers were on hand to wish the golfers bon voyage. George Voight and Don Moe are the only two new to international competition. In addition to Jones, Ouimet, Voigt and Moe, the Walker Cup team included Harrison R. Johnston, George Von Elm, Dr. O. F. Willing and Roland Mackenzie.

JACK IN CLINIC FOR CHECKUP

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 1.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, yesterday underwent an operation, apparently as a step in physical checkup preceding a decision as to whether he is to accept a "comeback." He is resting comfortably today.

Physicians said the operation was of a minor nature, and added that they expected Dempsey to be confined to his bed only a few days. He may leave the hospital within a week or 10 days. The operation was successful, they said, and gave the former champion's condition as "satisfactory."

Although no statement regarding a "comeback" attempt was made by the former champion on his present visit here, it was recalled that on a previous trip for an examination a few weeks ago, Dempsey said he expected to begin training soon to determine whether he could round into proper physical condition.

BOUT DATE CHANGED

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS.)—Because Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, is suffering from hand injuries, the Chocolate-Fidel La Barba fight, scheduled here for May 16, has been postponed, it was announced today. The bout will be held May 28 or 30 in June.

GENEVA LOSES TO WEST VA. TRACKMEN

By JESS CARVER

A right capable Geneva College track and field squad failed to put a stop to the winning habit of West Virginia's varsity trackmen have developed when testing Covenanter opposition by losing the third of a yearly series of dual meets to the Mountaineers at Beaver Falls yesterday afternoon.

Geneva lost because its strength was not as well distributed as that of the Mountaineers. The Covenanters gained almost an even break in the matter of first places, winning seven to West Virginia's eight. The most significant result of the meet was the uncovering of another triple - victor sprinter, chunky Thomas, Negro star of the Covenanters, who led the field, a la Bowen, to the tape in the 100, 220 and 440 yards events.

NULTON BEATEN

A feature of the meet was the defeat of Nulton, Geneva half-mile ace, by Brandt, of West Virginia, in the 880. Brandt broke the tape just a good sneeze ahead of Nulton. He broke a university and Reeves Stadium record to accomplish the feat, running the half in two minutes flat.

Hill, Mountaineer weight star, was the second triple victor of the afternoon. He placed first in the shot, discus and hammer throw, breaking a record in the latter, and was second to Lem Friedman, Penn Relay javelin champion and record holder, in the spear tossing. The summary:

TRACK EVENTS

100-yard dash—Won by Thomas, Geneva; Waggoner, W. Va., second; Rave, Geneva, third. Time—10 1-10 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Thomas, Geneva; Waggoner, W. Va., second; Bradford, W. Va., third. Time—22 4-5 seconds.

880-yard dash—Won by Brandt, W. Va.; Nulton, Geneva, second; Riley, W. Va., third. Time—2 minutes (new track record for Reeves Stadium and new university record).

Mile run—Won by Brandt, W. Va.; Riley, W. Va., second; Wilson, Geneva, third. Time—4 minutes 34 4-5 seconds.

Two-mile run—Won by Kaiser, Geneva; Leopard, W. Va., second; Young, W. Va., third. Time—10 minutes, 22 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Calloway, W. Va.; Jacob, W. Va., second; Roberts, Geneva, third. Time—15 3-5 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Calloway, W. Va.; Jacob, W. Va., second; Ewing, Geneva, third. Time—25 1-5 seconds.

FIELD EVENTS

High jump—Won by Roberts and Sole, Geneva, 5 feet 9½ inches; Calloway, W. Va., third, 5 feet 8½ inches.

Broad jump—Won by Ward, Geneva, 21 feet 5 inches; Hart, W. Va., second, 21 feet 2½ inches; Jacob, W. Va., third, 21 feet 2 inches.

Javelin throw—Won by Friedman, Geneva, 176 feet 7 inches; Hill, W. Va., second, 154 feet 2 inches; Coombs, W. Va., third, 149 feet 5 inches.

Hammer throw—Won by Hill, W. Va., 152 feet; Wilcox, Geneva, second, 127 feet 7 inches; Davis, Geneva, third, 113 feet 5 inches (new university and new Reeves field record).

PROGRAM LIGHT

Today's collegiate program is very light. Waynesburg and the California Teachers are scheduled for a net duel at California, which just about makes up the day's card. The Shady Side racquet squad engages the Tech Plebes on the Skibo courts.

TECH, GENEVA MEET

Carnegie Tech's varsity track and field team will make its first home appearance of the season tomorrow afternoon, meeting Geneva aggregation in a dual meet at Tech Field.

The Tartans squeezed out a narrow victory over Western Reserve at Cleveland last Saturday by showing a marked superiority in the field events. This edge will hardly be so apparent over the Covenanters.

Flowers Leads In Big Six Standing

Associated Press.

The pitchers came into their own against the big six batters yesterday and brought about several changes in the order of their standing.

Batting-leadership in both leagues underwent a change, bringing two members into the big six. Bill Cissell, of Chicago, slammed three hits in four attempts and went into a tie with Al Simmons at .432.

Jake Flowers, of Brooklyn, hit three out of four, including his seventh double, to replace George Fisher, of the Cardinals, as a leader of the National League and the big six. His average is .469. Of the four regulars, Babe Ruth led with three hits in five times at bat to bring his mark up to .348. Simmons hit two of four and Paul Waner one of two for substantial increases in their averages. Rogers Hornsby's one hit in four tries put him at the .240 mark. The standings:

RAFFIES SEEK SECOND TITLE FOR TOWN

When the Fall Rives Raffies trot out on Westinghouse High School field Saturday in the final of the National Amateur Soccer cup, they will be trying to make history in American soccer, attempting to take the professional and amateur championships in one city the same season. Gallatin, the local contender, will have something important to say to that, however.

One thing that will hamper the Easterners is the Gallatin style of play. All the Eastern clubs play the European short-passing game, and in amateur ranks, this game has never been successful against the more hustling style used by the exponents of the American game.

Gallatin, like Heidelberg, cares little for scientific soccer. The American idea is to get goals, and get them by any legitimate means. This style has carried Gallatin through a tough Western schedule, and figures to cause the downfall of the Raffies.

Of course, Gallatin will be seriously handicapped. Benick, the crack center forward, had his leg broken in the Western final game at Detroit and will be out of the lineup. Benick has been a fine leader and has scored many goals. Filling the center forward position is a tough job. Manager Sickles has not intimated who will get the assignment, but it may go to Secane.

The game will be called at 4 p. m., daylight saving time, to allow out-of-town fans to get to the game. Many national officers will be on hand to watch the battle.

DAILY TRUE STORY

The Wishing Stone

"'TIS A WISHING STONE," said Mrs. O'Donovan.

"Indeed!" Young—very young—Dr. Peter White seemed a trifle embarrassed.

Arlene Osgood giggled, which embarrassed very young Doc White to a greater extent.

A few years before this, Dr. Peter White had been Pete White, of Bellaire. But now he was a full-fledged doctor. The ink was scarcely dry on his diploma; nevertheless, he was a real doctor.

Arlene Osgood had been "Ar-lie" in the days before Pete went to medical school.

In a very few weeks Arlene Osgood hoped to become Mrs. Dr. Peter White.

Mrs. O'Donovan had lived down by the tracks a great many years. She had chased Peter out of her grape arbor many a night when he was a youngster.

Mrs. O'Donovan managed to exist on the tiny income from her two acres and from what little her distant children could spare.

Peter and Arlene had been coming up the river in a canoe. They were making plans.

"If," Peter said, "I can raise the thousand to pay down on the Thurston house, I will make a swell home and I can have my office in the west. It will enable me to put on a front and I can manage to get along in Bellaire. I know, because Dr. Yeaton is getting old and feeble now and he'll be retiring in a year or so."

"If only you could raise the thousand, Peter," Arlene said, and she sighed. Arlene lived on her wages as bookkeeper for the Bellaire Coal and Lumber Company.

"I'll do my best," Peter promised.

But he wasn't very happy. Few people ever picked thousand dollar notes off hackberry bushes or found them under a rosebush at dawn, and these seemed about the only ways young Doc White could raise the thousand.

"We can wait and save, Peter—"

Agree on Marriage

"We can save, but we can't wait—we're going to be married, dearest, and right away."

Arlene nodded. She agreed to that.

"We'll find—"

A scream interrupted them. Their canoe was close to the river bank where Mrs. O'Donovan's two acres came to the water.

Peter and Arlene looked up in time to see the old woman fall off the sloping roof of her hen house.

They heard her groan.

Peter sent the canoe to the bank and ran to the old woman.

The old woman was right. She had broken her arm.

Peter signaled Arlene, who fastened the canoe and came to help.

They got the groaning old woman into her little shack that was tumble-down outside and neat as wax inside.

Peter propped her in a low rocker, put a cushion under her fractured arm and told Arlene to sit with her. He would run across to his father's house and get his bag.

Peter hurried. He came back in his car, a very old and rattly car, to be sure.

"God knows 'tis an evil spell on me, with all this hard luck," the old woman whined.

"Take this," Peter said.

"An' what is it?"

"Spiritus frumenti."

She swallowed it.

"Ye's a liar, Peter White, that was whisky—an' good whisky."

Peter was modern. He set the old woman's arm skillfully and fixed it up in a cast.

"I'll be over tomorrow. Keep cheerful, Mrs. O'Donovan, and the arm will be all right in a few weeks. Too bad it's your right arm."

Peter turned to go.

"Wait, Doctor. Good knows I thought it was a joke a young kid like yourself claimin' to be a doctor, but I seen busted bones set before an' I know you're a doctor."

She went to a rhina closet and took down a mug with a row of gilt shamrocks around it. There was money in the mug.

Refuses Pay

"I'll be payin' ye, Doctor—"

"I'll be giving you bitter pills and putting you to bed, Granny O'Donovan, if you say pay in me," Peter said sternly.

"I'm no charity patient."

"Many's the muller and cowkle ye gave me when I was a little shaver and many's the bunch of grapes I relieved of your vine—I owe you plenty."

Peter was serious.

She stepped into the little sitting room and came out with a small, dull red object.

"I'll make ye a present. Me man, Dawd rist him, picked it up years ago, he told me 'twas a wishin' stone."

Peter's eyes warned Arlene not to giggle.

"Ye'll be openin' your office. This will make ye a fine paper weight, an if ye're in need bad enough, an' ye wish on it, ye'll get your wish."

"Now, Granny, if your husband had it for so long—"

So very young Doctor Peter White thanked the old woman and took the stone.

Later he and Arlene examined it.

"What is it?" Is there such a thing," she asked.

Do you believe sincerely that it's a wishing stone, it does, ye're to be my dear," Peter replied.

That's not placing faith.

There is no harm in pinning faith on a pretty piece of jasper.

Is that jasper? Goodness, the gates of heaven are made of jasper. I'll bet it is a wishing stone," Arlene cried.

I'll prove it.

Peter held the stone close to his face and mumbled some unintelligible words.

Then he turned and kissed Arlene.

By love, Granny O'Donovan was right. It is a wishing stone. I wished for a kiss and I got one.

You silly dear," Arlene cried.

Peter attended Mrs. O'Donovan carefully. He had opened a temporary office over the hardware store in the Bellaire block. A few patients came, a few calls came. Mrs. O'Donovan sent him a number. Her arm was as good as ever by this time, and she told everybody about it.

Rented by Month

Peter and Arlene wanted to make into the big old Thurston house with its dignified yard, stately trees and the little ell that would make an ideal office.

But the executors of the estate wouldn't lease the place and would only rent it from month to month until they could sell it.

One thousand down would take it, and all the old furniture which Arlene knew to be worth more than new furniture.

A thousand was a lot of money.

He sat in his office and stared at the dollar bill old Jonas Simson had paid him for an office consultation.

He lighted his pipe and picked up something to press down the tobacco with. He laughed. It was the piece of jasper, the "wishing stone" Granny O'Donovan had given him.

Peter looked at the clock.

It was time he drove into the city, 30 miles away. He was attending three lectures a week at the hospital.

Peter unconsciously slipped the wishing stone into his pocket instead of the tin of tobacco, grabbed his hat and went out to his car.

Peter knew that the car was a freak. He wasn't very proud of it as he parked it near the hospital down in a tough neighborhood.

His Wish Granted

He drove homeward.

At the railroad crossing half way home the gates were down. Peter leaned back and lighted his pipe again. He stared hard at a billboard. It had a picture of a purple house with a pink roof. In big letters he read:

"Own your own home!"

Peter fumbled for something to press down the tobacco that smelled out after lighting. The jasper wishing stone came to his hand. He used that.

I sure wished I owned a home or had a thousand paid on that Thurston place," he said.

The train thundered past.

I wish I had that thousand.

The stone slipped, he tried to catch it and it was knocked over in the back of the old car.

Peter leaned over to pick it up.

There was a black bag there. He was puzzled and opened it.

Jewelry, lots of it, seemingly beautiful stuff.

Hell, it isn't mine. I'll have to read the advertisements and return it," he muttered.

His morning metropolitan paper next day had a little advertisement. It read:

Peter drove right back.

Never mind telling about it, I don't expect us to believe you found it in your car," Halliday said as Peter tried to explain.

Here's the reward in cash, no checks to be stopped or you can be arrested when you try to cash them.

Twenty-five hundred dollars!

Peter shook his head. Too much. I put them in the car.

You turned over nearly a quarter of a million dollars' worth of gems, young man. I take your reward and no cut was."

Granny O'Donovan's wishing stone is now on the desk of Doctor Peter White in his well equipped office, which occupies the old Thurston house.

"I find most people nowadays are inclined to take a more hopeful view of death than they did twenty years ago,'" the singer observed. "Such mournful, depressing hymns as 'The Vacant Chair,' 'We Shall Gather at the River' are seldom, if ever requested in these modern times because most people take a more philosophical view of death. One of the modern favorites is 'The End of a Perfect Day,' which seems to fit in with popular fancy these days."

How Are Criminals Made?

In Nine Cases Out of Ten It Is No MYSTERY.

Some of the prisoners in that Ohio penitentiary are hard and vicious and nothing can be done but to treat them as decently as possible and salvage whatever is left for society. Treat them in civilized fashion, give them work to do and prevent them from continuing their careers of law-breaking.

But little has been done since the Columbus horror to convince all the others in that prison that the people outside are anything but their deadly enemies. They went through a ghastly ordeal; they saw their friends and fellow-prisoners burned alive and since then they have been kicked around, drenched with water, quieted with gas bombs, fired at with rifles, marched between lines of fixed bayonets and been given NO promise of more humane treatment in the future than they had up to 10 days ago.

In fact, they have been confirmed in any conviction that they might have held that the only thing for them to do is to be tough, break all the laws they can and stay with their criminal careers until they are finally "bumped off."

And how do men get that way, either in Ohio or in any other state?

In answer we quote from a statement made by Dr. James E. Haggerty, head of the sociology at Ohio State University and director of the school of social administration—who knows more about Ohio's prisons than any other man in the state. He says:

"The penal institutions of Ohio constitute a perfect educational system for the teaching of crime. A boy who is old enough to know much about crime lands in the juvenile court and is sentenced to the Lancaster Industrial School. There, in association with older, tougher boys, he learns his first lessons in the technique of crime. After the age of 18 he lands in the reformatory at Mansfield, where he picks up a higher education in wrongdoing. Next we find him in the state prison, taking what might be called a post graduate course in crime.

"I have repeatedly traced cases like that which have started in boyhood at Lancaster and finished in the state penitentiary. ANYWHERE ALONG THE LINE, INTELLIGENT HANDLING OF THE WRONG-DOER MIGHT HAVE RECLAIMED HIM AND MADE A USEFUL CITIZEN OF HIM. But the present system, which is based on the principle of incarceration rather than constructive reformation, merely acts as a very efficient school of crime."

Of the 4,200 men who were in the prison at Columbus, 3,900 are left and the majority of them will be released some day with hatred in their hearts and a smouldering desire to get even—unless they are convinced that the people of Ohio and every other state have at last seen the criminal stupidity of maintaining our elaborate system of criminal education.

For those schools of crime, so ably damned by Prof. Haggerty, are maintained by every state in the union and they explain the creation of nine out of 10 of the thousands of criminals who cost our country so much money and who break so many hearts.

Senate Should Have All Facts Concerning Treaty

As a condition precedent to its consideration of the London naval treaty, the United States Senate should respectfully request the executive to place all the papers in the case at the Senate's disposal.

These papers include much more than the text of the treaty or the testimony of the delegates who negotiated the treaty.

The papers in the case include also:

First, All secret papers bearing upon the Washington conference and the group of treaties negotiated at that conference, including the five-power naval treaty.

Second, All secret papers bearing upon the Geneva conference which failed to produce a treaty and the reports of the American delegates to that conference setting forth the reasons why no treaty was forthcoming.

Third, All secret papers bearing upon the London naval conference, the diplomatic correspondence that led up to it, the exchanges between the Washington government and the American delegation at London during the conference, and the studies of the general board of the Navy preceding, during and following the conference of all the naval questions raised and of all the naval questions disposed of.

Unless the Senate is given all the papers in the case and takes ample time to study them, it cannot give to the treaty that careful consideration and searching examination, and fearless and informed discussion that every treaty ought always to receive at the hands of the Senate.

No treaty is anything more under the American system of government than a scrap of paper unless and until the Senate has advised and consented to its ratification.

The Senate is given by the Constitution the final control of foreign policy.

And that control ought always to be exercised in the light of all the facts. And all the facts can only be arrived at by the Senate when the Senate has in its possession all the papers in the case.

A treaty that cannot stand the light that will be thrown by all the papers in the case is not a treaty deserving of the Senate's advice and consent to ratification.

Clean, Paint and Plant To Make Town Better!

Dignified with a proclamation by Mayor Charles H. Kline, the period in which we are urged to Clean Up, Paint Up and Plant Up is on and will continue until May 10. If a slogan be needed, there is the familiar one—"Cleanliness is next to godliness."

We all want to see Pittsburgh constantly made "A better, cleaner, more beautiful city," to quote the first plank of the Sun-Telegraph Platform, and the way to accomplish that is to keep everlastingly at it. You have to keep your face, hands, body clean by frequent washing—your clothes, by attention as required. Your town needs it as much as yourself. Especially after the departure of winter.

In the present campaign we shall have the assistance of thousands of school children, but we should not expect them to do it all. Elders should set the example, and the city should hearten all of us by seeing that the streets are thoroughly cleaned—and kept clean.

"Clean up, paint up, plant up!"

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Home for Wayward Boys

We always thought that a President's word was law.

It doesn't even seem to be an amendment.

"Bugs" Baer

Mr. Hoover appointed a gentleman to the Supreme Court of these newly discoveredstates. That was a month ago as the crow caws.

The appointment had to be ratified and neatly indorsed by the Senate in the absence of Amos and Andy.

Now, if there is anything the Senate likes it is to help a presidential appointee to another tasty dish of camphor balls.

The quorum of Senators consists of all the delegates who are not able to be absent.

It takes two-thirds of them to do some things, three-fourths of all the Senators to accomplish other things and, once in a while, a Senator gets bright and does something by himself.

In that case, the Senator becomes a filibusterer, and is liable to imprisonment for another term.

He is sent to coventry by the better class of legislators, boycotted during banking hours and shunned by ambitious lobbyists.

His hand is raised against his fellowman like a traffic cop's on a busy corner.

The tides and currents that sweep through the national puddles are unknown and uncharted. There are cliques, caucuses and cabals to while away the sunny hours.

There is much pulling and tugging on invisible hemp. A stray may be clipped from the main herd, or a yearling may bleat for his motherly committee. It is rarely that real harmony and universal brotherhood prevails.

But it does happen. And that is where the President seeks to clock a sprinting appointee as he clabbers through the gantlet. Then all the Senators club together, forget their personal grouches and swarm down on the proposition like locusts upon Egypt.

We do not know why the Senate hates a presidential choice. We do know that the Senate likes to show its authority until it is sunburned all over. We also are cognizant of the business that very few chief execs have ever had their opinions indorsed by state representatives, who are picked like grapefruit, two at a time.

Time hangs heavy between budgets. Possibly, the senatorial agitation over presidential appointees may be due to the fact that the Senate wants to shake the situation up just to see what falls out.

NEWTON AND GRAVITATION

By Archibald Henderson

Scientists should always record the results of their thinking. It is the record which determines priority of discovery; the document is the court of last resort in determining scientific truth.

There are theorems in mathematics which yet remain unsolved, because the original propounder of the theorem failed to leave a record by which he arrived at the given result. For example, it is now believed, from various bits of scattered evidence, that Gauss originally discovered the non-Euclidean geometries. But he failed to leave a satisfying or adequate record of his calculations and results.

A mystery regarding Newton's formulation of the law of universal gravitation has recently been cleared up by Prof. Florian Cajori. According to the familiar and all too simple explanation hitherto given, Newton used the wrong value for the number of miles in one degree of latitude on the earth's surface. The basis for this erroneous story is found in Henry Pemberton's "A View of Sir Isaac Newton's Philosophy," published in 1728, one year after Newton's death.

In the preface to that book occur these words:

"It was in the very last years of Sir Isaac's life that I had the honor of his acquaintance . . . he engaged me to take care of the new edition he was about making of his Principia . . . Though his memory was much decayed, I found he perfectly understood his own writings. . . ."

Supposing therefore the power of gravity, when extended to the moon, to decrease in the same manner, he computed whether the force would be sufficient to keep the moon in her orbit. In this computation, being absent from books, he took the common estimate in use among geographers and seamen, before Norwood measured the earth, that 60 English miles were contained in one degree of latitude on the surface of the earth.

But as this is a very faulty supposition, each degree containing about 69½ of our miles, his computation did not answer expectation whence he concluded that some other cause must at least join with the action of the power of gravity on the moon. On this account he laid aside for that time any further thoughts upon this matter.

In a paper, discovered by the astronomer, John Couch Adams, in 1887, among Newton's manuscripts, Newton referred to this very computation made in 1666. Although he does not give the calculations, he said that he found the results to "answer pretty nearly." This could not have been the case, had the value of 60 miles for one degree of latitude been used.

Cajori shows that he probably used the value of 66 2-3 English statute miles, given by Snell. This would have given him a result within 4 per cent of the truth.

Why, then, did he delay the publication of the law of universal gravitation for nearly 20 years?

The answer is that he had not yet worked out the problem of the attraction of a homogeneous sphere upon an outside particle. Must the distance between two gravitating bodies be measured from center to center, or surface to surface, or in any of the countless other ways the measurement might be made? Newton solved this complex problem, the result of which had been guessed long before by Hooke, in 1764. Only then could be enunciated scientifically the law of universal gravitation.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

Paul Glover kills his wife's lover.

It happens in Ludwig Lewisohn's amazing new book on marriage—"Stephen Escott." But, reading it, you feel that it has happened on your own street—in your own life. For you, too, have known the helpless rage that Paul Glover felt when Janet fell short of his ideal. And you, too, have wanted to punish someone who dared to be his, or her, poor, unworthy self—instead of your glorified idealization.

Paul Glover was a poet who lived in Greenwich Village with a wife whose "lips were heavy and very red" and who looked at men with a "lingering scrutiny—a sort of cold yet sensuous curiosity." To be brutally frank, looking at other men was the best thing Janet Glover did. She was made that way. Just as pelicans are made with pouches. But Paul wanted her to be a bird-of-paradise.

Being a poet, Paul took to ideals as naturally as his wife took to sensuous looks. He had a particularly lovely ideal about wives. He chose Janet to fit that ideal. And, as long as it interested her, she did fit it. But it didn't interest her long. Her mind wasn't old enough, her soul wasn't ripe enough, to be interested long in any form of loveliness. She was really a child—a vain, greedy, foolish, vulgar child. But Paul, her husband, wouldn't recognize these facts. So, when she became bored and bewildered with his idealism and turned to her vulgar counterpart, Paul Glover ran amuck and killed Harris. Then blamed Janet for the tragedy, because she had been untrue to his ideals.

"But," said David, his friend, "it's quite possible that, in a sense, he was more suited to Janet. Not because he wasn't a pig compared to you, but because you idealized Janet out of all proportion to her real worth."

"Paul arose trembling. He stretched out his arms. 'It was her duty to live up to that idealization! It was her duty to be transformed by it. That she could not perform that duty . . . was an unforgiveable sin . . . a sin against all higher values, a sin against the holy ghost of mankind. He that commits a sin like that might better never have been born.'"

Strange, almost cruel words they seem, as one reads them. Yet you and I have said just such words, in our arrogant determination to mould some other life—the life of a sweetheart, or child, or partner—or poor, shamed wretch who was on trial.

We, too, make ideals and then condemn others because they do not live up to them. But we have no right to condemn. Each soul must make its own ideals in its own good time. Each soul must make its own mistakes. Each soul must do its own growing. And that growth is valueless unless it is done by each soul itself. A child learns to walk, to talk, to think, by endless experiments and blunders. You cannot possibly force your mature knowledge upon that child. It would be folly to try. It is as great folly to try and force your experience upon a growing soul. It is worse than folly—it is a crime.

The right to be wrong is the most sacred prerogative in human life. You have no more right to force your pattern upon another's character than you have to cut his throat.

Life's Essence

Life's essence is a thing divine
Beyond all thought of yours or mine,
For, spite of every stain or sin,
A quenchless spark glows deep within,
Which even the direst circumstance
Sometimes reveals, as though by chance.

Through all uncertainties be sure
Of this alone, there will endure
Always in every soul some seed
Of good, to flower into deed
If sun of love and rain of toil
Are granted to the fertile soil.

Not often are men's eyes allowed
To view the lofty soul, unbowed
By any burden, strife or care
Which fall to mortal lot to bear:
But in the glimpse rare hours may yield
A dazzling splendor is revealed!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

On this score the Galapagos and St. Helena and other oceanic islands—islands, that is to say, of volcanic origin, which are separated by many miles of deep water from the continents, and apparently have never had any connection with the mainland—have much to tell us.

If different animals were created and placed in the countries best suited to them, why is it that oceanic islands never possess more than a sprinkling of land animals and birds and flowering plants, and never any amphibians or land-mammals (except sometimes the too-readily transportable mice)?

H. G. Wells

It is emphatically not because such animals are unsuited to life on islands, for rabbits and goats, cats and frogs thrive well enough when introduced, and often so much too well that they become a pest.

But if the distribution of living things is the result of evolution and migration, the reason is plain. It will never be easy for such isolated patches of earth to be colonized by life at all; only those forms with remarkable powers of dissemination by air or water will reach them.

Land-mammals and amphibians have notoriously poor powers of dispersal; they cannot survive long exposure to water, nor have they any resistant stage in their life-history which can either be blown on the wind like the spores of lower plants, or resist salt water like the seeds and fruits of some higher plants.

The same reasoning applies to New Zealand. New Zealand is not volcanic like true oceanic islands, but it includes only one native land-mammal, a mouse, and only one amphibian.

It is separated from the rest of the continents by such distances, and has been separated for so long a time, that its animal populations, at the time of its discovery, was in most ways like that of a real mid-ocean volcano.

Yet all the time it was most admirably suited to support those very forms of life which it lacked. The zeal of its acclimatization societies has stocked it with all kinds of European birds and animals and plants, many of which have found the country so much to their liking that they have become most abundant nuisances.

Finally we have a third set of facts, the facts of discontinuous distribution when almost identical animals are found only in two or three widely separate regions of the world's surface.

Why in the name of all that is reasonable are tapirs found only in South America and Malaya? Why is one branch of the camel family, the camels themselves, found wild only in Asia, while the other, the llamas and their kin, grow only in South America.

Why are the lung-fish found only in Australia, tropical South America and tropical Africa?

Here geology solves our riddle. The discontinuity did not always exist; the type was once widespread, but today has been exterminated save in a few patches.

Lung-fish were among the most abundant of fishes in Devonian (III D) and Carboniferous (III E) times, and were then spread over the whole world; the competition of later-evolved and more efficient fish extinguished almost all of them, and only three representatives have managed to survive, in three patches of tropical fresh water.

The camels can be traced back to the Eocene (V A). Their remains are found at first only in North America. Thence, at the close of the Miocene (V C) they spread across two newly emerged land-bridges both southward into South America and westward to Asia.

The two emigrant stocks went their own evolutionary ways to what we see today, while in their original home the family was abruptly extinguished in Pleistocene times (V E). Finally the tapirs, like the lung-fish, were once widely spread. They are known as fossils from various Cenovoic (V) beds in North America, Europe and Asia.

Doubtless they early penetrated into India and Malaya, and invaded South America by the Miocene (V C) land-bridge from the north. They have been reduced to their present distribution simply by extinction in the regions between.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, MAY 1.—The glamorous career of Richard A. Canfield has inspired a biographer to a full length volume of his life. Canfield, like a Balzac grand seignior, was not only the most picturesque gambler of his era, but perhaps of all time, epitomizing the villanies of the rogue and the culture of the scholar.

He had killed more than one man over the gaming table, served time in prison, was a debauchee and swindler. Yet the Mayflower stock from which he sprang frequently peeped through. He could talk learnedly of ceramics, pictures and tapestries with all the flushed enthusiasm of the connoisseur.

His closest friend was James McNeil Whistler, who was finishing a portrait of Canfield, whom he called "His Reverence," at the time of his death. The gambler's collection of Whistler's sold at public auction and was the finest extant, selling for $300,000.

Canfield to a later generation is best known and remembered through the card game bearing his name. It is a touch of the ironical that it is only a gambling game in theory and that Canfield never played it. Canfield operated in New York, Saratoga and Newport.

His most famous establishment, however, was in a trim brownstone front at what was then 5 East Forty-fourth street, a few steps off the avenue and hard by old Delmonico's. His clients included only the creme de la creme of the Four Hundred of that epoch. Yet many proved welchers.

One sour I. O. U. for $137,000 was given by a prominent man alive today. Play began at 11 o'clock when patrons in full evening dress and high hats arrived in hansom cabs. Canfield served all who were admitted a magnificent supper with vintage wines and especially made cigars, free.

He rarely entered the gaming rooms. It was frequent raids inspired by the firebrand Jerome that eventually closed the gaming house. Canfield died after a fall in the subway in 1914 which fractured his skull. He left about a million, having lost many millions in stock market manipulations.

Canfield's palace recalls many reckless sportsmen who flashed across the White Way horizon in that period—gentlemen all whose types have almost vanished. Among them were John Staley and George Bennett, of Pittsburgh; Julius Fleischmann, of Cincinnati; Jesse Lewisohn, the three Wormser brothers, Frances Kinney, of "Sweet Cap" fame; Pat McCarren, Pierre Lorillard, Sr., Phil Dwyer and the most spectacular plunger of them all, "Bet A Million" Gates. Most of these men gambled high, but it was only an incident in their lives. They loved the excitement and could afford to lose. They knew, as Canfield knew and often voiced, the percentage was against them and to continue over long periods invited disaster.

Walter Trumbull, the sporting writer, has a penthouse overlooking Central Park. One room is paneled in gold leaf. Through it are streaks of delicate arabasques like the soft shadow of pearls on a woman's skin. Decorators and other artistic minded gasp at its exquisite loveliness. It was caused by dampness.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You desire to be known as considerably above the general run of people.

You think your aloofness and apparent lack of interest in those you designate as the "common herd" shows that you are entitled to mingle with a class of society of which they are not a part.

But what have you gained by the attitude you have assumed?

You may have some money, an adequate income for anything you wish to do, but how did you obtain it?

More than likely it did not come to you through your own efforts.

You cannot have an over-supply of brains or you would not be so affected.

Large mentality does not wish to be considered exceptional in any way.

Those who have gained prominence by using their gray matter did not study with the idea of prominence in view.

Important position has come as a result of someone discovering that there is mental capacity back of the effort to accomplish something.

A good mind, a brain that functions in a big way and enables the owner to go ahead in an exceptional manner is a valuable asset for success.

All the "high hat" methods possible won't make up for brains—or the lack of them.

Text For Today — But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.—Philippians iv:19.
